HOOVER ECHOES LINCOLN'S PLEA TO RESPECT LAW

Says Obedience Is Basis of Nation.

BY JOHN HERRICK.

Springfield, Ill., June 17.—[Special.]—President Hoover chose the rededication of Abraham Lincoln's tomb today as the occasion on which to remind the people of the American people the essentialness that the safeguard of liberty is obedience to the law.

"As to most our history even since he left this earth took Lincoln's own words for our national heritage is [illegible] keeping [illegible] said the President, "and it was Lincoln who stated and restated in impressive terms that our liberty rests upon obedience and enforcement of law.

"There is not in our country one, either by his position or his influence, to whom this law. That, of course, should admit and still [illegible] a government of law and a society of ordered liberty [illegible] by law."

Lauds Third Platform Plank.

Since his visit to Illinois soil on a day marked by the heartiest reception he has received during his trip through the midwest, President Hoover received the trilogy of messages with which he chose to launch his campaign for reelection.

In so did these three planks in his original platform on which he made a call for a vote of confidence [illegible]

Insistence on individual initiative [illegible] rather than on a bureaucratic dictatorship of government to [illegible] economic crisis. That was [illegible]

Loyalty in public office. That was [illegible] Harding's tomb in Marion.

Fidelity to the law. That was as he [illegible] the remodeled tomb where [illegible] body rests in its great red [illegible] sarcophagus.

Principles Unchanged.

"The eternal principles of truth, [illegible] and right, never more clearly [illegible] than by Lincoln, remain the [illegible] for the problems and perplexities of every age and of our day," [illegible] the words which the President [illegible] to the thousands gathered [illegible] Lincoln cemetery.

"It is to those who, like Lincoln, [illegible] these principles serve the [illegible] of mankind that the world pays [illegible] honor," he said. "At his shrine [illegible] light the torch of our rededication [illegible] to service and ideals of the nation [illegible] and served with the [illegible] measure of devotion."

[illegible] upon which Herbert Hoover, [illegible] President, stood was [illegible] upon which Ulysses S. Grant, [illegible] President, had stood 57 [illegible] when the memorial stand- [illegible] over Lincoln's grave was [illegible]

TEACHERS FACE VACATION DAYS WITHOUT WAGES

$9,736,000 Pay Due School Employes.

The Tax Crisis

The death of all revenue bills in the legislature at Springfield late Tuesday night left the Cook county local governments hanging on to the ropes yesterday.

1—The school board worked on the seemingly insuperable problem of raising more than $9,000,000 in pay roll money before the summer vacation.

2—The county was hunting for $55,000 to meet a bond interest bill and was complaining of the high cost of tax anticipation warrants.

3—The city found temporary relief in the promise of the telephone company to buy $1,500,000 in tax warrants.

4—Records disclose that from 1915 to 1929 the tax levy on Chicago property was multiplied more than three and a half times under legislative enactments. (Story on page 11.)

When the Chicago public schools close on June 26, the board of education will probably owe approximately $9,736,000 in overdue salaries to teachers and other employés, with no reassuring prospect of getting the cash in the meantime, or immediately after vacation starts. The pay rolls due or overdue when the schools close are shown in the following table which gives the terms for which the salaries are due and the amounts:

Employes.	Term.	Salaries.
Teachers	3 months	$7,400,000
Substitutes	2 months	336,000
Others	2½ months	2,000,000
Total		$9,736,000

The only plan of getting money, which the school board at two sessions deemed worthy of adoption was a motion of Trustee H. Wallace Caldwell to appoint "a committee of five to work night and day."

The Committee's Objectives.

First the committee is to attempt to sell tax anticipation warrants to Chicago bankers and security houses. This has been attempted by L. E. Myers, president of the school board, for four months without success.

If the committee is unable to sell to Chicago houses, then it is to try its hand on New York bankers. If that fails, then the committee is to ask the school children to request their parents to withdraw savings from the banks and purchase tax warrants.

In addition to what the board owes its employes, it has unpaid bills of contractors totaling more than $2,500,000, so it desires to dispose of $12,236,000 in tax anticipation warrants at once. This is the situation on the day after the legislature killed the board's request for authority to issue school building bonds in the additional amount of $50,000,000.

Proposes Permanent Relief.

After obtaining immediate relief, if that is obtained, it is Caldwell's plan to have the committee of five devise a permanent relief plan to be presented to the legislature, working in coöperation with committees from other local governments.

His plan of permanent relief—no other has yet been suggested—is to increase the board's $25,000,000 working cash fund to $100,000,000. He would issue bonds for that amount at 4 per cent and he reasons that thereby the board would save $2,000,000—the difference between 4 per cent on the bonds and the 6 per cent paid on tax anticipation warrants.

Suggest Trim in Repairs.

The only economy suggested by the trustees yesterday was a canvas of the needed summer repairs, in the hope that from $200,000 to $800,000 of the $1,000,000 appropriation for that purpose may be saved.

Trustee James A. Hemingway, chairman of the board's finance committee, was insistent that the $458,375 necessary to pay the July 1 interest on the board's bonds be found some way or other.

The only expressed hope was that the state will pay the board its distributive school fund before next month arrives. The board did not have sufficient cash in the treasury yesterday to meet this obligation.

County Mum on Bond Payments.

No county official could be found who would perdict that the county will have $55,000 to pay bonds and interest due on July 1. The treasurer's

Pastor, Cited for Contempt, to Fight Court

An embattled parson announced last night that he is prepared to "fight to the last ditch" the attempt of Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli to hold him for contempt of court because he wrote the judge a letter stating that a case in his court "appeared to be fixed from the start."

JUDGE BORRELLI.

The minister is Dr. Clinton C. Cox, 6356 South Marshfield avenue. His church, the Drexel Park Presbyterian, at 64th street and Marshfield avenue, is one of the largest of that denomination in the city. His case will be heard on Saturday in South State street court.

Collision Starts It All.

Dr. Cox wrote his letter following a hearing before Judge Borrelli of the case of Thomas Bryce, a Negro taxicab driver, whom the minister had charged with reckless driving following a collision between the taxi and Dr. Cox's automobile two months ago on the south side.

At the hearing Judge Borrelli decided there was no ground for the charge and told Dr. Cox to file a civil suit for the damage to his automobile, which the minister claimed was $25. Dr. Cox said last night that Judge Borrelli treated him discourteously and refused to hear the witnesses he had taken to court with him.

Judge Borrelli, after he received the letter criticizing him, called the minister on the telephone and told him the charges were an affront to his court. He told Dr. Cox to appear the next day with an attorney to discuss a contempt ruling. Dr. Cox was leaving the city the next day, he said last night, and he took the matter up with Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby.

Apology Spurned, He Says.

"Judge Sonsteby told me that writing a leter to the judge couldn't constitute contempt of court," he said. "My attorneys tell me the same thing.

"After my return from a 10 day trip I wrote to Judge Borrelli. I apologized for my previous statement, and told him that neither I, a man of the cloth, nor he, a judge, should desire publicity over such a thing.

"I offered to meet him at his home or in his chambers and make a personal apology. Instead of accepting my offer he sent me a summons. Now I am going to fight."

Dr. Cox told of the difficulties he said he had encountered in getting Bryce into court.

"He gave a false name at the time of the accident," Dr. Cox charged, "and boasted then that he could 'fix' any case in Chicago."

TRAIN HITS AUTO ON 79TH STREET; 2 DEAD, 4 INJURED

Two persons were killed and four others were injured, one critically, when their automobile was hurled into a ditch by a Grand Trunk freight train at 79th street and Central Park avenue early this morning.

The dead were Mrs. Marie Sanford, 24 years old, of 8049 Manistee avenue, and George Masterman, 28, of Ashtabula, O.

The injured are Harold Sanford, 28 years old, husband of the dead woman; Homer Fano, 27, of Ashtabula; Henry Mausen, 37, and his wife, Margaret, 28, of 8049 Manistee avenue. Mrs. Mausen was critically hurt. She and her husband were removed to the Little Company of Mary hospital in Evergreen Park. The Sanfords and the Ohloans, who had been visiting them, were taken to the Holy Cross hospital.

The Sanfords, Mausens, Fano, and Masterman were returning from a visit to friends in Oak Lawn and were east bound in 79th street, with Sanford at the wheel.

Harry Leonard, 45 years old, 222 East 151st street, Harvey, was killed yesterday when his truck was struck by a Grand Trunk train at the Broadway crossing in Harvey.

The three deaths raised the Cook county toll to 513 since Jan. 1.

Bakery Owner Is Shot Five Times; Woman Friend Held

Charles Rurey, 35 years old, a baker at 10238 Vincennes avenue, was taken to the Jackson Park hospital early this morning with five bullet wounds in the body. His chance for recovery was slight, physicians said. Rurey was taken to the hospital by police who found him in his home with Miss Opal Whitman, 33 years old, of 1803 Washington boulevard. The police said Miss Whitman told them Rurey was shot by a stranger as he and she left her flat to go to Rurey's home above his shop. She was held for further questioning.

C. Vanderbilt Sees Artist; Gets His Gun

Reno, Nev., June 17.—[Special.]—Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. and his wife, the former Mary Weir Logan of Chicago, have come to a parting of the ways here, following an episode last Monday morning shortly after midnight during which Vanderbilt is said to have started for the home of Peter Arno, artist, nearby, with the intention of using his revolver.

Both Vanderbilt and Arno seemed to be in hiding today and could not be located.

The story was made public by Samuel Platt, attorney for Vanderbilt.

He Becomes "Incensed."

"Vanderbilt," according to Attorney Platt, "became so incensed Sunday night or early Monday morning over marked attentions Arno has been paying to Mrs. Vanderbilt that he nearly lost control of himself. It has been going on for some time and Vanderbilt could not help noticing evidences of affection on the part of Arno.

"Late Sunday night, or early Monday morning, a car drove up to the Vanderbilt home and Mrs. Vanderbilt alighted from one side and Arno from the other, both going to their respective homes.

Gets Gun; Starts Out.

"Mr. Vanderbilt saw it all and he became so incensed he got his gun and started for Arno's home, about a hundred yards distant. He was determined to do damage at the time.

"He walked toward the Arno home and about half way came to his senses and returned to his own home. He later discovered the gun was not loaded."

Mrs. Vanderbilt has left her house and is staying with friends.

Platt said that he had had two or three conferences with Vanderbilt, but that it had not been determined what steps might be taken.

Chief of Police J. M. Kirkley tonight said that Arno had complained to him yesterday that he had been threatened with "bodily harm" by Vanderbilt.

Kirkley said he told Arno he was "big enough to take care of himself" and "to punch Vanderbilt in the jaw if necessary."

Married Second Time.

New York, June 17.—[Special.]—Mrs. Mary Weir Logan Vanderbilt is the second wife of Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. His first wife, Mrs. Rachel Littleton Vanderbilt, divorced him in Reno in November, 1927, after he had lost more than $2,000,000 in tabloid newspaper ventures in Los Angeles, Miami and San Francisco. In her complaint, the first Mrs. Vanderbilt charged desertion. Vanderbilt, in a counter suit, charged her with mental cruelty in insisting that he give up his newspaper work.

Youth Belongs to State, Duce Tells Church

PARIS, June 17.—(AP)—"Religion is indispensable, not only for the people but for the elite and for science, which it completes," Premier Mussolini is quoted as saying in a special interview on the relations between Italy and the Vatican which will be printed by Le Journal tomorrow.

"I wish that there be religion throughout the country," the duce is quoted as saying, "and that the children may be taught their catechism. I will send them to communion in a body on Sunday in their ballilla uniforms, or otherwise.

Must Not Touch Politics.

"For that I let the priests work; that's religion. The rest is politics, and politics—that's me.

"I will not admit that anybody, absolutely anybody touch in any way that which belongs to the state. My formula is clear—everything within the state, nothing outside the state, nothing against the state.

"The child, as soon as he is old enough to learn, belongs to the state alone. No sharing is possible. Maybe this will be judged Spartan doctrine carried to an extreme. One cannot deny, however, that it is clear. We are in process of reconstructing Italy—a great Italy. It is a colossal task such as I do not believe has often been tried."

Says Religion Needs Fascism.

"To arrive at its ends," Il Duce said, "religion needs the support of that authority which comes from us alone.

"The decalogue has existed for centuries. Is it obeyed? It says do not covet thy neighbor's wife. Is that obeyed? And what of the killings, single and in mass? The teachings of the church left to themselves alone are vain. We wish to give them life by supporting them with our authority."

He said he had often warned the Catholic Action organization.

"At the head of the movement," he said, "were found the failures and malcontents of the Populist party. They have it in for us. Perhaps that's natural. Their attitude made itself felt in the Catholic Action. The Vatican has been warned against the danger that policy holds for it—a reawakening of anti-clerical opinion which it well knows exists. Nothing was done. I acted."

MRS. JOHN HAYS HAMMOND DIES IN HER 70th YEAR

Washington, D. C., June 18.—[Thursday.]—(AP)—Mrs. John Hays Hammond, wife of the noted engineer, died here early today after an illness of several weeks.

With the exception of Richard P. Hammond, who is in Paris, all of her four children, John Hays Jr., Harris, and Natalie Hays, were at her bedside at their home on fashionable Kaloama road. Mr. Hammond, her 76 year old husband, and her sister, Mrs. Charles Hoyle of Washington, were her constant attendants.

Mrs. Hammond was the former Miss Natalie Harris, daughter of the late Senator Nathaniel Harris of Natchez, Miss., where she was born. She married Mr. Hammond in 1880, and traveled with the celebrated engineer throughout the world. She was with her husband during the crisis in South Africa, where he was sentenced to death for his activities as a leader in the reform movement in 1895-96 in the Transvaal. She aided in obtaining his release for payment of a heavy fine.

She was noted for her civic and philanthropic work, besides numbering among her friends the royalty and nobility of Great Britain and European countries. She was a close friend of Queen Victoria, and when Mr. Hammond was appointed special ambassador to England to attend the coronation of King George V, in 1911, she accompanied him to London and distinguished herself as a hostess.

Mrs. Hammond was in her seventieth year. She had been ill for some time from a complication of diseases.

KILLS HIMSELF WHILE WATCHING MOVIE THRILLER

The drama on the screen had reached the point where an anarchist under sentence to be hanged takes the sheriff's pistol and shoots the alienist who is examining him. With the burst of gunfire from the stage Kelly placed the muzzle of a pistol in his mouth and fired a bullet which pierced the top of his skull, lodging in the plaster of the balcony overhead.

Scores of persons in adjoining seats rose and hurried to the lobby. Ushers passed down the aisle, calming those in forward rows, and the picture continued without interruption. A sheet was draped over Kelly's body, and he lay in the seat for twenty minutes until Summerdale police arrived. Miss Ruby Kelly, with whom he lived at 5153 North Oakley avenue, identified him. She said he had been ill

SENATE ENACTS REMAP HELD UP OVER 20 YEARS

Bill to Redistrict Assembly Loses.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 17.—[Special.]—After twenty years of being sidestepped and ignored, congressional reapportionment passed the senate tonight by a vote of 42 to 4. It received 17 votes more than the required majority of 26.

The bill went back to the house, which passed it last week, 79 to 66, for concurrence in amendments attached by the senate. There are 31 of these changes, mainly rectifications of errors.

Near midnight the house deferred action until tomorrow, as a quorum had vanished. The prospects were that the house will not concur and the amendments will land in a joint conference committee to straighten out disputed boundaries. Extended conference was held tonight between Gov. Emmerson, Speaker Shanahan, Sol P. Roderick [Rep., Chicago], Senator Richard J. Barr [Rep., Joliet]. They declared the apple cart will not be upped over.

Republican leaders in both houses jubilantly predicted that the bill will be on its way to the governor by tomorrow. It is the one big piece of legislation of this assembly, and it was hailed as a measure that will keep the session from being labeled a failure.

Democrats Come Into Camp.

To the bitter end the Democrats, led by Minority Leader Tom Courtney, attacked the remap as being too kind to Republicans, but on the roll call all but three of them lined up and voted for the measure.

All Cook county senators present voted for the reapportionment. All told, the bill received the votes of 38 Republicans and 14 Democrats.

The four votes cast against the measure came from three Democrats and one Republican, Harold Kessinger of Aurora.

Immediately after the passage of the congressional remap Courtney called up state senatorial reapportionment and got it to a vote. It failed. The vote stood 20 to 25. It was 6 votes short of a majority. It was supported by all Cook county members present except three, Senators Leonardo, Serritella and Roberts. They voted no.

Protest Long and Loud.

The Democrats tore the roof off with protests that the Republican majority was strong for new congressional districts, but was as antagonistic as ever towards a recarving of the legislative districts.

The new congressional apportionment will give the metropolitan area—composed of Cook, Lake, Will and Du Page counties, with 57 per cent of the population—14 districts. The remainder of the state gets 13.

Under the present districts, which are thirty years old, Cook and Lake counties, with 53 per cent of the population, have only 10 of 25 districts. Two congressmen are elected at large, due to the failure to reapportion.

The reapportionment gets rid of the "pocket boroughs" in Cook county and distributes two downstate districts among the 13 new ones.

How They Voted.

The vote on the congressional remap stood as follows:

FOR THE BILL.

REPUBLICANS.

Baker	Hanna	Paddock
Barbour	Husbach	Roberts
Barr	Lantz	Searcy
Bohrer	Lee	Serritella
Carlson	Leonardo	Smith

DEMOCRATS.

Adair	Felts	Finn—3.

REPUBLICANS.

Kessinger—1.	Total—4.

In both houses the measure had enough Republican votes to amount to constitutional majorities.

Once "Dead," It Revives.

A few weeks ago the bill was regarded as moribund, when the Democrats suddenly brought it to life by holding a party caucus and voting to oppose the tentative remap prepared by a joint committee of both houses. The theory propounded by the Democrats was that in the event of a landslide next year like that of last November they might win control of the legislature in 1933, and then in 1933 put through a Democratic redistricting plan which would help elect Democrats to congress.

It took a few days for this to sink into the consciousness of the Republicans. But when they got it they rallied round to put through a congressional remap that would be acceptable to Republican assembly members. Gov. Emmerson came out with a statement that he desired a congressional reapportionment, and with the aid of the administration, the Republicans were knit into a greater solidarity than in years.

The Courtney bill to reapportion districts from which members of the legislature are elected was pushed to a vote by the Democrats for record making purposes, as no one entertained an idea it would pass.

The bill got the votes of five Republicans and 15 Democrats, while it was opposed by 23 Republicans and two Democrats.

The roll call stood:

FOR THE BILL.

DEMOCRATS.

Pate	Finn—2.	Total—25.

"Nothing can be accomplished by passing this bill," said Senator James J. Barbour [Rep., Chicago], "if we passed it, it would get to the house Thursday, with insufficient time to get through by Friday adjournment."

Democrats Emit Roars.

"I can't understand the sanctimony of the Republican majority," said Senator Harold Ward [Dem., Chicago]. "It votes for congressional reapportionment, yet it is against senatorial reapportionment, though the members on taking office, call on the Almighty to bear witness they will give reapportionment."

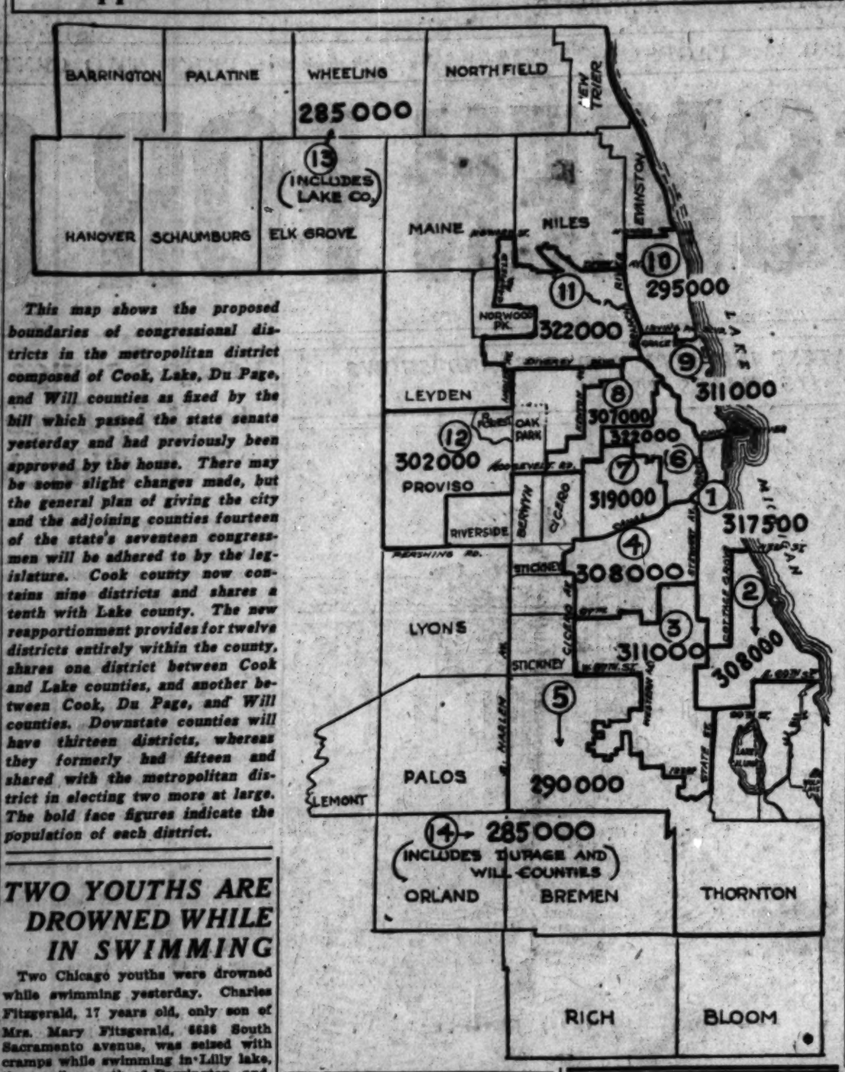
"Your oath doesn't mean a darn thing to you," added Senator Courtney, shaking his fist at the Republicans, "and it doesn't mean anything to the governor. But next session a Democratic assembly will give a legislative remap."

"I voted for congressional reapportionment because it gives me a 100 per cent Republican district," said Senator Andrew S. Cuthbertson [Rep., Bunker Hill], "but this senatorial reapportionment bill of yours would give me a 100 per cent Democratic district."

"But," said Courtney, "this passage of one bill and the defeat of the other shows your Republican talk on reapportionment is for bunking the people."

"Well," retorted Cuthbertson, "the people are getting a congressional reapportionment, aren't they? That is something which has failed for twenty years past. It alone makes this a historic legislature."

Reapportionment Gives Cook County More Congressmen



This map shows the proposed boundaries of congressional districts in the metropolitan district composed of Cook, Lake, Du Page, and Will counties as fixed by the bill which passed the state senate yesterday and had previously been approved by the house. There may be some slight changes made, but the general plan of giving the city and the adjoining counties fourteen of the state's seventeen congressmen will be adhered to by the legislature. Cook county now contains nine districts and shares a tenth with Lake county. The new reapportionment provides for twelve districts entirely within the county, shares one district between Cook and Lake counties, and another between Cook, Du Page, and Will counties. Downstate counties will have thirteen districts, whereas they formerly had fifteen and shared with the metropolitan district in electing two more at large. The bold face figures indicate the population of each district.

TWO YOUTHS ARE DROWNED WHILE IN SWIMMING

Two Chicago youths were drowned while swimming yesterday. Charles Fitzgerald, 17 years old, only son of Mrs. Mary Fitzgerald, 6636 South Sacramento avenue, was seized with cramps while swimming in Lilly lake, three miles north of Barrington, and, despite the rescue efforts of his companion, 12 year old George Gallagher of Barrington, sank in 16 feet of water.

The other victim, George Sidbach, 15 years old, 6511 South Claremont avenue, was drowned in the lagoon at Marquette park while swimming with a friend, Burrell Norberg, 13 years old, 6555 South Claremont avenue. The boy, a senior at Harper High school, was to receive his diploma tomorrow.

SENATE PASSES ACT REGULATING TRUCKS, BUSES

Springfield, Ill., June 17.—[Special.]—The bill regulating the length of trucks and buses, and forcing them to use soft tires and limit their loads, passed the senate tonight and now goes to Gov. Emmerson.

Most comprehensive measure ever introduced seeking to protect the highways of the state from excessive traffic damage and from long cumbersome vehicles, this bill limits the length of single unit vehicles to 35 feet and multiple units to 40 feet. The pneumatic tire provision goes into effect July 1, 1933, if approved by Gov. Emmerson.

Fees for truck loads are set up by the bill, beginning at $10 for a 3,000 pound load and increasing to $110 for a load weighing from 16,000 to 20,000 pounds. The bill represents, in substance, the program of the Illinois Taxpayers Hard Roads association, headed by Senator Clinton Ewing [Rep., Douglas].

DOG WHICH BIT TWO IS FOUND TO HAVE RABIES

Examination of the head of an airedale which bit 4 year old Shirley Tulchinsky, 3251 West 15th street, and Policeman George Armbuster of the Fillmore district, revealed last night that the animal had rabies. The policeman, who killed the dog, and the child, who was bitten on the scalp, are to be given anti-rabies serum today at the county hospital.

In a warning not to pet strange dogs, Health Commissioner Bundesen yesterday said that 446 cases of dog bite have been called to the attention of the health department so far during this month. The number of cases reported to the department during the first five and one-half months of this year is 2,524, which are divided as follows: January, 266; February, 274; March, 231; April, 517; May, 686; and June, 446. Out of 111 heads of dogs submitted to the department for tests, 14 showed positive indications of rabies.

HUNT CAPONE'S ASSETS TO MEET $400,000 CLAIM

U. S. Also Searches for His Beer Co-defendants

With Al Capone's pleas of guilty to income tax evasion and beer conspiracy now a matter of record and his incarceration in Leavenworth penitentiary a certainty, federal authorities yesterday turned their attention to the collection of the unpaid taxes which the gang leader owes the government. Another matter on which federal agents were busy was the arrest of the 64 department heads and bodyguards in the Capone syndicate who were indicted with their chief on charges of conspiring to violate the prohibition laws.

Seizure of Capone's property to satisfy delinquent income taxes was planned yesterday by Robert E. Neely, acting collector of internal revenue, who awaited the arrival here from Washington of authority—in the form of a jeopardy assessment—through which the government will be able to take Capone's tangible assets—or as much of them as it is able to find.

Property Information Vague.

Inquiry at the federal building, however, failed to reveal any definite information as to the gang chief's actual property holdings. It was admitted that breweries, beer trucks and other rolling stock used in the operation of the syndicate could never be traced to Capone, and the last record of Capone's purchasing equipment for his trucks would not be admissible in court under the statute of limitations.

It was learned that Capone's home in Chicago is listed under the name of his mother and his Palm Island estate at Miami, now the object of court action seeking the collection of a Florida lawyer's fees, is listed in the name of his wife.

Reports from Miami indicated that Florida authorities may attach some of the Capone property before the government is ready to press its claims.

Circuit Judge W. L. Fresland, sitting in Miami, yesterday dissolved a temporary injunction restraining Dade county authorities from removing furnishings from Capone's Palm Island home to satisfy the suit for $50,000 filed by his former Miami attorney, Vincent C. Giblin.

An authoritative report said that Capone holds $1,000,000 in government bonds and another $500,000 in government bonds of a recent issue, but federal authorities declared they knew nothing of these holdings.

His Ready Cash Scarce.

Capone's ready cash is said to be scarce due to the business depression and the high cost of legal advice. However, the authorities hope to find enough assets to satisfy the government claims. These claims, it developed yesterday, will likely be substantially greater than the $215,080 which the government books show Capone actually owes in taxes on an income of $1,038,646 from 1924 to 1929, inclusive.

It was pointed out that in income tax cases where fraud is alleged the defendant is liable to a penalty of 50 per cent of the amount due. In Capone's case, the unpaid taxes with such a penalty and interest on the total would amount to approximately $400,000.

To avoid the full consequences of the civil action in his income tax case, Capone may make a compromise offer of settlement, but federal authorities yesterday indicated that they would not be satisfied with an amount much less than the actual claims.

Police Aid in Search.

Meanwhile the Capone men named with their chief in the beer conspiracy charges were the object of a search in which the government agents were aided by squads from the dectective bureau. Early last night, however, the search had been fruitless. The old Capone haunts were shy of gangster habitues and there was every indication that Capone's retainers had taken to cover.

In a hunt for Mike Potson, and Joe Fusco, business manager of the beer syndicate, agents visited the old Colosimo restaurant, operated by Potson, and Fusco's dive at 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue. Neither Potson nor Fusco had been seen in their places for some time, employes reported.

Potson and Fusco may surrender today, according to rumors at the federal building. Federal prosecutors expect still others of the gang to surrender before many days have passed.

Capone's admitted guilt is regarded as a strengthening force for the government's case against the others, although it was pointed out that many will endeavor to show that they took no part in the conspiracy.

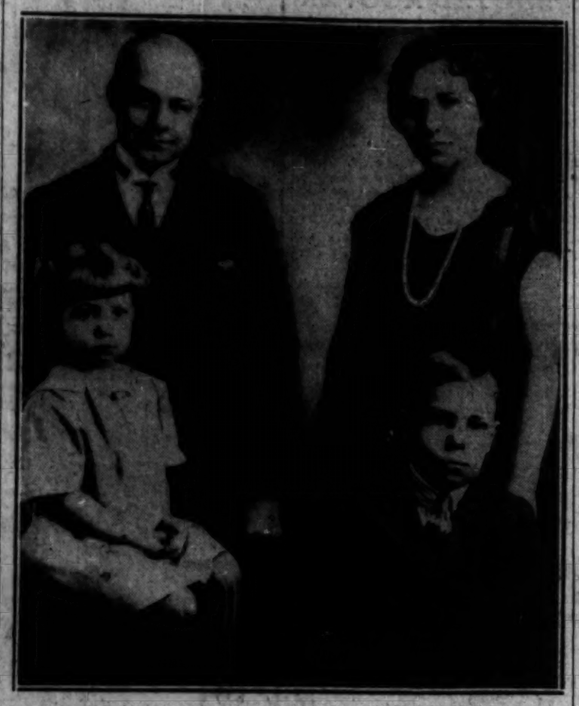
Assistant United States District Attorney Victor E. La Rue said the government would make no attempt to try the Capone men until next fall, except in the cases of those who plead guilty.

The news of Capone's capitulation carried around the world and reverberated back in Chicago yesterday. In Mayor Cermak's office the telephone was busy several times during the day with calls from Paris, London and elsewhere by enterprising journalists who asked such questions as: "Will Monsieur Capone now be employed to police the city for the dry cleaning interests?"

The mayor soon refused to answer foreign calls and commented to newspaper men who asked his views on Capone:

"I never mention his name. I told those foreign newspaper men not to call me up to ask foolish questions."

PASTOR CITED FOR CONTEMPT



The Rev. Dr. Clinton C. Cox, pastor of Drexel Park Presbyterian church, and his family. Dr. Cox was cited to appear before Judge Borrelli in the State street court Saturday and show cause why he should not be punished for criticism of the judge in letters in which he objected to the judge's decision in an automobile damage case and intimated that the case had been "fixed from the start."

Fumes of Gas Heater Kill Boy in His Home

Fumes from a gas heater which consumed all the oxygen in the room, caused the death last night of Leonard Conroyd, 13 years old, of 1934 North Kimball avenue. The boy entered the heated room to wash and when he failed to emerge after a long time his mother, Mary, knocked on the door. She smelled gas. Albany Park police were called, and with the aid of a fire rescue squad tried vainly to save him.

OPEN VERDICT IN DEATH.

A coroner's jury returned an open verdict yesterday in the death of John Keane, cabaret entertainer, who was found dead, his skull crushed, on May 31 at 107th street and Oxford road.

MRS. MENKEN'S $200,000 GEMS DRAW GUNMEN

Find Her at Breakfast; Tie Up Household.

New York, June 17.—[Special.]—Mrs. S. Stanwood, Menken, whose jewelry has been a feature of many social seasons in this city, was having breakfast in bed on the fourth floor of her home at 34 West 52d street, at 10 a. m. today, when six persons filed into the room.

Three were men with pistols. One was the maid who answered the door bell. Another was a maid whom they met on the way upstairs after taking the first maid prisoner. Another was an upholsterer whom they picked up as they passed a salon where he was working on some furniture.

"Only Want Jewels."

The youngest and best dressed gunman, who seemed to be about 30, was apparently in command. He gave a few orders to the two other gunmen in Italian and then invited Mrs. Menken to turn over her jewelry.

"If you won't hurt any of these people," Mrs. Menken replied.

"All we want is the jewelry," the gunman said reassuringly.

Mrs. Menken got out of bed and led him downstairs to a bathroom on the next floor where a safe was set in the wall behind a mirror. She took out the tin box which was its only contents and opened it. She watched the young gunman fill his pockets with her diamond rings, jewel studded wrist watches, diamond necklaces, and her string of eighty-one matched pearls as well as her wedding ring. She tried to memorize the list. The jewels were insured for about $150,000.

"Now we'll go upstairs again," the gunman said.

Everybody Tied Up.

The maids and the upholsterer had meanwhile been tied up and were sitting on the floor. The youngest gunman tied Mrs. Menken's hands behind her and fastened her ankles together with clothing which he found in the room and left her sitting on the bed.

"Don't make any noise after we go," he ordered.

He left first, with the jewelry. In a few minutes the other two gunmen followed, using handkerchiefs on the door knob in closing the door.

They had gained entrance through the old flower ruse—appearing at the door with flowers to deliver.

NATAL, Brazil, June 18.—Thursday.—(AP)—The German flying boat DO-X took off today at 5:30 a. m. [2:30 a. m. Chicago daylight saving time] for Bahia on the first lap of a flight to Rio de Janeiro. The DO-X flew here from the island of Fernando Noronha June 6, after a 1,400 mile flight across the south Atlantic. It is about 600 miles to Bahia.

ALEX. PANTAGES LOVE MART CASE JURY LOCKED UP

San Diego, Cal., June 17.—(AP)—The jury in the "girl market" case, after deliberating ten hours on the fate of Alexander Pantages, wealthy showman, and three others charged with conspiracy and contributing to the delinquency of a minor, was locked up at 10 o'clock tonight.

The jury returned to the court room after an hour's deliberation for a copy of the court's instructions.

Before the jurors took the case at noon they were instructed by Superior Judge L. N. Turrentine that they must consider Lydia Nitto, the youthful complaining witness, as an accomplice in their deliberations on the felony charge.

He also ruled that Helen Livingston, another girl allegedly brought for immoral purposes to a hotel party here last October 30, and John P. Mills, real estate dealer who turned state's witness after pleading guilty to the misdemeanor, were accomplices in the alleged conspiracy and in the misdemeanor.

'Empty Pistol' Wounds Man When Friend Plays Robber

A holdup joke played with an "unloaded" gun last night sent Steve De Nova, 27 years old, 1511 West Harrison street, to the County hospital with a bullet wound in his throat which attendants said might cause his death. He was shot by Joseph Esposito, 23 years old, 1510 West Harrison street, a milkman. Esposito had been firing an automatic pistol at a target with two friends, and thought the weapon empty. He pointed it at De Nova with a command to "stick 'em up," and pulled the trigger.

HOOVER ECHOES LINCOLN'S PLEA TO RESPECT LAW

Calls Obedience Basis of Nation's Existence.

houses present," Speaker Shanahan declared, "this joint session of the general assembly is now convened."

A prayer was said by Bishop White of the Episcopal diocese of Springfield. The University of Illinois band played "Illinois," the Joliet High School band played "America." Then again Speaker Shanahan rose. The Illinois legislature, he said, did honor to itself and to the state by entertaining President Hoover.

"I wish to thank you for your courteous and most generous greeting," President Hoover told the audience that packed the armory to its doors. "It is a great honor to meet with a joint session of the Illinois legislature.

"It is a fitting thing that the celebration of this day should be participated in officially by the assembly of the state of Illinois in which Mr. Lincoln took so distinguished a part and by the President of the United States, in whose office Mr. Lincoln became the savior of the republic.

Sense of Nation's Development.

"In the presence of this assembly one thought expressed by Mr. Lincoln comes to my mind in the relation of the state legislatures to the whole question and scheme of our government. It is indeed a much larger part than the immediate problems of the states with which they deal, for the legislatures today, as in Mr. Lincoln's time are the laboratories in which new ideas are developed and in which they are tried out.

"A overwhelming proportion of the ideas which have been developed nationally have been born in the state legislatures, the President said.

"They have been pioneered out on the ranch of local experience," he declared.

"Ours must be a country of constant change and progress, because of one fact alone amongst many others, and that is that the constant discoveries in science and their products in new invention shift our basis of human relationships and our mode of life in such a fashion as to require a constant remodeling of the machinery of the government."

Methods, Not Principles, Change.

That does not imply, he said, that the eternal principles of justice and ordered liberty are subject to change.

"But," he declared, "our machinery of government must shift in order to enable us to enforce these principles against the shifts of economic and social forces due to constant discovery and invention. And in these great processes our state legislatures occupy a position of dominant importance to the nation as a whole."

The President was not the only one to win applause from the crowd. As Ambassador Charles G. Dawes stepped to the platform, before the President's appearance, the crowd cheered wildly. And former Senator Charles S. Deneen and Representative Richard Yates also received a hearty greeting.

Assembly Meets President.

As the final act at the armory meeting the members of the state senate and house filed past and shook hands with the President and Mrs. Hoover.

Then, following a luncheon at the executive mansion, where President and Mrs. Hoover were guests of Gov. and Mrs. Emmerson. Then the party went out to the cemetery for the rededication exercises.

As the presidential cortège entered Oak Ridge cemetery and drew up before the memorial, the University of Illinois band broke into "Hail to the Chief." President and Mrs. Hoover left their car to enter the tomb itself and lay their two wreaths, one given to Mrs. Hoover by the Girl Scouts.

A hundred feet from the tomb a great stand had been set up, and under the blazing sun a crowd of thousands was jammed shoulder to shoulder as tightly as it could be packed.

The obelisk of the memorial, restored at a cost of $175,000, rose in its granite grayness against a cloudless sky.

As the President stepped onto the platform at the side of Gov. Emmerson the band broke into "The Star Spangled Banner." The words, sung by the chorus of the Hamilton club of Chicago, were caught up by the multitude and sent echoing through the trees that formed a natural setting for the scene upon the speakers' stand.

Emmerson Praises Lincoln.

Then Gov. Emmerson arose. His arm swung toward the tomb as he said:

"Inscribed on the north wall of the sarcophagus chamber are the immortal words of Stanton—'Now he belongs to the ages,' but more especially he belongs to Illinois and to Springfield, the city which he called home.

"Lincoln, in his farewell address, delivered just before he departed for Washington to assume the duties of the presidency, confessed the debt which he owed to the city and state in which he grew to maturity, and which had honored him distinctly even before he gained national recognition. And now the state and city in turn admit their debt to him in the re-creation and rededication of this shrine of liberty, which stands as a beacon of hope to the lowly and oppressed throughout the world, and as a signal to those in high places that eternal fame comes not in the accumulation of wealth or personal honors, but in unselfish service of one's fellow men."

Then the governor turned to where the President sat.

"Today, after a lapse of more than twenty years, we have in our city as our guest the President of the United States, who, like Lincoln, was called from the ranks of the common people to lead our country in an hour of adversity," he said. "He has come from the capital at Washington personally to place a President's wreath upon the Lincoln sarcophagus, and to deliver upon behalf of the nation the dedicatory address for this occasion."

Hoover Pleased by Applause.

As President Hoover rose the applause that greeted him, the heartiest, seemingly the most sincere he has received on his trip, brought a smile to his face.

"The people of Illinois are the trustees of the remains of our greatest American," were the words with which he began his address and they called forth new applause.

"The people of Illinois have taken just pride in the restoration and beautification of the tomb of their greatest citizen—Abraham Lincoln, the sixteenth President of the United States. It is proper that a President of the United States should take part in its rededication at this time.

"This, the tomb of Lincoln," he declared, "is a shrine to all Americans. The stone and marble of all of our great national shrines are more than physical reminders of the mighty past of our country. They are symbols of things of the spirit. Through the men and deeds they commemorate they renew our national ideals and our aspirations. It is a refreshment of the national soul to assemble in these places and to direct the thoughts of our people to these occasions and to recall the men and their deeds which builded the republic. It is an awakening of pride in the glories of the past and an inspiration to faith in the future. These are the springs which replenish that most sacred stream of human emotions—patriotism.

Gather to Pay Tribute.

"Nothing that we may say here can add to the knowledge or devotion of our people to the memory of Abraham Lincoln. Nothing we may do can add to his share in history. All that words can convey has long since been uttered by his grateful countrymen.

"We gather here today that we of our generation may again pay tribute to the man who not only saved the Union and gave freedom to a race but who created the ideals and inspirations of American life.

"It is not new, yet it is eternally true, to state that Lincoln made a universal appeal to the minds and hearts of men," he went on. "His every aspiration was for the unity and welfare of his country. He became a triumphant force in achieving that ideal, because he saw the problems of his time not only from the standpoint of the statesman but of the average citizen whose outlook he understood and whose trials and hopes he shared.

"No man gazes upon the tomb of Lincoln without reflection upon his transcendent qualities of patience, fortitude, and steadfastness. The very greatness which history and popular imagination have stamped upon him sometimes obscures somewhat the real man back of the symbol which he has become.

Man Before Becoming Symbol.

"It is not amiss to reflect that he was a man before becoming a symbol. To appreciate the real meaning of his life we need to contemplate him as the product of the people themselves, as the farm boy, the fence builder, the soldier, the country lawyer, the political candidate, the legislator and the President, as well as the symbol of union and of human rights.

"It is fitting that we should rededicate his hallowed resting place, that we should thus recall to every American mind and heart the contribution which Lincoln made to the greatness of our nation. But it was Lincoln himself whose insight and splendid expression illuminated the true purpose of our assembly at national shrines.

"It was he who at Gettysburg called upon the people not so much to mourn the dead as to honor them by a rededication of themselves to the service of their country. He said in that memorable address:

"'It is for us the living rather to be dedicated here to the great task remaining before us.' That should be our purpose and resolve today.

Great Changes in World.

"The six decades which have passed since Lincoln's death have written on the scroll of history changes bewildering in their variety, momentous in their consequences. They have broadened and enriched life beyond the imaginations of Lincoln's contemporaries. The years have not only yielded rich treasures, material and spiritual, but they have brought challenges to readjustment, both by government and individuals, to a changing world. Our country has become powerful among nations. It is charged with infinitely new responsibilities both at home and abroad.

"What a poet has called the endless adventure, the government of men, discloses new and changing human needs from generation to generation ——."

It was then, as he concluded, that he impressed on his hearers the counsel quoted in the opening of this dispatch that Lincoln had brought home to former generations of the necessity of upholding the laws.

Political Forecasters Guessing.

From there to the train for Washington the President left behind a situation in Illinois politics that has the forecasters guessing.

True enough, was the word that passed around during the President's visit, that Springfield displayed more enthusiasm than had the other two state capitals he had visited—Indianapolis and Columbus. But the cynical wondered how much of it was for Hoover and how much for a ceremony commemorative of Abraham Lincoln.

There was no throwing of hats into the air as the presidential cortège passed by. The memory of the 350 hunger marchers who came to the capital last Sunday, but were gently eased out of town, was still fresh.

The Hoover visit was taken as an effort to rescue Illinois from the burning. Somehow, the 744,000 majority that Senator J. Hamilton Lewis received last November is to be obliterated and transformed into a Republican victory in 1932.

But as the President's train pulled out of Springfield there was no overweening smile of joy on the faces of the Republican leaders. No one had exactly whooped it up for Hoover and the Republican setup in Illinois still remained a tangle of conflicting forces with no one jumping confidently into the lead to show the way out of darkness into the light.

100 REPUBLICANS AND CHICAGO CLUBS ATTEND LINCOLN CEREMONY

One hundred Chicago Republicans, together with the Hamilton club male chorus and the Mundy chorus, yesterday attended the dedication of Lincoln's tomb at Springfield, where President Hoover and Gov. Emmerson delivered addresses. The two choral groups participated in the program.

The party was led by Allan T. Gilbert, president of the Hamilton club, and included Howard P. Savage, Walter B. Beebe, Harold A. Baum, Representative Carl R. Chindblom, Gen. J. J. Gaynity, George W. Dixon, Louis Nettelhorst, William J. Bell, Walter B. Beebe, George P. Jensen, John L. East Jr., Otto W. Balgemann, Charles Essig, William D. Saltiel, Emil A. W. Johnson, John R. Palandech, James Abbott, A. B. Patten, Mrs. H. S. Foote, Charles A. Nowak, and S. M. Murdock.

FEARING HOOVER PROTEST, BLIMPS CANCEL FLIGHT

Scott Field, Ill., June 17.—(AP)—A proposed flight of two army blimps to Springfield, Ill., to participate in the rededication ceremonies at Lincoln's tomb was canceled today when Capt. Douglas Johnson, acting head of the field, read newspaper reports that President Hoover was annoyed by airplanes flying above the Harding memorial at Marion, O., yesterday.

Capt. Johnson said the blimps would not make nearly as much noise as the airplanes did, but that he wished to avoid any possibility of annoying the speakers and crowds at the Springfield ceremonies.

It had been planned to fly the blimps above the tomb with motors throttled and to take aerial photographs of the event.

LAMONT GROUNDS 3 AVIATORS WHO ANNOYED HOOVER

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—President Hoover's request that the commerce department "make an example" of three pilots who flew low over the Harding memorial exercises at Marion, O., yesterday was relayed by telephone to the department today by Secretary Lamont.

The President's request for action against the violators of the commerce department's air regulations was made directly to Secretary Lamont who is with him on his speaking tour of the midwest. Secretary Lamont suggested over the phone that the flyers be grounded until an investigation could be made.

Officials of the aeronautics branch are trying to discover the identity of the pilots.

ENTER BURGLAR INTO FAITHFULL DEATH MYSTERY

Stepfather Reports His Home Entered.

New York, June 17.—[Special.]—The strange case of the death of Starr Faithfull, with its hints of blackmail and murder to save the reputations of prominent and powerful persons, took another fantastic twist tonight when Stanley E. Faithfull, her stepfather, reported a burglary in his apartment at 12 St. Luke's place.

The latest development, followed closely an announcement that Dr. G. Jameson Carr, surgeon aboard the steamship Franconia was New York bound with letters which Miss Faithfull mailed to London the day before she disappeared, predicting that she would soon be dead.

It was nearly 9 o'clock when Mr. Faithfull who has authorized publication of his stepdaughter's life story, including details of her alleged betrayal by a rich family friend, reported to the police that his home had been entered through a skylight Tuesday afternoon while he and his family were in Missoula being questioned by District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards.

Letter Written June 4.

Starr Faithfull's "death" letter to Dr. Carr was written on the stationery of a Fifth avenue department store and posted June 4, the day before she disappeared after being seen staggering about the Cunard line piers, where the Mauretania was making ready to sail on a four day southern cruise, the letter contained this sentence:

"When you receive this I will be dead."

Dr. Carr received another letter from Miss Faithfull dated June 2, apologizing for her intoxicated coduct when she saw him off as the Franconia sailed for England May 29.

Officers of the Mauretania, which is now in England, were reported to have been questioned about the girl and to have denied that she was on the ship after it sailed.

The Stowaway Theory.

Men familiar with the waterfront, however, believed that the girl, with her fixation for the sea and men who follow it, stowed away on the Mauretania or some other ship and in some manner got over the side and was drowned.

Despite this persistent belief Mr. Rivards continued efforts to establish that the girl reach Long Beach by land and was drugged and held under water until she was drowned.

His theory is that Starr was slain to seal her lips and shut off possible blackmail. Confirmation was obtained in Boston today to reports that not long before her death the name of Miss Faithfull was used in an effort to get money from a prominent Boston man who gave the Faithfull family a $5,000 settlement several years ago after they had accused him of wronging Starr when she was young.

RECOVERING

FAY BAINTER.

New York, June 17.—(AP)—The condition of Fay Bainter, actress, who underwent a major operation yesterday at Harbor sanitarium, was described as satisfactory today. Miss Bainter, the wife of Reginald Venable, starred in such shows as "East Is West," "The Dream Girl," "The Enemy," and "The Admirable Crichton."

BOY IN STOLEN CAR SHOT DEAD BY POLICEMAN

An alleged boy auto thief was shot and killed last evening when he and two companions, riding in a stolen car, attempted to elude Policeman Arthur Murphy of the detective bureau. The slain youth was identified at the county hospital as Nathan Baraglia, 16 years old, of 906 Garibaldi place.

Murphy, in civilian clothes, was riding in Taylor street, west of Ashland avenue, when he saw the boys in the stolen car. They turned south into an alley to Elburn avenue, east to Ashland, and then proceeded north to Taylor. Murphy forced the car to the curb, but Baraglia, who was driving, reversed the machine 100 feet, then shot ahead. The chase continued to Taylor street and Marshfield avenue, where Murphy fired one shot.

Baraglia, shot in the head, slumped in his seat. His companions stopped the car, and Murphy captured them. He released them momentarily, to aid the wounded boy, and they escaped. Murphy took Baraglia to the hospital, where he died. The stolen car was owned by Nathan Hager, 2968 North Lawndale avenue, who had reported it missing ten days ago.

TAKE BODY FROM RIVER.

The body of a man about 45 years old, dressed in rough clothes, was taken from the river at the foot of Quarry street yesterday by the Deering police.

SUSPEND GARY OFFICER; CHARGES FLY IN INQUIRY

Lieut. Thixtun Is Named After Testimony.

Less than ten hours after he had testified before the grand jury investigating vice, liquor, and gambling conditions in Gary, Lieut. Paul Thixtun, night commander of Gary police, was ordered suspended last night. Immediately afterward, Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Kenneth Parmalee, in charge of the Gary inquiry, issued the following statement;

Lieut. Thixtun was cooperating with me in trying to clean out the rotten Gary police department and bring about the indictment of its dishonest officers. I have evidence that probably will indict a number of policemen. Thixtun was one of the few honest officials on the force. I was shadowed this week by Detective Paul Roberts."

Prosecuting Attorney Robert G. Estill, reached at East Chicago, said that the grand jury inquiry was not called essentially to indict police officers, "but I can change the purpose immediately."

The lieutenant appeared before the jury at Crown Point in the morning. Chief of Police Stanley Bucklind, who ordered him suspended, could not be found last night.—L. B. Snowden, president of the board of safety, which controls the police department, said no charges had been filed with him against Thixtun, and that he knew nothing of the case.

SECOND AMERICAN CONSULATE IN GERMANY STONED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LEIPZIG, Germany, June 17.—The windows of the American consulate here were smashed tonight with stones and bottles flung by four communist youths who fled and escaped the police.

A week ago a similar group of communist youths attacked the American consulate at Dresden, shouting "down with American imperialism." Communist leaders said this was a protest against the impending electrocution of eight Negro boys at Scottsboro, Ala., who were found guilty of attacking two white girls in a boxcar.

[The case of the eight Negroes was recently appealed by lawyers engaged by the International Labor Defense, an organization said to be allied to American communist groups.]

Infant Choked to Death; Head Caught in His Bed

Indianapolis, Ind., June 17.—(AP)—When his head became fastened between two upright pieces in a bed, Jackie Lee Jaynes, 7 weeks old son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Jaynes, was choked to death today.

DOOMED TO DEATH TOMORROW, HE FEARS HE WILL BE POISONED

With less than 24 hours of life remaining, John Preston, Chicago house painter, has no dread of the electric chair to which he is doomed, but he is haunted by fears of being poisoned.

Preston, a prisoner in the death house at Joliet penitentiary, is scheduled for execution tomorrow morning for the murder of Miss Agnes Johnson, whom he raped and strangled on a country road in Du Page county on Oct. 12, 1929.

Unperturbed by the tinkering of the electricians in the execution room twenty feet from his cell, the prisoner shudders when food is brought him, according to his guards. For the last three days he has refused all nourishment.

His sister, Irene, and the wife who stood by him steadfastly since his arrest, visited Preston yesterday. A jury at Wheaton convicted him of murder three months after the crime. A second jury found him insane, but the state, securing another insanity trial, persuaded a third jury he was sane in the legal sense.

HUNT WRITER OF THREATS TO RY. PRESIDENT

New York, June 17.—[Special.]—Threatening letters with the signature "XRRA," received by Patrick E. Crowley, president of the New York Central railroad, have been turned over to the bomb squad of the New York police department which is trying to trace the writer, it was revealed today.

Mr. Crowley was reported homeward bound tonight from Cleveland, where he had attended a board meeting. Officials of the railroad admitted he had received the letters, but they and Police Commissioner William Mulrooney denied reports that the writer had threatened not only Mr. Crowley but his family as well unless $25,000 was paid. They denied specially that the writer had threatened to kidnap Mr. Crowley's daughter.

Mr. Mulrooney said Mr. Crowley, like most other men occupying high positions, had received threatening letters during the last few years.

"The letters were addressed to Mr. Crowley at his office," said the commissioner. "They demanded money, not as personal tribute from Mr. Crowley, but from the railroad. They seem to be the usual crank type of communication."

Attempts Suicide by Hacking Head with Ax

Terre Haute, Ind., June 17.—(AP)—A man who attempted to commit suicide today by hacking his head with an ax was taken to St. Anthony's hospital, where he gave his name as Ed Lowosz, 41.

THOUSANDS FLEE AS QUAKE ROCKS TOKIO BUILDINGS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, June 18.—[Thursday.]—A checkup at 11 o'clock this morning reveals no deaths, seven injuries, and slight damage as a result of the earthquake which rocked Tokio last night. Thousands of persons, fearing a recurrence of the great quake which destroyed Tokio in 1923, fled to the streets in panic, but beyond breaking windows and knocking pictures from walls the tremor did little damage.

The center of the shock was located seventy miles southwest of Tokio, along the Sagami river, and the area shaken was 100 miles wide.

The volcano Yakegatake, in Nangano prefecture, was reported in eruption. Ashes were showered on adjacent villages.

ATTACKS RENO DIVORCE TO VOID LATER MARRIAGE

Hugo Meyer Hits Decree Wife Obtained.

Hugo Meyer, head of the Motorists' Association of Illinois, yesterday sought to have Illinois courts declare illegal the Reno divorce of Mrs. Evelyn Newton Meyer, which, she charges, he inspired and paid for himself.

HUGO MEYER.

She obtained the divorce on Nov. 22, 1930, from Joel J. Newton, a printer, charging that he dumped buckets of coal on her as she slept and put chewing gum in her hair. Meyer was divorced by his third wife at the same time. He went to Reno, and three days after Mrs. Newton got her decree, married her there.

Attacks Marriage Through Decree.

Their honeymoon was broken short at North Platte, Neb. She got off the train on which they were returning to Chicago, charging her bridegroom with cruelty. They were reconciled later, but on May 5 she filed suit for separate maintenance.

Meyer's attack on his wife's previous divorce was filed yesterday before Circuit Judge George Fred Rush a the answer to his wife's suit. His attorneys, C. W. Armstrong and Frank Teed, set forth that Illinois courts can refuse to recognize Reno divorces where it is shown that the divorced parties went to Nevada for the sole purpose of getting a decree and that Mrs. Meyer is still the legal wife of Newton, and not legally married to Meyer.

Attorney Benjamin H. Ehrlich will argue against the plea tomorrow on behalf of Mrs. Meyer, he said.

"The contention that her divorce is not legal is ridiculous," Attorney Ehrlich asserted, "especially since it was Meyer who sent her to Reno and paid the expenses of the divorce. Newton is the only person who could attack the decree."

Writ Hits Another Reno Plea.

Circuit Judge Daniel F. Trude yesterday issued a temporary injunction, restraining a husband from getting a Reno decree, in a case pending before him. The husband, Philip Weiner, filed suit for divorce in the Circuit court of Cook county in 1929, charging Mrs. Rebecca Weiner, 2058 West Division street, with cruelty.

She replied with a cross-bill for separate maintenance. Yesterday her attorney, N. J. Johnson, told Judge Trude that when the Nevada legislature passed the six weeks divorce law recently, Weiner left for Reno, where he started suit.

Judge Trude issued a temporary injunction restraining Weiner from proceeding at Reno before July 1.

FOREMAN, CHAINSTORE CLOTHIER, MUST PAY WIFE $1,250 MONTH

New York, June 17.—[Special.]—Supreme Court Justice Carew awarded a separation decree today to Mrs. Florence June Foreman of 15 Central Park west from Winfield Foreman, 480 Park avenue, clothing manufacturer and head of a chain of retail stores, on the ground of cruelty.

She asked $75,000 a year allmony, but Justice Carew awarded $1,250 a month.

Mrs. Foreman was a film actress at the time of her marriage, and is about half the age of Mr. Foreman, who is nearly 60.

U. S. AND CANADA TO OPEN SEAWAY PARLEY FRIDAY

Minister Herridge to Help Speed Project.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—New negotiations which administration officials believe will result in an agreement for joint Canadian-American construction of the St. Lawrence waterway connecting the great lakes and the sea via Montreal will begin Friday on the arrival in Washington of W. B. Herridge, newly appointed envoy from Canada.

State department officials who have been vainly pushing the St. Lawrence project for several years, expressed confidence today that a method for joint construction of the seaway can be worked out within the next few months. So confident are department officials that they are prepared to recommend that President Hoover appoint commissioners at once to work with Canadian representatives in negotiating a treaty.

Propose Commission.

President Hoover provisionally has chosen Henry J. Allen, former senator from Kansas, as chairman of the American half of the proposed commission. It is understood the state department is preparing to recommend that Senators Arthur Vandenburg [Rep., Mich.] and Thomas J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.] be chosen as two of the other four commissioners for the United States.

In official Canadian circles it was stated that while Minister Herridge will discuss the waterway with state department officials it is still too early to state that Canada is ready to appoint a commission of five to cooperate with five Americans in drawing up a treaty providing for joint construction of the route. The Canadian government, it was said, is, however, ready to begin discussing the question of how the two nations should proceed in arranging for joint construction.

Would Discuss Engineering Plans.

It was learned today that it is now highly probale that an attempt will be made to clear the way for construction of the seaway through direct diplomatic negotiations. The commissioners then would simply draw up the treaty.

Engineering plans for the construction of the waterway as well as the Chicago water diversion are among subjects which a commission would have to discuss. Two plans for constructing the waterway have been drawn up. Other subjects for discussion would include a division of cost and a division of power.

Indications today were that the Canadian government had been prompt to take new interest in the waterway by some evidences of a waning interest in the project in some sections of the United States. The fact that President Hoover, one of the main forces back of the waterway, will end his first term in March, 1933, is also regarded as another contributing factor in inducing early Canadian action.

LEADS RAID ON HUSBAND.

Mrs. Lilias Odess, 816 Sunnyside avenue, led a policeman to the room of Miss Jewel Vavrik, 32 years old, 836 East 81st street, yesterday morning and caused the arrest of her husband, Jack Odess, loop bandbook operator. Odess won a continuance until July 1 in Morals court.

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Consider the Garden of Eden. When that old serpent put Eve up to the idea of handing Adam an apple, he may have been doing them both a good turn—for where would we be today, ladies and gentlemen, without our Adam's Apple. If we didn't have our Adam's Apple, we couldn't sing, we couldn't even speak. For your Adam's Apple is your larynx—your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. So—Consider your Adam's Apple. Be careful in your choice of cigarettes. Remember—the serpent in the smoker's Garden of Eden—harsh irritants are present in all raw tobaccos. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants. Reach for a LUCKY instead. Remember, LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette in America that through its exclusive "TOASTING" Process expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. These expelled irritants are sold to manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. And so we say, "Consider your Adam's Apple."

WOMAN LEADER NEAR DEATH IN GANG SHOOTING

Tell How She Carried On for Husband.

Indiana's woman gang leader, Mrs. Paul Perconti, was near death in Mercy hospital in Gary last night while her chief lieutenant, Tony Greco, lay dead in a Gary mortuary. Mrs. Perconti is the mother of four children.

Physicians held out little hope for recovery of the 31 year old woman who, according to Gary police, assumed management of her husband's gang upon his murder and expanded the gang with the avowed purpose of exterminating rivals to whom she attributed her widowhood.

"They were out to get me all right," Mrs. Perconti told Lieut. Paul Thixtun, thus upsetting the police theory that Greco was the object of assassination and that she was only an incidental victim.

Husband Ambushed and Slain.

Sixteen months ago Paul Perconti, at that time the acknowledged boss of Gary bootlegging, was ambushed and shot to death in his own front yard at 229 Tyler street. The police learned nothing from the hysterical widow and, after a desultory investigation, dropped the case.

But Mrs. Perconti knew even who her husband's slayers were, the police now believe. Over his grave, it is said, she swore vengeance. After the burial she engaged two maids to care for her children and the household. She retained her husband's interest in the five or six speakeasies he controlled, signed up his bodyguard, Greco, as her "heavy man," and enlisted various cousins and brothers-in-law for running and distributing liquor.

The Perconti gang, rejuvenated by the woman's thirst for vengeance, grew to formidable strength, police say, and the day of reckoning for which Mrs. Perconti longed was near at hand.

Enemies Strike First.

But her rivals sensed their peril and struck first. The widow and her henchman were leaving the Tyler street dwelling yesterday morning when a blast from a double barreled shotgun cut them down.

Greco died instantly. Mrs. Perconti, with a number of shotgun slugs in her body, was taken to the hospital, where she cried incoherently over the plight of her children.

KIDNAPED WOMAN ESCAPES IN LEAP FROM BANDIT CAR

Daring death, Miss Mabel Brisolaro leaped from a fast moving automobile last night and escaped from a bandit-kidnaper who had taken her at the point of a gun from her sweetheart, Albert Santi, 1646 North Ogden avenue. The robber menaced the couple in front of her home at 619 Sibley street, took $11 from Santi, and forced Miss Brisolaro into his car. Threatened with death if he interfered, Santi watched the car speed away. In Taylor street at Winchester avenue Miss Brisolaro leaped from the moving car. She suffered bruises and cuts.

SEALED VERDICT IS RETURNED IN LOVE BALM SUIT

A sealed verdict, determining whether William H. Evans, owner of the Evans Flexible Reamer corporation at 3513 Lincoln avenue, must pay heart balm to Miss Lillian McQuillan, 35 years old, 4922 North Central Park avenue, will be opened this morning before Judge Marcus Kavanagh of the Superior court.

Miss McQuillan is suing Evans for $50,000 for breach of promise. The case has been on trial before a packed courtroom for several days. According to her story she met Evans in a dance hall shortly after the war. Since then they have been sweethearts, she said, but he delayed carrying out his alleged proposals of marriage. Evans denied yesterday he had promised to marry Miss McQuillan and said she knew he was already married, and had been since 1902.

The closing hours of the trial were enlivened when an overly enthusiastic court fan kicked a bailiff on the shins when the latter denied him admittance. Attorney Victor H. Frohlich, representing Evans, deserted the proceedings long enough to try to help catch the fleeing fan. Shortly afterward the case went to the jury. At 6 no verdict had been returned and Judge Kavanagh ordered a sealed verdict.

JUDGES' SALARY BILL CAUSES A STIR IN SENATE

Springfield, Ill., June 17.—[Special.]—Late tonight turmoil struck the senate chamber over an effort by Senator Harold Kessinger [Rep., Aurora] to put on the calendar a house bill for the payment of salaries of county judges by the state. The Cook county Democrats raised a protest.

"It puts a new burden on Cook county," shouted Senator Tom Courtney [Dem., Chicago]. "Downstate is trying another raid on Cook."

"I'm in favor of letting the house get its bill in," said Senator Arthur Huebsch [Rep., Chicago].

"I'm against bills making Cook pay downstate bills," cried Senator Harold Ward [Dem., Chicago]. "If downstate counties can't pay their judges, why don't they consolidate?"

"Where is senatorial courtesy?" asked Kessinger.

"It's no courtesy to unload on Cook," retorted Courtney.

"The attempt is to unload expenses of small counties on big counties," said Senator James J. Barbour [Rep., Chicago]. "This bill wants to appropriate $600,000 for county judges. Cook pays 57 per cent of the taxes. Tonight in committee we suppressed an attempt to unload mother's pensions on the state, which would be another burden on Cook."

In the middle of a roll call the senate adjourned, leaving the bill high and dry—the Cook county Democratic minority had won a battle.

Mary Nolan of Films Wanted; Check Bounces

Hollywood, Cal., June 17.—[Special.]—Mary Nolan (Imogene Wilson), actress who left Hollywood several months ago and recently was reported in New York, today was sought by Los Angeles deputy sheriffs armed with a warrant from San Bernardino county, Cal., accusing her of passing a bad check. Sheriff Walter Shay of San Bernardino transmitted word the actress should be taken up and removed to San Bernardino.

GLOBE CIRCLING JAPANESE HERE ON FAST JOURNEY

Attempting to circle the earth in 30 days 23 hours and 30 minutes, Sutemkro Shingu, correspondent for the Asahi Shimbun of Osaka, Japan, the orient's largest newspaper, landed last night at the Chicago airport from Salt Lake City. He was greeted by Yoshio Muto, Japanese consul here.

The visitor carried a message of greeting to THE TRIBUNE, one of a number of similar messages addressed to the leading papers of cities en route. The globe circling effort started at Tokyo June 6. At the same time a colleague, Kenzo Fukuma, representing the Asahi Shimbun of that city, started westward. Planes, steamers, and trains are being used in the trips.

CHAIN STORES HEARING TODAY; WAS POSTPONED

Springfield, Ill., June 17.—[Special.]—Both sides interested in the chain stores bill will be given a hearing in the senate tomorrow morning. The hearing was scheduled for this evening, but press of other business pushed it aside temporarily. The bill, introduced in the house by Representative Anthony Pintozzi [Dem., Chicago] would place license fees upon chain stores—$25 annually for each store up to three and $1,000 for each additional store.

KILLED IN LEAP BEFORE "L" TRAIN.

A man carrying a mandolin case and believed from addresses found in his clothing to be Nicolo Malpede, 35 years old, 109 South Maple avenue, Oak Park, leaped from the Lafin street elevated platform in front of a west bound Westchester train last night and was killed.

THREATEN MAYOR OF ATLANTA FOR RAP ON DRY LAW

Atlanta, Ga., June 17.—[Special.]—Appeal to Mayor James J. Walker of New York for police protection for Mayor James L. Key to prevent prosecution of threats against the Atlantan's life as a result of his denunciation of the failure of prohibition, today was made by Luke Arnold, executive secretary.

Arnold dispatched a letter to the New York mayor telling of threats here by "fanatics who have even invaded the mayor's office." He urged Mayor Walker to order watch over Key when he returns from France next Sunday with the group of touring mayors.

PARADE TODAY TO SHOW DROP IN MEAT PRICES

Agricultural Officials Will View Spectacle.

Chicagoans will have a chance to size up their beef, pork, lamb and mutton "on the hoof" at noon today when the live stock parade moves north on Michigan avenue from Seventh street to East South Water street, then west over South Water and Wacker drive to State street, then south to Harrison street.

R. W. DUNLAP. [Harris & Ewing.]

The three mile spectacle of 5,000 marchers will include 100 cowboys and 14 bands and float as well as live stock herds and flocks.

The 53 units of the parade will assemble in Grant park under the auspices of the national live stock and meat board and other agricultural agencies, meat packers, and railroads.

Officials to Attend.

B. F. Davis, Denver, Colo., official of the meat board, will act as grand marshal. In the reviewing stand on Michigan avenue will be R. W. Dunlap of Washington, assistant secretary of agriculture; Gov. Emmerson; former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, and representatives of all major agricultural groups of the United States.

Cattle on the hoof as well as on trucks will add to the pageantry designed to increase the consumption of meat and meat products. Sheep will be driven by a Scotch collie from Indiana—a dog well known to thousands who have watched him give exhibitions of sheep driving during the International Livestock exposition at the stockyards.

"Horse and Buggy Days."

Some of the floats will exhibit dressed carcasses and carry banners denoting decreased retail prices in comparison with a year ago. One unit is to be a horse and buggy to illustrate that "meat prices are back in the horse and buggy days."

CHIANG LEAVES WITH $12,000,000 TO BUY OFF REDS

Hands Military Rule in North to Chang.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEIPING, China, June 17. — Gen. Chiang Kai-shek will arrive at Kiukiang, possibly on Friday, aboard the warship Chuyu. He will attempt to rid Kiangsi province of the communist menace. He has arranged to establish headquarters at Kuling, missionary summer resort in the nearby mountains.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK. [Acme Photo.]

Gen. Chiang is carrying with him $12,000,000 to disburse among the disaffected people and troops. He also send several millions of dollars to Fukien province. He intends to visit Fukien by airplane for a personal inspection of the arrangements there.

Withdraws His Troops.

These arrangements include the withdrawal of his troops from north of the Yangtze river. These will be replaced along the Peiping-Hankow and Tientsin-Pukow railways by 40,000 Manchurian troops, most of which have already arrived in the Peiping and Tientsin areas.

These troops will be under command of Gen. Chang Hsueh-liang, Manchurian war lord, whose improved condition since his treatment in the Rockefeller hospital will soon enable him to assume personal direction and control of all the northern forces.

See End of Canton Revolt.

The foreign legations here are convinced that Gen. Chiang by this policy will be enabled shortly, through clearing up the communists, to remove the menace of the Canton rebels. The forces of the latter are already greatly outnumbered.

Meanwhile, certain changes in the Nanking government are occurring with a view to making the cabinet less confined to the faction opposed by Canton. But until the Kiangsi situation is cleared up, uncertainty will continue.

Chinese refugees from the communist terrorism in Kiangsi province, who have gathered near Kanchow, in southern Kiangsi, now exceed 80,000. The refugees are gathered in a district controlled by the Nanking general, Chen Ming-hsu and are following his army in order to avoid looting and massacre at the hands of the reds.

Nanking's preparation for an anti-communist drive into the red lairs in southern Kiangsi, Hunan and Fukien provinces, has had the effect of accentuating the communist activities. Chinese papers report the recent arrival in China of two notorious Chinese red leaders, who were expelled three years ago, one of whom was credited with the responsibility for organizing the red uprising in Canton in 1928 which resulted in the burning of a considerable portion of the city.

The Canton government's opium bureau imported another large shipment today from Yunnan provinces. It was valued at $4,000,000, upon which Canton hopes to realize a profit for war purposes of more than $20,000,000.

Threaten to Kill Five Priests.

HANKOW, June 17.—(AP)—Bandits holding five Italian Catholic missionaries informed mission headquarters here today that unless heavy ransom is paid within ten days, all the captives will be killed. They have refused an offer of $2,000 for an extension of time. The captives are Bishop Ricci and four priests who were carried off in a raid on the mission station near Laohokow.

FAMILY TRAVELS FOR WEEK IN BOX CAR; GIVEN AID

A family of three persons who had made their way via box car from Seattle to the outskirts of Chicago found friendly help in Brookfield yesterday and were carried to their destination in the caboose of the train.

The family—a father, a mother, and a boy 18 months old—was discovered in a box car of the Burlington lines at Brookfield by Policeman August Sieloff. The policeman, who had received word of the passengers from La Grange, flagged down the train.

Both parents were weak from hunger, but the infant was red cheeked and plump. They had spent virtually all of their money, $2, on milk for him. Sieloff and the train crew fed them, gave them $4, and aided them to the caboose to complete their trip. According to the man's story, he had lost his job in Seattle. Penniless, they decided to visit relatives in Chicago. They journeyed all the way in box cars, the trip lasting more than a week. The only name police obtained was Anderson.

U. S. CONSIDERS EUROPEAN PLAN TO LIMIT ARMS

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—There were indications today that the United States is weakening in its opposition to the proposed method of limiting armaments by placing a limitation on national defense budgets. While state department officials declined to go into details it was disclosed that this country is giving careful consideration to the latest budgetary limitation plan, which calls for a statement by each power of the total amount of money it plans to expend during the next fiscal year on war materials for its land, naval and air armaments.

The budgetary method limiting armaments has been proposed for adoption when the world powers meet at Geneva next February at the invitation of the league of nations to discuss limitation of armaments. When first proposed, the budgetary method contemplated that powers accorded parity in national defense armaments would be given a similar maximum limiting figure for national defense expenditures beyond which they could not go.

Have you tried CAMELS?

The steady increase in the sales of Camel cigarettes proves one fact beyond a doubt.

If we can persuade you to switch to Camels for just one day, the odds are very great that you will adopt these cigarettes as your personal brand.

So great is the contrast between the delights of perfectly conditioned Camels fresh from the protection of the new Humidor Pack and the harsh, hot smoke from stale dried-out cigarettes, that your decision will be immediate.

The quality is there in the first place, for Camels are a blend of choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos.

In factory-prime condition, with their rare flavor and their natural moisture still intact, they are a joy to the smoker.

Now this flavor is air-sealed in by an outer wrapping of moisture-proof Cellophane, so that no matter where you buy Camels, in any land, in any climate, you are always certain to get fresh cigarettes in factory-prime condition.

And there are other advantages as well. For the Humidor Pack also protects the cigarettes within from dust and germs and weather conditions.

Start the day on Camels. See how much milder they are, how much more flavorful they are, how cool they are to your throat.

No peppery dust to irritate delicate membrane. No harsh, hot smoke from dried-out tobacco to burn the tongue or sear the throat.

Come, switch to Camels for a day, then leave them —if you can.

RAILROADS FILE FORMAL PLEA TO INCREASE RATES

Declare Wage Reduction Is Alternative.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—In an alternative to embarking upon a program of wage reductions, which undoubtedly would then extend to other industries, the railroads of the country appealed to the Interstate commerce commission today to sanction a 15 per cent increase in freight rates.

E. E. SCANDRETT. [United Photo.]

The increase, which is sought by the carriers to avoid "an emergency threatening serious impairment of their financial resources and their capacity to supply the public a continuance of efficient and adequate service," would yield the roads, it is calculated, an additional 400 millions of dollars a year in revenue.

Members of the commission indicated that prompt consideration will be given the petition and that within a few days hearings will be announced, at which the views of the railroads, shippers, and other interested groups on the proposed increase will be heard.

Cite Reduced Earnings.

In their petition the railroad heads say that as a result of the depression its earnings of class one roads in 1930 had declined to 3.54 per cent of the investment, as fixed by the commission, compared with the 5.75 per cent decreed by the commission to be a fair return, and in the first four months of this year has fallen to 2.24 per cent. With the increase petitioned for the return would be a little less than 4 per cent.

The petition, filed by J. J. Pelley, representing the eastern; H. A. Scandrett, the western, and W. R. Cole, the southern roads, asserts that the increase of earnings sought is necessary to the maintenance of railroad credit on which the upkeep of the transportation system is dependent. As a result of the slump in the business of transportation, the market value of railroad stocks have declined, while railroad bonds are threatened with loss of the status required by state laws for investment purposes.

Must Protect Financing.

The impairment of the status of railroad bonds, say the carriers, is such that the roads are not receiving the fair return assured by the transportation act. It is vitally important, the petition asserts, that the market for railway stocks and bonds be maintained "in order that additional capital may be secured for further improvements."

"Steam railway transportation has not become a moribund enterprise," the petitioners add. "It is essential to the economic welfare of the country and indispensable to the national defense. All that is necessary to the maintenance of an adequate national system of transportation is that the country should be willing to pay a reasonable price for it and that railway investors and railway managements should be able to act on that assurance."

Although during the recent boom times the carriers "contributed a service indispensable to the creation of this prosperity," they were denied by law the boom time profits of other industries and received during the decade 2 billions 875 millions less than the return allowed them by law.

Law Implies Fair Return.

"The theory of the law," says the petition, "is that railway property is private property affected with a public use; that in being devoted to such use it foregoes exceptional opportunity for the assurance of fair return. If the sacrifice already made under conditions of prosperity is to be greatly enlarged because of conditions of adversity, the result is that railway property has become public property affected with a private obligation to maintain it. It cannot be expected that investors in railway securities will assume and perform such an obligation."

The carriers say that they were confronted with the choice between two policies in meeting the conditions produced by the curtailment of business incident to the period of hard times. They might have drastically reduced operating and capital expenditures, which would have meant laying off employes and curtailing orders for equipment, thereby reducing purchasing power all along the line and intensifying the depression.

They chose instead to continue normal expenditures at the risk of "adding an investment on which no present return was possible." They kept on the job thousands of employes no longer indispensable and in 1930 alone made capital expenditures of 598 millions.

Load Proves Too Difficult.

By the end of 1930, however, the carriers came to the conclusion that this is no temporary depression which might be tided over by such a policy, but that it is world-wide and "not to be of short duration." Export traffic was greatly diminishing and the curtailment of domestic production was reflected in the diminution of domestic traffic.

"The powers left to railway managements to meet these adverse conditions were very limited," says the petition. "They could not increase rates without the approval of this commission. They could not reduce scales of wages without passing through the long procedure of conference and arbitration.

They could furlough men and they could refuse to purchase supplies. They could, and it was economically necessary that they should, complete their unfinished program of capital expenditures and refuse to embark on any new programs. These things have been done during recent months to an extent which has greatly reduced capital expenditures and has brought maintenance expenditures much below the normal level. Many thousands of railway wage earners ordinarily employed in the maintenance of railway properties have been furloughed."

Cites Government Wage Stand.

In view of the long process involved in ascertaining whether railway wages are now reasonable the carriers would be unable to procure a reduction of wage costs in time to relieve them from the effects of the present emergency and moreover, they do not desire to invoke wage reductions except eventually as a last resort.

"Concerning the wisdom of initiating such a controversy at this time, it assumed that there will be no substantial difference of opinion," say the carriers. "The policy of the federal government, concurred in by the management of most leading industires, is that the revival of industry and commerce should be predicated, for the time being at least, upon the maintenance of existing wage scales."

If the question of wage reduction "must be met and dealt with it must be at a later stage," says the petition.

Discuss Truck Competition.

Dismissing as impracticable any attempt to increase revenues by boosting passenger fares, the carriers discuss the effect of competition from truck traffic, which is mainly in zones of 150 to 200 miles. To meet such competition they suggest a reversal of the provision for bidding a greater through rate than the aggregate intermediate rates and further suggest a possible reclassification of commodities.

The carriers ask the commission to pass on the petition as an emergency matter without considering the reasonableness of the rates except from a revenue standpoint. The specific prayer is for a 15 per cent increase of all freight rates, including joint rail and water rates and charges; "with such adjustments in the case of coal, coke and certain other commodities as will preserve existing differentials; that as to freight traffic, generally this increase be permitted to become effective by the use of percentages supplements; that as to coal, coke and certain other commidities, specific tariffs complying with the ordinary requirements of tariff publication be filed."

DOCTOR'S TRIAL ON DEATH CHARGE CONTINUED AGAIN

CRIMINAL COURT.

James B. Moran, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Philip Finnegan.

The case of Dr. Thomas Ney, south side physician, charged with murder by illegal operation, was continued again yesterday. Similar charges against the physician have been pending and continued in the Criminal courts for the last six years. The continuance yesterday was due to the fact that Judge John Prystalski, assigned to hear the murder case, was occupied with another trial.

Meanwhile Assistant State's Attorneys John L. Murphy and Robert Donigan obtained a warrant charging Mrs. Mabel Bogg, 1721 East 67th street, with accessory to murder. Mrs. Bogg is a nurse who, the prosecutors charge, assisted Dr. Ney.

In this case Ney is charged with the murder of Miss Ella Bromps, 19 years old, of Angora, Minn., who died on April 27 in the county hospital.

office refrained from making any statement.

The county auditor reported that the excess interest paid and accrued to Nov. 30—the end of the county year—on tax loans of the county will be $2,450,030. This is the sum which the auditor figures the county has to pay above the ordinary charges for loans in anticipation of taxes.

City to Get $1,500,000.

In contrast, the city completed arrangements for paying $2,000,000 in interest on bonds due on July 1. The Illinois Bell Telephone company agreed to buy $1,500,000 of tax anticipation warrants. Of this amount about $500,000 will be devoted to bond interest and the remainder placed in the corporate fund to pay salaries. City officials say that the $500,000, with money on hand, will be sufficient to pay the bond interest.

While the negotiations for the sale of the tax warrants were being finished a committee of Mayor Cermak's cabinet, headed by Commissioner of Public Works A. A. Sprague, was holding its first meeting to discuss plans for reducing the expenses of the city government. Among the proposals under discussion was that for a five day week in the city hall, with employés receiving five days' pay, but Col. Sprague said he thought this might be avoided.

Mayor Cermak discussed the situation as he awaited Col. Sprague's report on the committee meeting. The mayor commented on the failure of the legislature to pass any of the relief bills submitted, and predicted heavy trims in the city's expenditures.

Mayor to Trim Expenses.

"I will do all I can," Mayor Cermak said, "to cut costs so that when we do get out of this financial mess the city won't be indebted for salaries to unnecessary employés. I think we may close the city hall Saturday. Every day means a great deal to us. It is likely also that we will require city employés to add a week without pay to the two weeks vacation with pay which they receive."

City hall employés expressed themselves as favoring the latter proposal as their share toward helping the city solve its problems. But they opposed Saturday closing, advancing the argument that Saturday is the only day many citizens find it possible to transact business at the hall.

"We are out in the cold," Mayor Cermak continued. "Everybody has deserted us, banks, legislature and everybody else. We are without money and still the people expect to get service. I wish somebody would come in and tell us how to do it.

"If the governor calls a special session of the legislature, I am sure the Chicago will have a relief program ready for action. But under no circumstances will I ask for a bill to increase taxes. Salaries and employés must be reduced."

The announcement of the telephone company's agreement to purchase the tax warrants was made to the council committee on gas, oil, and electricity which is considering the proposed new telephone franchise.

The committee session which followed the announcement of the warrant sale developed another controversy in which an amendment proposed to add safeguards to the city's interests under the new franchise met defeat at the hands of the committee. Ald. Barnet Hodes [7th] led the move to suppress the proposed safeguard.

As drafted, the franchise ordinance provides that if at any time the Illinois commerce commission alters the section of the ordinance fixing the city's compensation at 3 per cent of the gross revenue of the company, the compensation section immediately becomes null and void, and the council shall have the right to abrogate the whole franchise.

The amendment, proposed by Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th] as an additional safeguard, would have extended that section to cover any change by the commerce commission in the provisions fixing the liability of the company to pay for relocating its wires in public improvement projects.

GOVERNOR IS WILLING TO HELP CHICAGO IF "PLAN IS PLAUSIBLE"

Springfield, Ill., June 17.—[Special.]—In reply to reports from Chicago quoting Mayor Cermak as saying that he pins his hope on Gov. Emmerson's calling of a special session of the legislature for financial relief for Chicago, Mr. Emmerson said tonight that he will be glad to help, if "some plausible plan" is formulated.

"But I don't propose to call a special session unless some workable scheme is presented," the governor added.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT

Cadillac Motor Car Company

Late in 1930, the Cadillac Motor Car Company, Division of General Motors Corporation, announced the greatest manufacturing program in its history—calling for the production of four complete lines of motor cars: the La Salle, the Cadillac V-8, the Cadillac V-12 and the Cadillac V-16. Each of these cars has been so well received and has met the preference of so many people, that all four lines will remain as members of the Cadillac family.

WHAT TEN-WORD SENTENCE CAN YOU MAKE USING ONLY THE WORDS IN TODAY'S ADS?

$1000 A WEEK IN CASH PRIZES for the Best ORIGINAL
"GOOD TIME CHARLIEGRAMS"

What Is a Good Time Charliegram?

A Good Time Charliegram is a sentence of exactly ten words which conveys a timely message of good cheer or sound advice:

"Every time you buy something you help bring back prosperity."
"The time to stock up is when prices are low."
"Large savings can be made on nearly everything bought today."
"When business starts humming prices are bound to rise again."

Do you think you can make up a better Good Time Charliegram than any of these?—using only the words appearing in advertisements in today's Chicago Tribune? Try your hand at it! Read the simple rules and start looking for your words now!

WHAT sentence of exactly ten words can you make up, using only the words which appear in advertisements in today's Chicago Tribune?

Ten little words—that's all you need to make up a Good Time Charliegram. Just pick the words out of any ads in today's Tribune except the Want Ads. Put them all together and there may spell one of the big cash prizes which the Tribune is paying!

Try it. It's loads of fun—just like a treasure hunt. Read the simple rules and start looking through the ads for the words now.

THE SIMPLE RULES:

1. The Chicago Tribune will pay $1,000.00 a week in cash prizes to the persons who send in the best and neatest complete sets of seven (7) original Good Time Charliegrams in accordance with these rules.

2. A Good Time Charliegram is a sentence of exactly ten words which conveys a timely message of good cheer or sound advice. The sentence must be made up of words taken from advertisements EXCEPT Classified or Want Ads, published in a single day's issue of the Chicago Tribune. To indicate where you get each word, simply write down the name of the advertiser following the word. Words are NOT to be taken from the Want Ads.

3. Not more than one word shall be taken from the advertising of any one store, company, or individual. If an advertiser has more than one advertisement in the same issue of the Tribune, only one word from such advertisements may be used in the same Good Time Charliegram. The same word may be used more than once, provided that it is taken from a different advertiser every time it is used.

4. The prizes for each week are as follows:

1st Prize		$250.00
2nd Prize		100.00
Next 2 Prizes	$50.00 each	100.00
Next 4 Prizes	$25.00 each	100.00
Next 25 Prizes	$10.00 each	250.00
Next 40 Prizes	$ 5.00 each	200.00
73 weekly prizes totaling		$1,000.00

5. This offer is open to every one—men and women, boys and girls—except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

6. Good Time Charliegrams are to be submitted in complete sets only. DO NOT send in each day's entry separately. Hold all Good Time Charliegrams until you have the complete set of seven (7). Then send them to "GOOD TIME CHARLIEGRAMS," the Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago, Ill. All entries in the Fourth Series must be received in the Tribune office before 5 P. M. on Wednesday, June 24, 1931.

7. Contestants may submit to very sets of Good Time Charliegrams as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize.

8. You need NOT buy the Chicago Tribune. You may use the handy blank supplied each day in the Tribune or you may submit your entry on a separate sheet of paper. The Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at public libraries free of charge.

9. The judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be made to each tying contestant.

CHICAGO TAXES JUMP 278% IN FOURTEEN YEARS

Population Gains 38% in Same Period.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Public records show that the increase in the tax levy on Chicago property in 1929, which is now being collected, is more than two and a half times over the levy of 1915.

Taxes jumped from $59,541,863 in 1915 to $225,534,460 in 1929. The population of the city increased from 2,443,494 in 1915 to 3,376,438 in 1930. Thus taxes have increased seven times as fast as the population. The number of residents to be served by the local governments has increased 38 per cent while the taxes shot upward 278 per cent.

The records also show that more than nine-tenths of the increase is due to boosts in tax rates voted by the state legislature, usually at the request of the local officials.

National Tax Increase Estimated.

On the 1915 basis of service and of costs, the population increase of 932,944, between that year and 1930, would justify a 38 per cent increase in the $59,541,863 taxes to $82,167,770. But city officials have heretofore claimed that the price level—cost of labor, materials, and equipment—has gone up 100 per cent since 1915.

Despite the recent estimates of the federal government in opposition to that contention, let it be assumed that salaries, wages, and the prices of supplies bought by the city have increased 100 per cent. Then on the 1915 basis of service, the 1929 tax bill should be $164,335,540. From that viewpoint the 1929 taxes on Chicago property were $61,198,920 too high.

$225,534,460 Only for City.

The $225,534,460 figure on the Chicago tax bill for 1930 has been compiled carefully from the records. That total is all the taxes which the state, county, sanitary district, town, and all of the other local governments within the city limits have levied upon property within the city. It does not include the taxes on a single lot outside of the city.

The calculations were made by assistants of County Clerk Sweitzer. The total is what the local governments are authorized to collect and have requested.

It is more than the governments will get, because some property owners have not the money with which to pay their taxes and several thousands of others are fighting their taxes in the courts as exorbitant, illegal and unconstitutional.

Higher Taxes Authorized.

For 1930 the local governments are authorized to boost the $225,534,460 tax bill to approximately $248,087,000. The collection will be late this year or the first of 1932. The governments also are authorized to increase the 1931 taxes, to be collected late next year, to an aggregate of $260,492,000.

To these sums must be added the tax increases which the present session of the general assembly, has approved. They, presumably, will be utilized by the local public officials, if they think the property owners will stand for it.

Mayor Cermak has indicated in a public statement that he believes the local governments have gone beyond the limit of taxation in the 1929 assessment. He is now talking of the necessity for drastic curtailment.

According to the mayor's expert advisers, the appropriations were made on the basis of collecting 91 per cent of the taxes levied, which means $205,286,358 out of the total of $225,534,460. But Mr. Cermak and his advisers say they cannot expect that more than 70 per cent of the taxes will be collected. In money that means only $157,874,122, instead of $205,286,358.

Mayor Cermak in his interviews has clearly indicated a desire to have the city live within its income. The drop of $47,362,336 in the tax revenue of the city, below what was anticipated and authorized to be spent, is applicable to all of the local governments.

The city's share of that cut, at the rate of its taxes to the total levy, would be 32.6 per cent, or $15,440,068. The school board's share would be $15,819,068, or 33.4 per cent. The remaining saving of $16,103,000 is the task of the other local governments.

Mayor Cermak's suggested means of reducing expense—vacations without pay, abolition of pay on sick leave, and limiting city operations to five days a week—would not save more than $7,420,000, according to the most liberal estimates for the last half of the year.

The ever mounting taxes are shown in the following table, which lists the total levies made by the local governments from 1915 to 1929.

Year—	Tax Levy.
1916	64,139,983
1917	68,885,522
1918	66,815,000
1919	86,313,739
1920	90,936,116
1921	128,116,154
1922	130,936,953
1923	142,927,510
1924	151,643,647
1925	171,026,488
1926	174,979,622
1927	206,209,843
1928	198,026,979
1929	225,534,460

It has been estimated by civic organizations that the 1930 taxes will be higher than those of 1929 by approximately 10 per cent, and the 1931 taxes will be 4 to 5 per cent higher than those of 1930.

BOARD OF REVIEW WILL MEET AND PLAN PROCEDURE

The board of review will meet tomorrow to prepare for the handling of 1930 real estate and personal property assessments. The announcement was made yesterday by Andrew W. Gatenby, chief clerk of the board. The reviewers are to determine the procedure to be followed in the handling of complaints and hearings on contested valuations.

Members are to ask the assessors for an estimate of the date when all assessment rolls will be turned over to them.

FORGET YESTERDAY'S ELECTRIC REFRIGERATORS

Simplified Refrigeration IS HERE!

COME and see this newest electric refrigerator—the Servel Hermetic, simplest ever produced! You find not merely a few improvements upon yesterday's ideas, but a new engineering masterpiece—the greatest advance in seventeen years!

Now you can have a quality of household refrigeration never possible before. You enjoy longer years of "carefree" refrigeration for the fewest possible cents a day. The Servel Hermetic runs smoothly and silently without thought or care.

No more old-fashioned kitchen repairs

You are free from all the bother and expense of repairs in your kitchen, of intricate adjustments or replacement of parts.

The Servel Hermetic is hermetically sealed—the whole working unit locked in a permanent bath of oil. It requires fewer moving parts—runs with less friction and wear. And all parts most likely to cause future trouble have been eliminated entirely.

No longer a luxury

There's not the slightest reason to "get along" another minute without the tremendous, every-day convenience of Simplified Refrigeration.

Low prices and generous terms make the Servel Hermetic a simple necessity for every household. Your refrigeration actually costs considerably less than ever before. For the fast-freezing Servel unit consumes less electric current. And it's the quietest electric refrigerator!

See these beautiful, new cabinets

You'll find them compact to save valuable room in your kitchen—but with even more, usable shelf space.

Apartment owners, apartment dwellers find this compactness extremely important!

The Servel factory guarantee during its period gives you not only the usual protection against defective parts, but it is your assurance of entire freedom from the trouble and expense of repairs for any reason other than abuse.

This phantom view below shows the simplified working unit of the Servel Hermetic, hermetically sealed and placed in the base of the cabinet out of your way.

QUICK FACTS: Hermetically sealed unit . . . No kitchen repairs . . . No moving parts exposed . . . Fewer moving parts . . . Costs less to operate . . . Quietest electric refrigerator . . . RIDING A RUSSIAN TRAIN IS JUST A LONG NIGHTMARE

Dining Car Is So Awful You Can't Eat in It.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD THE TRANS-SIBERIAN EXPRESS, May 7.—[By Mail.]—Four trains a week are operated across Siberia by the soviet state railways. They are the longest distance trains in the world and take more than twice as long to reach their destinations as any others on the globe.

Every Saturday at 6:15 p. m. the Vladivostok train pulls out of the North station in Moscow for the all-Russian run to the Pacific port. Thrice a week, on Sundays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays, the Manchurian Express starts from the same station at the same time for Harbin and Chang-chun, there to connect with the train for Mukden and Japan and China.

Pre-War Sleeping Cars.

All these trains carry through sleeping cars from Riga and Negoreloje, on the Polish frontier, and each has a dining car which runs through. The sleepers are old International Wagons-Lits cars, built at Tver by the Brussels company and operated by it before the war, now taken over and run by the Reds.

For the 6,144 miles between Moscow and Vladivostok over the Amur-Usuri line, all inside Russia, it requires ten days. For the 4,300 miles to Harbin, in Manchuria, it takes eight days.

The first class fare in an International sleeping car from Moscow to Vladivostok is about $230. The compartments are large, owing to the wide Russian gauge, and the ceilings high, as there are so few tunnels, with a washroom between each two in the first class and an extra alcove beside the window. In the second class there is no washroom and passengers must use that at the end of the corridor.

There are two attendants to the car. They live in the end compartment, next to a little room where a big samovar puffs all day long, whence they serve tea. The porters wear nifty plum colored uniforms. They make a mean bed and brush up compartments industriously twice a day, but they won't shine shoes and they won't brush clothes, because that's beneath the dignity of the proletariat.

The berths in the first class compartments are at right angles, the upper being above the windows lengthwise of the train, like ours in America. The lower is crosswise on the regular seat. Thus, a person in the upper can look down catey corner and see the one in the lower, while they converse, as I do with my Russian room mates.

Dining Car Is Awful.

The dining car is "pretty bloody awful," as the English might say (except in the presence of ladies), and all of the first class passengers keep out of it as much as they can by fetching big hampers of provisions or tearing out in the cold at every stop to buy victuals from the peasant women standing at the stations with their baskets.

First of all the dining car smells of slops, slops such as you smell in prisons and poor houses or other such places where you might have been as an inmate or a visitor. It reeks in everything from the horrible bortsch, soup of sour old cabbage, through the mutton, cooked as hard as crisp, and the yellowed rice, hard as nails, and the tasteless "kompot," meaning stewed fruit. There is plenty of wine and vodka and tea, but no coffee, and there is black, soggy bread and no butter.

Prices are reasonable—a quarter for soup and 35 cents for the meat dish, and 25 cents for the fruit and a dime for tea. The head waiter is a reasonable person who always remembers exactly how much the meal cost without writing it down. The waiters are agreeable cusses who smoke cigarets while serving and wipe off the knives on their pants if they don't look clean.

Thank heaven, I brought a lot of provisions and have only tackled the diner a few times when I was not hungry or too tired to bother messing about with my own stock. But the soft car and hard car people seem to like the stuff in the diner and stick their heads into the big evil-smelling soup plates right up to their ears.

Caviar Nearly Spoils.

I took along some caviar from Moscow and it was nearly ruined in the trip when they turned on the steam unexpectedly when it got cold, and warmed up my bag of provisions. But I rescued the caviar in time, also the butter.

Then I had three big loaves of white bread, and six pieces of chicken, quarters and legs and wings and cutlets, breaded, and sardines and cheese that went pretty rancid, so I gave it to the porter, and sweet biscuits, but no jam.

Getting meals is complicated in a car swaying like a shirt on the line, and with a little table just big enough to hold this portable typewriter, and I have a vast respect now for cooks and waiters in all diners, even the one on this train, although I don't like his menu.

What a Life!

First you get out the bread and by now it's pretty stale and cracks and crumbles all over the place when you try to cut it. Then the oiled paper comes off with the butter and you have to pick shreds out of it, and try to shake salt on a small piece of chicken when a train is weaving along the edge of Lake Baikal. The lid of the caviar tin always stuck and nearly precipitated me through the double windows every time I opened it.

Sometimes I bought a couple of eggs at 50 cents apiece from the honest peasant women at the station and the porter lowered them in the samovar and soft boiled them if I lent him my watch to time them by, or hard boiled them otherwise. These peasants sell butter for $6 a pound, and skinny chickens for $7.50, and milk for $1 a litre, less than a quart.

MACINTOSH ASKS SUPREME COURT TO "RECONSIDER"

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—Prof. Douglas Clyde Macintosh of Yale university filed in the Supreme court today a petition for reconsideration of the five to four decision by which the tribunal denied him naturalization because he was unwilling to pledge himself to bear arms if need be in defense of the United States.

Dr. Macintosh in his petition states that as a result of the decision he cannot avail himself of the exemption accorded to conscientious objectors to military service. He says that the decision is of unprecedented importance and will have consequences more far reaching than possibly could have been comprehended by the court.

When he sought naturalization Prof. Macintosh was asked by the court whether he would take oath to bear arms in time of war. He replied that he would not pledge himself unqualifiedly to do so. It would depend on whether he considered the war a just war.

MEAT-COUNTER bargains ARE MORE delicious

WHEN SEASONED WITH

sugar

In cooking meat, the combination of sugar and salt blends tastefully with the meat juices.

Every day your meat dealer offers cheap cuts of meat which have an irresistible appeal to your sense of thrift. And you can give any of these cuts an irresistible taste appeal by seasoning them with sugar.

Of course salt should be added to the meat as it cooks, to overcome flatness. But the value of adding sugar is that it develops and heightens the flavor of the meat in a way no other ingredient can.

Try a dash of sugar to season pot-roasts, braised lamb and veal, stews and meat loaf. In boiling corned beef or ham, add at least a half cup of sugar to the water. "A dash of sugar to a pinch of salt" is also a fine seasoning for fresh or canned vegetables. Flavor and season with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

DUNHAM PASTURE IN HYDE PARK IS SOLD AT AUCTION

ELBERT W. HARRIS
[Pictures Pending.]

Master in Chancery Louis J. Behan signed a deed in the offices of the board of review in the county building yesterday to signal the passing of an anachronism in the heart of the fashionable Hyde Park residential district. The old cow pasture once owned by John H. Dunham, pioneer Chicago banker, went at auction for $490,-186.70 to the sole bidder, the Harris Trust and Savings bank as trustee.

Created in sentiment, the cow pasture passed in sentiment. The will of the builder, who died in 1893, prevented the sale of the property for nearly a half a century. It was purchased by the bank as trustee for Albert W. Harris, chairman of the board of the bank, to preserve the residential character of the neighborhood against apartment encroachment. Mr. Harris has been negotiating with officials of the school board to turn over the site for the creation of a playground.

Will Protects Development.

The property is bounded by 43th and 45th streets and Dorchester and Ellis avenues. The home of Mr. Harris at 4555 Kimbark avenue fronts at 50 feet. Under the will of the builder it could not be leased for more than five years if improved and for all time than eighteen years if unimproved, which prevented its development.

Administrators cleaned $150,000 in savings on the land by letting it for golfing purposes. The Dunham will strictly restricted his home, a three story brick building next to the Congress hotel, for years a city landmark, which he willed with the cow pasture to his daughter, Mary Virginia Dunham.

Built Known Conditions.

With the death of the daughter in the old home at the age of 86 in 1930, the hampering conditions of the will were removed. Her will gave the cow pasture to charities and relatives. Under the will of her father she controlled the estate, although the bulk of its income went to relatives. A separation bill for partition to permit sale of the property was approved by Superior Judge Denis E. Sullivan.

AID TO HOOVER SEES SUCCESS OF HOUSING PLANS

Experiment Stage Is Passed, He Says.

Further evidence of the financial success of large scale and low priced housing projects in New York and other cities, comparable to that of the Rosenwald apartments in Chicago, was set forth yesterday by Henry Wright of New York, secretary of the large scale operations committee of President Hoover's conference on home building and home ownership.

"There no longer is any question that enterprises such as the Michigan Boulevard Garden apartments, built by Julius Rosenwald, can be made into sound and profitable investments for private capital," said Mr. Wright.

Experiment Stage Is Passed.

"In my opinion the experiment stage has just about been passed and proofs have been established that this kind of building can be made to pay. With conditions as they are now, the time is ripe to stimulate business and at the same time solve a pressing social problem by other operators duplicating what already has been done by Mr. Rosenwald and others."

Mr. Wright, who is an architect, for several years has been consultant for the City Housing Corporation of New York, sponsor of the big Sunnyside and Rathburn model dwelling developments in that city. He was in Chicago yesterday conferring with Alfred K. Stern, director of the Julius Rosenwald Fund, who is chairman of the large scale operations committee of the Hoover conference.

Ten million dollars has been invested in the Sunnyside development, according to Mr. Wright, and it has been operating at a profit for seven years. It covers 1,200 city lots and consists of single and multi-family houses as well as apartments. Apartment rentals run about $15 a room and there is a waiting list of tenants.

Second Project Undertaken.

The City Housing corporation three years ago undertook the Rathburn development as a second large scale planning venture, investing $3,000,000 in land and public utilities and $3,500,-000 in buildings. It accommodates 325 families of the medium income class, giving them the advantages of high grade homes at low cost.

One of the most remarkable housing projects in New York, according to Mr. Wright, is that of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, which rents 2,300 apartments at $9 a room. There are 25,000 names of prospective tenants on the waiting list.

Project in Newark.

In Newark, N. J., the Prudential Life Insurance company is sponsoring a $14,000,000 large scale building development. The first unit has been completed, 406 apartments renting at $11.50 to $14 a room a month. The city of Newark coöperated by assisting in securing the land and in building a new city park around the development.

The theory advanced by Mr. Stern and endorsed by Mr. Wright is that if private capital were attracted into large scale housing it not only would find safety and profit but would start the whole building industry on the upgrade with a consequent stimulation of general business conditions.

Valparaiso Bills Gary for $6,598 Kirkland Costs

Valparaiso, Ind., June 17.—[Special.]—Porter county's bill against Lake county for two trials of Virgil Kirkland for slaying of Ariene Dravas is $6,598.97, according to County Clerk Mae London. Pay of jurors totals $2,821.10, while special deputy hire and board and room for jurors aggregates $2,208. The cost of special attorneys, medical experts and other expenses of prosecution is not included.

EXILED CARDINAL CHARGES SPAIN MISTREATED HIM

Says Police Ignored His Illness.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, June 17.—Pedro Cardinal Segura, primate of Spain, who was expelled from the country Monday, today sent a bitter protest to Provisional President Zamora. The cardinal charges that he was mistreated by the authorities at Guadalajara after he had ben placed under arrest, and he indignantly disputes the government's claim that he had been shown every dignity.

"On the afternoon of my arrest, I was kept two hours incommunicado in the police station," he said. "I was watched over by two civil guards and carried off to the frontier without linen for my body, medicine for my sickness, or breviary for my prayers."

He insists that he has every legal right, being a Spaniard, to be in Spain, and as prelate, he says, he could leave only on orders from Rome.

Government Gets Vatican Note.

The Vatican's protest against the expulsion of Cardinal Segura was handed to Foreign Minister Leroux by Papal Nuncio Frederico Tedeschini today.

The protest, it is learned, is worded energetically, condemning the expulsion as an act of violence, topping a climax to a whole series of outrages against the properties and privileges of the church since the republic was declared. But no demands were made on the provisional government and there is no question of a breach in relations.

Msgr. Tedeschini, it is understood, followed up the protest with a personal request to Senor Leroux to permit the primate to return to Spain, for a little while, at least. He hinted that Rome would soon recall him, making it a perfect compromise. He made it plain that no issue would be made of the primate's enforced overnight drive to the French border.

Mobs Stone Catholics.

BILBAO, Spain, June 17.—(AP)—Dispatches from Estella today said that crowds stoned 200 automobiles filled with Catholics on the way to a meeting at Oiozaguita. No one was injured but windshields and car windows were shattered. Catholic organizations at Bilbao filed a protest with the government.

What the Live Stock Industry Means to Our Welfare

BECAUSE Chicago is the world's largest live stock center we should familiarize ourselves with the important relation of conditions in this industry to agriculture, the railroads, the mail order houses, farm machinery equipment and banking.

It is true that producers are selling live stock now at prices that are less than the cost of production. Unless the situation shows some improvement the live stock supply for the coming years may be seriously diminished and related business will likewise suffer.

What the Industry Means to the Railroads

In 1930, over forty million head of live stock were shipped by rail and received at 16 different markets—of which the Chicago yards are the largest. Total freight revenue of all railroads in 1929 was nearly five billion dollars, and live stock, grain and meat products shipped by rail represented a most substantial share of this huge sum.

See the Big Pageant in Michigan Avenue and State Street This Noon

Many industries have joined to inform the public on the importance of the live stock industry. In the parade will be floats, bands, animals, cowboys, and everything relating to live stock and affiliated businesses. The parade will be historic, dramatic and educational. See this thrilling sight and learn what the industry means to the welfare of the nation and the Middle West.

The parade will start at Roosevelt Road and go north to Randolph, then south on State to Van Buren

What the Industry Means to Agriculture and Farm Machinery Manufacturers

The live stock industry is probably the most important branch of agriculture, for without great herds the most substantial part of agricultural products would be wasted. Farm machinery manufacturers are vitally concerned, for more than 80% of the corn and oat crop and 35% of the wheat crop are used for feeding live stock. In addition, two-thirds of our land under crop cultivation is used to produce feed for live stock.

What the Industry Means to Financial Interests

In a normal year twelve billion dollars' worth of crops and live stock must be financed in production, shipping, storing and marketing. Manufactures from wool and leather by-products, which include shoes, rugs and clothing valued at another four billion, must also be financed.

What the Industry Means to Mail Order Houses

Although the two leading mail order houses have commenced opening retail stores in a number of cities, the more than 4,000,000 farmers who raise live stock are still responsible for a large share of the more than 650 million dollar business which these houses do.

What the Industry Means to Your Welfare

The average consumption of meat by the American public amounts to 45,000,000 pounds a day. It is the principal article in our diet and health. Figures from the Department of Agriculture show that a dollar will buy today a third more roast or steak than it would a year ago. The decline in meat prices is further demonstrated in the case of cured and smoked pork shoulders; a dollar will buy nearly twice as much as a year ago. Enjoying this basic food now will give the live stock producers, agriculture, the railroads and other affiliated businesses an impetus that will hasten better times.

The National Live Stock Marketing Association, with 300,000 Live Stock producer members, is vitally interested in acquainting the public with facts pertaining to the industry

"The struggle for freedom of speech has marched hand in hand in the advance of civilization with the struggle for other great human liberties. History teaches that human liberty cannot be secured unless there is freedom to express grievances." —FLOYD E. THOMPSON.

AMERICA CHOOSING ITS DIRECTION.

The dedication of two memorials to Presidents, Lincoln and Harding, easily rated a presidential visit to Illinois and Ohio, and the editorial association in Indianapolis conveniently added Indiana. The 1932 nominations are on the call, and Mr. Hoover, coming into the central west, would be expected to make a declaration of faith and purpose as an interpretation of this term and a foreword for another one. It's the custom and here was the occasion.

The President who spoke at Indianapolis, where the event was all his own and not in memorial to two predecessors, was the man many of his 1928 supporters thought they had elected. In his administration he has been beset by two forces superficially dissimilar, essentially akin. One is that of radicalism in political economy, the other that of clerical coercion of private conduct. The radicals have the wish but not the courage for communism. They envy but do not dare. The compromise between what they want to do and what they have the spirit for do not destroy the American system, but they would go a long way toward it. Mr. Hoover has tried to deal in two fashions with this element in government, in one politically, in the other as his true self. In the latter form he spoke at Indianapolis and no doubt with a great deal of his political experience in the background of his thought. His political expedients—politics being an art of expedients and conciliation—resulted, for instance, in the farm board and its loans. This may be regarded as a desperate political device to avoid something worse, but Mr. Hoover shows that none of these devices carried his own convictions. If anything they have rather provoked his resistance and his declarations for American individualism.

The other force in political conduct, the clerical coercion exerted for moral purposes, has been more formidable. Mr. Hoover has shown his will to oppose Brookhart, La Follette, Blaine, the Dakotans, Norris, and even Borah, but not to oppose Bishop Cannon, Dr. Clarence True Wilson or even the Rev. Dr. Harry Bowlby and the organized clerics they represent. Economically there is an attempt to upset the system of private enterprise and responsibility which the President meets by counter attack. Emotionally and sentimentally there is an attempt, more successful, to overrule judgment and conscience in private conduct, and here Mr. Hoover has not been aggressive. The two attempts are parts of a whole. Both are emotional and sentimental and each supports the other, as may be determined by observing the interlocking evidence.

Brookhart, taking a summary of the exhibits, is as furious a dry as he is a radical. A superlative piety is the essence of economical radicalism and of coercive morality. Indeed the latter carries the former along. When Mr. Hoover did not make the use he could of the true report of the Wickersham commission, exposing the fallacy of national prohibition, he strengthened the whole cause which he deplores.

The individual cannot be the person competent for the system of private enterprise which Mr. Hoover supports so eloquently and soundly if he is not competent for the private affairs of his own life. He cannot make a nation, politically and industrially, if he must be government ridden in matters of his own private conscience and behavior. The government cannot regard him in one fashion as an infant and in another as an adult, and political compromises which endeavor to support such a dual doctrine of responsibility will and must fail.

AL CAPONE, A FEDERAL PRODUCT.

Al Capone, under indictment for evasion of incomes taxes and for 5,000 offenses against the Volstead act, appeared in the federal court to plead guilty. This was not unexpected. He was fairly caught in spite of his immunities and the crimes and corruption upon which they rested. His surrender to justice brings distinguished credit to Mr. Johnson, the United States district attorney, and to his assistants and investigators. Their work was a real penetration of gangland.

The Volstead act made Capone the best known Chicago citizen. He became more than a person. In other parts of the world he is a legend. He is regarded as the summary of American life, his career the summation of American faults and defects, lawless, violent, murderous and immune, the product of the Puritan and the profligate.

Local administration of justice never was able, or willing, to do anything against him. Even now justice in bringing him to punishment has no legal record of major gang criminality to use against him. If Chicago is relieved of him it will be because of federal activity, but that is not the whole matter. The federal government gave him to Chicago. When the federal government takes him away it will not be complete quittance. Federal law may destroy him, but federal law made him, and his works are not wiped out with him. His reputation was the city's disgrace, and if it could not take care of its own case it at least was not the responsible author of it. It was not the creator of the circumstances over which it seemed to have no control.

Capone lived by the Volstead act. Without it he might have been a minor hoodlum or pander. He couldn't have been to the world at large a fabled rajah of crime. The federal law is dealing with its own product. Its progeny has infested the city. The eggs were hatched under the national prohibition law. The federal government is taking away only part of what it gave.

LIVE STOCK ON THE BOULEVARD.

The thundering herd, as they say in the movies, is going to march in parade down the boulevards of Chicago today with a view to impressing the citizenry with the fact that meat is cheap and good to eat. City people are inclined to overlook the fact that steaks are carved from steers and ham is really the hind leg of a hog. Perhaps the parade would be more effective had it been possible to send steaks smothered in onions marching through the loop just at the luncheon hour; but as that was out of the question the live stock parade seemed the next best thing.

The pageant is intended to stimulate the demand for meat and thereby help the farmers. Such extraordinary efforts to help the farmers were not required before congress put the government into the business of marketing what the farmer has to sell. The parade is, in effect, an advertisement of the failure of the government to help agriculture and the futility of the panaceas proposed by the agrarian politicians. A float depicting Messrs. Brookhart, Norris, and their confrères helping the farmer by kicking him in the seat of his overalls would be an appropriate addition to the demonstration.

If the results achieved by the farm board prove anything at all, they prove the folly of tampering with the existing marketing agencies. The farm board propaganda makes much of the allegation that the farmers received more for their grain last year than they would have if the ordinary processes of trade had been operating. The statement overlooks the heavy losses suffered by farmers because the government advised them to hold instead of sell their wheat; and the even more important fact that anything the farmers may have gained last year they will lose this because the farm board's enormous holdings of wheat are hanging over the market today and depressing it.

The agrarian politicians have capitalized the human tendency to seek a scapegoat. When all is not well the easy thing to do is to blame some one for existing troubles. Thus, disease used to be blamed on evil spirits. Similarly, the blame for the difficulties of the farmer has been fastened upon the board of trade, the packers, and the other purchasers of farm products. The farmers have been urged to believe that prices are low because the buyers have conspired to grow rich at the expense of the man sweating in his fields. The farmers have been told that if only they can rid the country of the so-called middlemen the golden age would dawn.

It did not work in wheat, cotton, or live stock, to mention only three of the major farm commodities. If it did not work with an able man like Mr. Legge at the head of the farm board it will not work now that Mr. Legge and two of his associates have left the government service to be replaced, in all probability, by men more nearly at the level of political patronage.

The farmers have been misled by their representatives in Washington. If the parade is an indication that the farmers are through with panaceas and now recognize that the private marketing channels are safer in the long run, the parade will have an important place in American economic history. It will mark the beginning of agricultural recovery in this country.

THE POLICE IN BEER RAIDS.

West side police have been raiding places in the Des Plaines street district where the citizenship, casual and otherwise, is suspected of getting something more nearly beer than is legally good for them. Suspicion or conjecture has been sufficient warrant. The district captain says that the raids will continue. The beer has been sent to the city chemist to discover the quality of its iniquity.

When the police are preoccupied with such affairs a doubt is raised. One of the advantages which would have followed the repeal of the Illinois search and seizure act would have been the relief of the police from initiative in such law enforcement. The proprieties of police conduct very seldom stand exposure to it. This service of the law is demoralizing. Control of petty cheating against prohibition laws is a corrupting influence in the police department. A safe department rule would be that any police found on prohibition enforcement unless in coöperation with the federal authorities, with warrants and direct orders from headquarters with reference to specific cases, would be disciplined.

Freelancing by the police in prohibition enforcement will make the reform of the department impossible.

TENNESSEE WON'T COME DOWN.

The Tennessee legislature has gone fundamental again, refusing to repeal the law prohibiting the teaching of theories contrary to the book of Genesis. The effort to coax the state down out of the tree was both feeble and futile. It will throw cocoanuts, but will not come down. In its recent financial experiences it has been made a monkey of so many times and so thoroughly that it can go through the treetops with a greater feeling of security than when it is on the ground. Tennessee is primitive and proud of it. The view is leafy and luxuriant from where it is and the air is good—out in the breeze on a swinging bough.

Editorial of the Day

AMERICA AND OTHERWISE.

[London Daily Mail.]

Tonight the king and queen hold the first court of the year, and so formally launch another London season. We may surely say that the splendor of tonight's function at Buckingham palace is unrivaled in any capital save perhaps the Vatican, and among those that are attended by both sexes it is unique.

Yet this pageant, which brings admiring visitors from every quarter of the globe, is no mere archaic anachronism. The subjects who pay homage to King George at levee or court are doing reverence to a living idea that all of them in their various stations try to serve, an idea that is embodied in the crowned sovereign on his throne, and that they believe would be less vital, less potent in the actual world of daily life if it were embodied in anything more abstract than a man.

CROSSEYES AND UNFUSED IMAGES.

THE latest opinion is that crosseye and cockeye are due less to differences in the strength of pull of the eyeball than to the failure of the retinal images to merge. The first of these causes has been told so often during the last fifty years that everybody knows it. Merging of the images is new matter to most of us.

Objects are seen by both eyes. Images are cast in the retina or screen of each eye. Since each of the two eyes sees the object from a slightly different location its image is made from a slightly different angle. Therefore the two images on the two screens are not exactly the same. In normal vision the two images are merged, or fused into one, and what we think we see is really a composite, something of a compromise between the two slightly different images actually seen. Some people have eyes that do not fuse these two images properly.

A baby at birth, and for some time thereafter, sees two images because his eyes have no ability to fuse the images. As he grows older, if his eyes are normal, he learns to see one mamma instead of two. Fusion is an acquired capacity. Some babies never acquire it. If the power to fuse is never acquired the person has a persisting double vision.

In order to get away from the inconvenience of two almost similar images, the muscles pull one eye in (crosseye) or out (cockeye) because two dissimilar images are less confusing. If crosseye is permitted to persist for years the crossed eye loses the power to see. Therefore treatment of crosseye should never be postponed. It is said that if it is allowed to persist beyond the seventh year of life the ability to see, and certainly the ability to fuse, the images can never be regained.

NIGHTMARE.

J. N. H. writes: I have been subject to nightmare all my life. I inherited it from both parents. If I can be pardoned for contradicting so distinguished a physician, I want to say you are mistaken in saying nightmare is due to fear.

All my father's descendants are more or less subject to it. Let me give you the symptoms:

As a general rule—not always—my mind awakes. I know exactly where I am and I am perfectly conscious of everything around me, and I have even been able to speak. But there is not another muscle that I am able to move. I am just as inert as if I were dead.

Several years ago when I was recovering from an illness the friend who was nursing me—a very strong woman—picked me up and literally shook me awake. I was not asleep, but had been.

REPLY.

There is more than one kind of night terror. I am sure you are right in saying that a tendency to night terror can be inherited.

CAUSE OF DIABETES.

Mrs. W. writes:

1. Will you please state the cause of diabetes in a woman of 45 years?

2. Can diabetes be ascertained through testing the urine?

3. Can a person be cured of diabetes so as to be completely healthy, and be able to eat starches, sugars, etc.?

REPLY.

1. Among the many causes are hereditry obesity, eating too much sweets or starchy foods, great emotional strain.

2. The only sure way of diagnosing diabetes is by making certain laboratory tests. The symptoms of diabetes merely suggest its presence and lead to tests.

3. A few people are cured. Most diabetics learn to endure the disease, but do not expect the kind of cure you write about.

I wonder what would be the efficacy of this prayer: O, Lord! forgive my sins so that I can go and sin some more!

PHAGE FOR ERUPTIONS.

J. S. R. writes: I note that you often recommend phages as effective local treatment in skin eruptions. What is the appropriate phage in cases of acne?

REPLY.

Staphylococcus phage.

NEW PATROLMEN.

Chicago, June 9.—[Friend of the People.]—I read the city has abolished the list for patrolmen.

I filed an application last March. Will it be necessary to file another one?

Will the application filed in March stand?

If I have to file a new application, when will it be accepted? G. H. D.

The new examination for the position of patrolman will be called shortly and the age limits for same will be 21 to 28 years instead of 23 to 31 years, the requirement of the last examination.

All persons who filed applications for the last examination and who come within the new age limits, 21 to 28 years, will be called for examination without filing a new application. JAMES S. OSBORNE, Secretary, Chicago Civil Service Commission.

PROBATE NECESSARY.

Chicago, June 8.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A man dies leaving two children by his first wife. He died intestate, leaving an estate of negotiable securities, a small piece of unimproved property, and money in a joint checking account with his second wife.

Should this estate be probated?

May the second wife take possession to the exclusion of the other heirs?

L. M. W.

If the estate includes stocks standing in the husband's name it seems probable that probate would be necessary in order to effect a transfer. Probate is also necessary in order to produce a merchantable title to real estate.

SPECIAL PLAYGROUND.

Chicago, June 9.—[Friend of the People.]—Every night a number of boys congregate in the vacant lot next to my house and the noise they make is unbearable, to say nothing of the nuisance of their ball playing. I wish we could have it stopped. MRS. H. F.

The captain commanding the 28th district reports: "Interviewed owner who has provided lot as a place for his children to play in and they were playing there when the officers made investigation; they promised the officers that they would make as little noise as possible and that there would be no further cause for complaint."

THE GREATEST CRIME!

What is the greatest crime of all?
What foul deed does us most appall?

What sin takes such horrid shape
That he who does it finds no escape?

Let's review the base deeds of all times
And find which one is the crime of crimes.

First, take old Cain that killed his brother;
Well, he may have had cause, somehow or other.

Nero fiddled while Rome burned, but—
We excused him because he was just a nut.

And Captain Kidd, the Scourge of the Seas,
May have simply had some mind disease.

Bluebeard gave all his wives the gate,
But maybe they jawed him for coming in late.

Benedict Arnold's deed was most black,
But maybe the poor fish needed the jack.

So while all of these guys just raised the deuce,
We'll find in each case some real good excuse.

But Capone's case shows with great positiveness
The one crime for which there is no forgiveness.

The whole Ten Commandments you can treat almighty lax,
But kind heaven help you if you dodge your income tax.

A YEAR AGO JAMES QUIGG, TAXI DRIVER—

A year ago James Quigg, taxicab driver, drove me and suitcase to the Union depot for one dollar. On that drive James went five blocks out of the way. Last week he transported me and my luggage over the same route for the same fare—one dollar. On this last trip, however, the extra blocks were ten instead of five. Nimble witted as I am not, I detected the discrepancy at once. "Mr. Quigg," I said, "a year ago you took me but five squares out of the beaten path, and this year the number is ten—I counted them. Can you tell me by what process of monetary calculation you arrived at the sum of ten?" "Indeed, I can that," he replied. "A year ago, as you know, we was all in the midst of a financial readjustment, and we didn't know exactly where we was at; but this year things is pretty well settled down, and from all I read and hear, the dollar ought to go just about twice as far it used to." Most excellent heart, strong against time or men
Or subtle incantations of the spring,
Running your cadences in the slow swing
Of good red tides that ebb and flow again,
Unaltered by the season or the storm,
Equivalent always to the moment's need,
Proof against any weariness of deed,
Staunch arbiter of sleep, while yet the warm
Flesh lies along my little, jointed bones
Remember how your pulses roared and sung
Against the cobalt night when love was young
And life was scored in casual overtones.
Remember the toccata of your beat
When life was sweet: when love was very sweet.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 18, 1915.

PARIS.—The allied and German armies are locked in one of the most sanguinary clashes on the French front since the battle of the Marne. Just 100 years ago tomorrow the battle of Waterloo was fought, with the French on the losing side, and on the eve of the anniversary of that battle the dead litter the war fields of France. Powerful attacks by the French and British, with the Germans counter attacking furiously, left the ground in the "Labyrinth" literally covered with dead and wounded. Eleven divisions of the German army have been brought into the engagement, but, despite the strength of the enemy, the allied forces have been able to progress. To the south of Nieuville, in order to take certain points from the strongly entrenched Germans, it was necessary to fire nearly 300,000 shells.

PETROGRAD.—A notable success was scored by the Russians on the Dniester river above Zurawa on June 14 and 15, which resulted in the capture of 8,746 men, an official war office statement says. Austro-German forces also are reported to have been hurled back on the same front further to the southeast, while another force, which crossed the Dniester above Niziow, was destroyed.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 18, 1901.

CHICAGO.—Representatives of the German emperor, incognito, have visited big American shipyards to study construction of warships and vessels of the merchant service. They are Tjard Schwarz, imperial high director of marine, and Prof. E. von Halle mechanical expert, both of the German navy.

CHICAGO.—Judge Jesse Holdom of the Superior court issued an injunction against pool selling and bookmaking at the Harlem race track and Col. W. D. Washburn, Col. Fred H. Rowe, and other friends of Gov. Yates have trained their guns on the Washington Park club, the American Derby and the four weeks of horse racing scheduled for this track. They declared they mean to put an end to the gambling and that they will get after Washington Park if any betting is attempted.

LONDON.—Earl Russell was arrested on the charge of having married Mrs. Mollie Somerville in the United States while his first wife, the Countess Russell, was still undivorced and living in England. The earl was married to Mrs. Somerville at Reno, Nev., where he obtained a divorce from the countess. If he should be indicted on a bigamy charge he will be tried by the house of lords and the trial would bring up the whole question of validity of American divorces when obtained for the purpose of evading the English law.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 18, 1881.

APPLETON, Wis.—The Appleton furniture factory and the Appleton woolen mills were destroyed by fire. The loss on the woolen mills was estimated at $50,000 and on the furniture factory at $25,000. The former was owned by W. W. Hutchinson, Dr. J. P. Reeves and a Mr. Harwood of Ripon. The furniture factory was managed by J. F. Atkinson, but was principally owned by his brother, who lives in New York.

NEW YORK.—Gen. Grant and ex-Senator Conkling held a long consultation, presumably on the subject of the senatorship and Conkling's row with President Garfield. The $250,000 raised for Gen. Grant by his friends, with accumulated interest, is to be presented to him in a few days by the committee.

CHICAGO.—George F. Rumsey, widely known citizen and merchant and long prominently identified with the business interests of Chicago, died at his home, Rush and Huron streets, at the age of 60. He was born in New York and came to Chicago in 1836, where he began work as a clerk in the establishment of Newberry & Dole. When Mr. Newberry retired in 1847 Mr. Rumsey and his brother, Julian S. Rumsey, were taken into partnership under the firm name of Dole, Rumsey & Co. A year or two later Mr. Dole retired, when the firm became Rumsey, Bro. & Co., which has from that time to the present held a foremost place in the list of merchants.

CONGRESS AS THE EXECUTIVE.

Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., June 7.—Today's editorial on "Congress as the Executive" is doubly interesting, when you refer to the taking over of the administrative work in the Virgin Islands by using control of appropriations as authority for supervising their expenditure.

For several years the federal administrative work in the United States has been supervised in like manner, unconstitutionally, of course, by a controller general responsible only to congress. This official was created by federal statute and appointed by the executive for a term of fifteen years at a salary of $10,000 per year, but after the President has named him and he is confirmed, thereafter the chief executive has nothing further to say in the matter. Only joint action by the congress can dislocate him from his office and he holds the entire nation in the hollow of his hand.

The craze of the last quarter century to destroy as many as possible of the checks and balances set up by the fathers in the federal constitution is slowly but surely destroying the coördination of the three branches of government, and as surely destroying the representative republican form of government under which we have functioned with more than usual efficiency for over a century. Just when the end will come is, of course, problematical, but that this extralegal socialistic trend will end in the breaking up of the nation is as sure as the sunset. J. P. GRUWELL.

THE PRICE OF FOOTBALL TICKETS.

Chicago, June 7.—Would some one kindly enlighten me just why the Northwestern-Notre Dame tickets should be increased to $4 this year? As long as I have been going to these games the standard price was always $3. Soldiers' field is donated free of charge and there are practically no traveling expenses involved, so why the increase? It's about time some of these universities come down to earth and realize that all of their alumni are not employed nor are they so financially situated that they can pay these exorbitant prices. W. W.

THEN THE BUSINESS AGENT ARRIVED.

Chicago, June 12.—Wishing to do my share toward relieving unemployment I decided to hire a couple of men I knew of who had families and had been out of work for a long time to do a little painting for me, the windows and back porch. I could have done this myself as in previous years, but felt sorry for them and gave them the work and agreed to pay them $1 per hour each. They had hardly started before the business agent for the painters' union showed up and demanded they quit under threat of violence to them. Of course they had to stop. I finished the work myself. I am a union man myself, but glad to say not one of their kind. A. R. Q.

DOCTORS' BILLS.

Oak Park, Ill., June 8.—For some time the medical profession has been discussing ways and means of lowering the cost of illness for the average person. Most people save the doctor's bill to the last when bills are being paid. Doctors know this and therefore their fees are scaled high enough to cover the cost of collections. I would like to suggest to the doctors that they adopt a discount system in order to insure prompt payment and penalize slackers. Maintain present fees and offer 10 or 20 per cent discount for cash in ten days or 10 per cent in thirty days. The savings to the patients would be considerable and the loss to the doctor would be less than the cost of carrying a patient on the books for the usual three to six months. KENNETH SWARTZ.

A SOURCE OF REVENUE.

Chicago, June 8.—Why is Chicago running about frantically in search of some one who will loan money to float her debts? There are hundreds of elevated trains operating daily in Chicago and suburbs still carrying 1930 vehicle tax papers [posted publicly]. Each elevated coach represents a $50 tax, payable to the city by May 1 of each year.

Q. E. MCCABE.

RESTING IN THE PARK.

Chicago, June 9.—If the south park commissioners are responsible for the fact that the poor unemployed men who rest in Grant park are not allowed to lie down on the grass but must sit up every moment, do beg them to change their orders to the policemen on duty and show some consideration for the poor unfortunates.

In walking to the Art institute I noticed a policeman kick the feet of every man lying on the grass and order him to sit up. It seemed so heartless that I asked him about it and he said those were his orders.

FLORENCE C. HACKETT.

PENSIONS.

Chicago, June 9.—Is it fair to tax the public in order to provide pensions for public employés who, after twenty-five years of steady employment, have accumulated enough wealth to live comfortably? Why should they not be compelled to save as well as the big majority of people? Very few private concerns pension their employés.

TAXPAYER.

A SUGGESTION.

Chicago, June 12.—I advocate that every bank that has closed shall issue a statement to its depositors giving a true description of the bank's standing, the work being done to clear up matters so that the depositors shall not walk hoping against hope in terrible suspense. Let them know the truth, so those who have had their savings shattered can start anew and so those who are grief stricken can be told that their savings are safe. SYDNEY ADE.

DEFICIT OF U. S. IS NOW LARGEST SINCE THE WAR

Treasury Reports Total as $1,099,903,063.

Washington, D. C., June 17.—(AP)—The largest federal deficit since the war today presented a formidable total as an assault of income taxes crippled by the depression.

In spite of an increase of 800 million dollars in the red ink total today, treasury officials maintained that the billion dollar obstacle to a balanced budget will fall below President Hoover's estimate of 950 millions before the fiscal year ends on June 30.

The increase today was announced in a treasury statement of accounts at the close of business June 15, and brought the total deficit to $1,099,903,063.

Postal Deficit $7,500,000.

An assessment to the postal deficiency of $7,500,000, combined with general governmental expenses of $14,856,000, exceeded the preceding day's outlay, boosted the grand total.

Income tax receipts of $11,934,411 were instrumental in meeting this enormous outlay, and expenditures for the period were only two weeks to the close of the fiscal year exceeded collections by over $10,000,000.

Although June 15 was the last day for paying second tax installments on individual incomes, officials do not expect the major force of the returns to be felt until tabulations are completed for June 16 and 17. If the March quarterly payments afford a comparison, second and third day tabulations will exceed the first by approximately three and seven times, respectively.

June Collections $98,528,970.

Total June income tax collections have been estimated at $280,000,000, as against $679,557,732 in March. June collections to date are $48,528,970.

Treasury officials have estimated the fiscal deficiency at 140 millions. Payments to date are about $8,000,000 below this figure.

Central departmental expenditures for the fiscal year, with only 15 days remaining, totaled $3,382,996,000 as compared with $3,699,000,000 during the corresponding period last year.

A PICTURE OF FEDERAL ECONOMY; EXPENSES ARE UP 184 MILLION

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—Despite the recent economy drive, all government departments and establishments with the exception of the White House, the navy and the interior department increased their operating costs during the first eleven months of the 1931 fiscal year, according to treasury figures issued today.

The interior department operation costs of $82,456,000 represented a drop of $178,272,000 from the total for the same period of 1930. This was because certain activities, including the pension bureau, were transferred to the veterans' administration.

Expenditures of the departments and bureaus amounted to a total of $2,159,423,000 for the eleven months, an increase of $184,120,000. Figures for the principal individual spending agencies follow:

State department, $14,239,000, increase of $1,454,000.

Treasury department, $181,648,000, increase of $4,405,000.

War department, $423,590,000, increase of $25,603,000.

Justice department, $40,816,000, increase of $10,790,000.

Navy department, $326,074,000; decrease, $21,126,000.

Agricultural department, $253,552,000; increase, $98,562,000.

Veterans' administration, $842,677,000; increase, $234,121,000.

Certain items of expenditure, including an additional payment of $7,500,000 for the postal deficit, boosted the deficit to a new record of $1,099,903,000, as shown by the June 15 treasury statement, following a small decrease in the three preceding days. The deficit will begin to drop somewhat lower shortly owing to the receipt of income and corporation taxes for the June 15 payment period.

HOLD UP DRUG STORE.

Four gunmen yesterday entered the Walgreen drug store at 7400 South Halsted street as employes opened the store and held up the manager, Kenneth Beck, 1503 East 73d street, and a colored porter, and escaped with $200 from the cash register.

DOCTORS INSTALL OFFICERS AMID AIR OF PEACE

Hear Plea for Liberal Ideas on Publicity.

The battle smoke which rose from the Chicago Medical society's electoral campaign was blown away by a gust of raillery last night as the retiring president, Dr. James H. Hutton and his successor, Dr. John R. Harger, who had been leaders of the warring factions, sat side by side exchanging banter during the organization's annual dinner in the Medical and Dental Arts' club.

The installation of Dr. Herman L. Kretschmer as president-elect, together with others who won office on the "anti-gag" ticket in Tuesday's election, took place at the dinner. Dr. Kretschmer defeated Dr. Edward H. Ochsner after one of the most spirited campaigns in the 79 years of the organization's history.

New Officers Installed.

Dr. Harger opened the dinner speeches good humoredly, saying his first duty was to get his predecessor safely out of office and called upon Dr. Charles B. Reed to present the retiring leader with a watch in recognition of his achievements. And Dr. Hutton came right back with a story about a man who acted as pallbearer just to make sure that one of his friends was safely under six feet of ground.

In his address, Dr. Hutton said that while he was not advocating an advertising campaign on the part of the Chicago Medical society, he believed that the members of the profession should change their attitude on the subject of publicity and approach the question with the same open mind with which they consider scientific problems.

When the subject of advertising is brought up, Dr. Hutton said, doctors and newspaper men frequently think in different terms. Medical men, he pointed out, are prone to visualize gaudy display advertisements designed to promote the individual doctor, whereas newspaper men have in mind institutional or educational campaigns. The merits of this latter type of advertising, he said, should be studied in a scientific spirit by the society.

$365,000,000 in Free Service.

Then he pointed out what a great service the medical profession is doing by furnishing $365,000,000 worth of service free of charge annually through clinics and in charity centers.

Blame for the high cost of hospital service, he said, has been erroneously placed upon the shoulders of doctors through a misunderstanding by the general public, which does not realize that scarcely any of the men who are in the hospital business are members of the profession.

In his address, Dr. Harger pointed out that Chicago's record as the world's healthiest metropolis will be put to a severe test with the influx of visitors to the Century of Progress Exposition two years hence. He said that the incoming administration of the Chicago Medical society would extend every energy to cooperate with public health agencies.

He closed by calling the attention of his fellow doctors to the exalted nature of their profession which aims to care for all the sick all the time without regard for credit and compensation.

CUBA LABOR ASKS U.S. TO INTERVENE AND END HUNGER

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, June 17.—(AP)—Santiago Iglesias, secretary of the Pan-American Federation of Labor, said today that certain Cuban labor organizations, whose names he did not disclose, had filed with him a request for intervention by the United States to end what they called the "dictatorship" in their island. Hunger, not communism, is the greatest threat to Cuba, the message said. Señor Iglesias has forwarded the communication to William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

HAWKS SETS NEW MARK AND IS ON TIME FOR MEALS

Makes Round Trip from London to Rome.

CROYDON, England, June 17.—(AP)—Roaring into Croydon airdrome at 4:55 this afternoon, Frank Hawks, American speed flyer, accomplished his dream of breakfast in London, spaghetti in Rome, and tea in London, completing the round trip in 9 hours and 44 minutes' actual flying time.

"The Alps whipped me once," he said as he stepped out of his ship, "but I have whipped them twice now, and I am satisfied. I will probably sail for the United States on June 24."

Even the hardened "grease monkeys" at the Croydon airport, used to speedy things, chuckled when Hawks completed his round trip to Rome in less than ten hours.

Breaks Old Record.

Prior to Hawks' first Rome flight Wing Commander Kingsford-Smith held the record time, a little over 10 hours. Capt. Hawks figured his flying mileage roughly between 1,850 and 1,890 miles.

His time for the return trip from Rome to Croydon was five hours flat. Up at daybreak this morning, he left the airdrome at 5:31 a. m., arriving in Rome at 10:15 a. m., an elapsed time of 4 hours and 44 minutes for the down journey. After lunch in Rome he left at 12:35 p. m. and arrived back at Croydon at 4:55 p. m.

"Alps Looked Sweeter."

"I had a marvelous trip down and back, although there were headwinds going out and part of the way back," he said. "Only in Italy did I miss them. The Alps looked much sweeter in the clear sunshine than they did in the rain and fog I encountered in my previous flight to Rome."

Judge Jonas Recovering from Pneumonia Attack

Judge Edgar A. Jonas of the Municipal court yesterday was reported recovering from an attack of pneumonia in his home at 5510 Sheridan road. He has been under the care of Dr. Elmer W. Mosley since he contracted a cold while playing golf in the rain recently. The cold developed into pneumonia, but the judge's condition is improving rapidly and he is expected to be able to leave his bed today, according to Dr. Mosley.

THE STREAM MUST FLOW

A pair of shoes on a shelf in our store performs no real service. In no other period of their existence are shoes so useless. On their way to us they have contributed to the earnings of thousands. But here they must not linger, for it costs us money to keep them. For economy's sake they must quickly go out into service.

Merchandise ceases to make profits when it ceases to travel.

It is only the flowing stream that has power—and the speedier it flows the greater its power.

As a matter of efficient organization we cannot afford to let merchandise loiter in our storerooms. A live industry must have constant action. Factories will stop working if we do not keep new things coming in. Goods must move.

An old employe remarked yesterday that he could not resist the buying of a new dining-room suite from the remarkable array on the eighth floor, for he was sure that never again would he be able to procure such splendid furniture for so small a price. He considered it an exceedingly timely and fortunate investment.

In every part of this store is displayed the same quality merchandise that we have always been proud to sell. Quality has not changed. But prices have. Seldom have dollars had greater buying power here. Goods must move.

ADS ARE HAILED AS HIGH AMONG U. S. EDUCATORS

Second Only to Schools, Says Auto Executive.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 17.—[Special.]—Describing advertising as the second greatest common educator of the present era, surpassed only by the public schools, C. F. Kettering, vice president of the General Motors corporation of Detroit, won the greatest applause at today's session of the Advertising federation's convention here.

C. F. KETTERING.

Mr. Kettering, with his dry humor and pithy remarks, captured the undivided attention of the more than 1,000 delegates who attended the general luncheon in the Pennsylvania hotel ballroom.

Others Present Views.

Other well known speakers also told the convention their ideas of what they believed advertising should be. D. F. Kelly, president of the National Dry Goods association and of the Fair, a Chicago department store, discussed advertising rates from the merchants' viewpoint. C. M. Chester Jr., president of General Foods corporation, called advertising a most vital factor in our business and deplored the tendency on the part of some advertisers to present exaggerated claims.

In his talk Mr. Kettering made a plea for more research in business. The Detroit man said that "good times would return when manufacturers made products the people wanted." He declared the best tonic for business was dissatisfaction. "When people are satisfied with what they have," the speaker said, "they may be great boosters for what you have sold them but they are poor customers for your same old products. They already have what you made last year—make them something new."

Urges New Ideas.

The surest way to kill anything, Mr. Kettering said, was to hold a conference over it. The main trouble with business these days, in his opinion, was the reluctance of business to turn to new ideas. But business will have to take on new ideas, Mr. Kettering continued, or the sheriff will get it.

Early this evening the nominations for directors of the federation were announced. Nomination virtually assures election at the business meeting to be held tomorrow. The new nominees are G. R. Schaeffer, Marshall Field & Co., Chicago; Turner Jones, Coco Cola company, Atlanta, and Frank G. Huntress, San Antonio Express, San Antonio, Tex.

20th Victim of Radium Firm Poisoning Is Dead

Newark, N. J., June 17.—(AP)—Radium poisoning has claimed its twentieth victim from among former employes of the United States Radium corporation's plant, now closed. Mrs. Irene Frances La Porte, who contracted the disease while painting luminous watch dials, died during the night. Medical Examiner Harrison S. Martland reported Mrs. La Porte died of sarcoma of the hip and thigh caused by ingestion of radium.

Kellogg's RICE KRISPIES

THERE'S one delicious ready-to-eat cereal that actually crackles out loud when you pour on milk or cream. It's Kellogg's Rice Krispies.

Toasted rice. Nourishing. Packed with flavor. Easy to digest. Crisp beyond compare. No wonder grown-ups and children love it.

Serve for breakfast, lunch — with fresh or canned fruits or honey. Have for the kiddies' supper. Enjoy a bowlful before going to bed.

And be sure to try in cookery. Kellogg's Rice Krispies take the place of nutmeats in delicious macaroons, candies, desserts. Sprinkle into soups.

You'll want to get genuine Kellogg's Rice Krispies in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. The only cereal so crisp it crackles in cream.

TOO BAD

More Mothers Don't Know This

Many Preparations Labeled "Milk of Magnesia" Are Nothing More Than Mixtures of Magnesia Powder and Water

According to recent laboratory tests, it is now indicated that many preparations on the market labeled "Milk of Magnesia" are nothing more than mixtures of magnesia powder and water. So be careful what you get.

Note that such preparations are clearly labeled "Milk of Magnesia." And, thus, that the name "Milk of Magnesia" on a bottle offers you or your children no certain protection. Watch out.

Your own druggist may not as yet know this situation. And thus, in all innocence, sell you one of these mixtures of plain magnesia powder and water, if you go into his store and ask only for "Milk of Magnesia."

For this reason the public is openly and publicly urged to ask for and accept only genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—as endorsed by doctors—for use in the home. Especially when it is intended for use with children.

Leading doctors the world over endorse Phillips' Milk of Magnesia as one of the finest products known to modern science in protection of the public health.

None of those products made of magnesia powder and water are "like" or the "same" as genuine Phillips'. They can't be. Phillips' is made in a laboratory with more than 50 years of experience in the making of Milk of Magnesia, and some of the methods developed by Phillips are used exclusively in the Phillips' Laboratories.

Hence, for 50 years Phillips' has been recognized everywhere as the world's leading laboratory devoted exclusively to making the finest magnesia products.

What folly, then, in the light of these things, to take chances on some other product of which you know nothing. What an injustice to yourself or your children to let anything but the recognized finest in internal remedies come into your home.

Get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia at any drug store. Ask for it by name! Identify it by the package illustrated in this advertisement—the blue package showing the signature of Charles H. Phillips on the label.

SAFETY

For You and Yours in This Bottle

You can assist others by refusing to accept anything but the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Do this in the interest of yourself and your children—and in the interest of the public in general.

Stefan Zweig's "Amok," Brief, Speedy, Tragic

Writer's Spell Breaks Doctor's Moral Fiber.

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

STEFAN ZWEIG, playwright, biographer and novelist, the author of "Volpone," "Three Masters," "Conflicts," and "Joseph Fouché," has written another miniature masterpiece, "Amok" [Viking Press]. It is a miniature because it is a novel in condensed form, a "novelle." In this respect it reminds one of the long stories [really short novels] so perfectly done in "Conflicts," published some years ago.

STEFAN ZWEIG.

We hear a great deal about the short short story these days, but not so much about a new abbreviated form for the novel. In "Amok" Zweig has, with remarkable artistry, compressed in small space enough action, character delineation and description to fill a lengthy book. His method is so intensive that a study of it alone would make the 131 pages worth while.

"Amok" is remarkable in its steadily accumulating tragic power. It begins quietly enough, but soon gains an accelerating swiftness of movement that rushes on and on, faster and faster, becoming more dramatic and full of suspense with each page until the climax is reached, a climax that is stupendous not only because of its surprise element, but because of its subtlety. It leaves the reader to solve the problem in his own mind. One man will reason it out one way, another will reach, perhaps, a entirely different conclusion.

Even for the first time in the book does not explain the motivation leading to the last bit of dramatic action. Step by step he leads you up to it, clarifying the motives of the evil character again and again until you feel you comprehend the workings of the tortured mind of the little man, but at the end the startling denouement leaves you breathless, with a choice of several solutions to ponder.

"Amok" is the story of the moral destruction of a man. It is laid in the tropics and gets its name from the peculiar frenzy that sometimes attacks the natives. A man, with apparently no reason, suddenly will rush into his house screaming, violent, as if inspired by a million demons, and attacking his friends will kill any or anything his path, never stopping in his mad rage until some one mercifully puts him out of the way. A man who runs amok is like a mad dog; he usually dies in the end.

White men, isolated from the civilized world, stationed for months at a time in lonely outposts of the jungle where they never see another white man, woman or child sometimes run amok mentally, experience a sort of mental rot.

This book might well have become one of those psychological case studies in fiction form that have been masquerading as novels, these many years past, but Stefan Zweig approaches his subject from the human rather than the scientific angle. The German doctor who gets fed up on the tropics and is ready to fall in love with the first woman he meets is a human being first and a psychological study second. The conflict that goes on in his mind when a mysterious and mighty woman seeks his aid is real, not understandable. He is also faced with the query: How far should a doctor's ethics interfere with his code of duty?

The only remote person in the story is the woman. She is an enigma, a strange combination of opposite qualities. Outwardly reserved, cold, aloof, dominated by pride, she is, nevertheless, a victim of an emotional affair which consistently indulged in by her better sisters.

In "Amok" Zweig's writing may be compared to Conrad's and Stevenson's. Conrad's is the marvelous creation of mystery, by its restraint that makes for the most intense drama, in its use of subtle suggestion and in its employment of the condensed novel form. Stevenson's in its delineation of character and its expert craftsmanship.

Good Morning!

Again little Nancy Carroll does herself proud!

With her excellent supporting cast she succeeds in almost, if not entirely, surmounting this trite and hectic story, which is utterly unworthy the lot of them.

The yarn's locale is Prague. Why, I have no idea. As far as local color, costumes, or language are concerned the place might just as well have been New York, Chicago, Denver, or St. Louis. True, Miss Carroll at one time wears a sort of Cossack hat, and then she dons an apron that probably boasts Czecho-Slovakian (O, help, Mr. Carroll, I can't spell that!) embroidery. Anyhow, Prague does all right, since Mr. Goulding, who wrote the story as well as directed the picture, likes it that way. Only I wish he would quit writing.

Well, in the film, Nancy is Yula, daughter of a notorious Countess Martini, who owns a questionable night club. The lady's custom of drugging customers, the better to procure their wallets, my dears, lands her in the hands of the police. She's tried by a brilliant young prosecuting attorney, who secures her conviction and a sentence of two years in prison. Yula, a minor, and now without a guardian, is to be sent to the reformatory.

Only—she isn't.

For Yula has golden hair and a pair of blue eyes—and the D. A. is human.

X equals what happens when the D. A., who is engaged to another girl, finds himself hopelessly in love with the Countess Martini's daughter.

Miss Carroll gives a sensitive portrayal that entitles her to remain in the front ranks of emotional actresses. You will be impressed by her fluid grace of movement. She seems absolutely boneless—held erect by shafts of thin air.

Fredric March is nice though unremarkable as the district attorney. Alison Skipworth is rich and rare as Madame Martini. She has a great sense of burlesque and a knowledge of reining it expertly. Alan Hale does as well as anybody could do with his far-fetched and slightly idiotic rôle of Bizel, a strong man, who "bounces" for madame and is mad about Yula. Phoebe Foster and Katherine Emmet are very, very good in their brief appearances as the attorney's fiancée and her mother.

Photography and sound are okay and Mr. Goulding did the best he could by the work of his hands, which has already been accorded its unkind comment.

See you soon.

Rembrandt Brings $80,000; El Greco Sells at $65,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MUNICH, Germany, June 17.—The sum of $416,000 was realized at the first day's sale of the famous Nemes art collection attracting experts from Cleveland, Kansas City, Boston, and New York, as well as many European cities. The top price was $80,000 for Rembrandt's "Fabius Maximus," which went to Holland, but the prices in many cases were below anticipation, reflecting the depression. El Greco's "Concert of Angels" was obtained for Pinakothek of Athens for $65,000. Titian's portrait of "Frederigo II." went for close to $22,000, and Franes Hals' "Portrait of a Scholar" for $20,000. Both are reported to have passed into American hands.

Movie Gossip from Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 17.—[Special.]—Closing of California schools this week has launched a whole flock of academic talkies. They will be released in the autumn, when school reopens and the air is full of football talk. The whole University of California football team is playing in one film, "The Brat," at Fox's, with Sally O'Neill, sister of Notre Dame's athletes, of the Noonan family, and the official Los Angeles hostess for Notre Dame versus Southern California here in 1928, as heroine of the piece.

Here are a few of the other schoolday talkies now making or being prepared.

"Are These Our Children?" written and directed by Wesley Ruggles, at Radio, with a flock of boys and girls just out of the several Hollywood high schools playing leads and minor parts.

"Boarding School," just announced by Metro Goldwyn Mayer, a yarn about a girls' school with Harry Pollard assigned to direct it as one of M. G. M.'s lavish ventures of 1931.

"The Spirit of Notre Dame" with Lew Ayres as star, preparing at Universal.

"Huckleberry Finn," now being made at Paramount, Norman Taurog directing.

Jetta Goudal's first film appearance in more than two years is with Will Rogers in Fox's "The Plutocrat." Jetta is in the decorating business now in partnership with her husband, Cedric Gibbons, studio art director.

Dorothy Speare, who wrote a novel during her senior year at Smith college, went abroad on the proceeds and made an operatic debut at Milan in 1926, followed with an American operatic debut in "Mignon" in New York in 1928, besides writing the play "Prima Donna" and three novels, has been signed by Paramount as a staff writer.

Rochelle Hudson, filmland's only other player [besides Will Rogers] from Claremore, Okla., has had her option renewed at R. K. O. This good-looking newcomer appeared in five pictures in her first six months under film contract, and appears to have a favorable road to travel.

Paramount will next star Paul Lukas and Kay Francis in "Cobra." Martin Broun's play about a romantic aristocrat who falls under the sinuous spell of an unscrupulous woman.

Nacio Herb Brown, song writer, must pay George De Haven, as assignee for Carter De Haven, $3,485 in royalties for "The Doll Dance." According to a judicial decision De Haven made a showing in court that 766,682 copies of Brown's song hit were sold, after Brown agreed to pay Carter De Haven one-half of one cent royalty on each.

After several many-sided outbursts of temperament, "The Unholy Garden" with George Fitzmaurice directing Ronald Colman, Fay Wray and Estelle Taylor, has been completed at United Artists and rehearsals begun for "Street Scene."

King Vidor is directing this with Buster Collier and Sidney Smith in lead rôles and Estelle Taylor also featured. Producer Sam Goldwyn, now in command over the United Artists lot [and "command" is the exact word to use], had a couple run-ins with his old friend and partner of many film hits, Director Fitzmaurice, and the pair have decided not to darken each other's studios any more.

Richard Wallace, the director, was using the whole Pacific ocean for a water hazard yesterday until stopped by one of the Santa Monica constabulary. Wallace thought the beach sands an inviting place to practice driving, but just about the time a couple of his drives sliced into the drink, two bathers bobbed into view where Wallace thought they were no bathers, and objected that 200 feet out from shore in a bathing suit would make it impossible to explain a black eye by a golf ball.

Anita Louise has been playing lady rôles for more than a year, although only 16 now. She's with Lew Ayers at present in "Heaven on Earth," the Mississippi packet boat story which is being filmed on Sacramento river steamboats in northern California.

The latest adventures of the Cohens and Kellys will take place in Hollywood. Charlie Murray, who, by the way, is of Scotch descent, not Irish, and George Sidney started the Cohen and Kelly series in 1924, and the original characters have endured with more permanent popularity than any other set of characters devised for the screen except perhaps Bert Lytell in his "Lone Wolf" romances for Columbia. The Universal company, which is daddy of the Cohens and Kellys, plans to have a flock of movie notables move around in back stage and behind the scene shots while the scrambled Hibernians and Hebrews go through their newest adventures in a real screen setting.

World Disarm? Not in My Life, Gibson Asserts

Talks After Getting Honor Degree at Yale.

New Haven, Conn., June 17.—(AP)—Hugh Gibson, United States ambassador to Belgium, said today he was optimistic about the possibility of limiting armaments, but did not expect to see a final solution of the problem in his lifetime.

Addressing Yale alumni at a banquet after the university's 230th commencement exercises at which he was given the honorary degree of doctor of laws, Ambassador Gibson said:

"Democracy has developed slowly, never has been perfected and needs constant watching to keep it in operation. The limitation of armaments is similarly of slow growth and its childhood needs constant nursing.

"I do not expect to see final solution of the problem of armaments in my lifetime, for it is a problem of human relations and these problems have to be attended to as long as the human beings involved are alive. The only human problems that can be definitely disposed of are those concerned with the dead.

"I do not for a minute believe that in any international conference we are going to bring about a millennium, but I do believe that the idea of the progressive limitation of armaments by international agreement has come to stay, that whatever the setbacks and discouragements, our trend will be forward, that the imperfect methods of the first steps will be improved upon by relays of new men, better trained, perhaps, to deal with these great problems and that what we have started will be carried on farther than we can now foresee. Who knows, perhaps by some of my classmates of Yale '31."

Honorary degrees of doctor of law were given today by Yale on Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of the interior, and Mr. Gibson.

Ten honorary degrees were conferred by President James Rowland Angell. In addition degrees in course were given to 507 from the graduate schools. Bachelor degrees in arts, philosophy, and science were conferred on 681 seniors of Yale college and Sheffield Scientific school yesterday.

Besides Mr. Wilbur and Mr. Gibson the recipients of honorary degrees included:

Doctor of divinity—Frank Chamberlin Porter, New Haven, professor emeritus of biblical theology.

Doctor of law—Learned Hand, New York, judge of the U. S. Circuit court.

Master of arts—James Grafton Rogers, Washington, D. C., assistant secretary of state, formerly dean of law school, University of Colorado.

The citations were by President Angell. Of Ambassador Gibson he said:

"Yale university sees in you a distinguished example of the able and patriotic citizen faithfully and wisely serving his country in her diplomatic relations with other nations. She remarks in you the cool shrewdness of the Yankee, combined with the gracious urbanity of the old world continental."

Of Secretary Wilbur President Angell said:

"The scholar in politics has not always enjoyed high repute. But when, as in your case, scholarship is combined with an extraordinary degree of common sense it spells power for eminent service."

The degree of doctor of medicine was conferred on seven women. They included Dorothy Loomis, University of Wisconsin, 1918, of Princeton, N. J.

C. H. K. Curtis Gives Million to University of Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 17.—(AP)—In delivering the commencement address today, closing the 191st academic year, President Thomas S. Gates of the University of Pennsylvania announced that Cyrus H. K. Curtis, Philadelphia publisher, had "made an unrestricted gift to the university of something more than one million dollars."

President Gates said the trustees probably would keep the gift intact as the "Cyrus H. K. Curtis Foundation for the permanent endowment of teaching and research."

"In its two hundred years of history," he said, "the university never has received so large a gift in a single sum from one individual."

BRITISH ROYALTY IN GALA ATTIRE AMONG FEATURES AT ASCOT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 17.—Flower beds and furbelows bloomed with splendor at Ascot today.

The Royal Ascot has been more royal this season than it has been for years. The attendance of the reigning house in a body and a select group of society people gathered from all parts of the world made today's racing a brilliant affair.

The chief race today was the Royal Hunt Cup. The trophy stood glistening in the sunshine before the box which was occupied by King George, Queen Mary, the prince of Wales, the duke and duchess of York, and other members of the royal family. Their box actually is a miniature palace, built at the finishing post, and before it is the royal inclosure, carefully guarded.

Many Americans were present, among them being Mr. and Mrs. Frank Matthieson of Chicago, former governor and Mrs. Kohler of Wisconsin, and Mrs. A. G. McLean of New York.

Pick of Farm Boys, Girls in Washington as Guests of Nation

Washington, D. C., June 17.—(AP)—The pick of the nation's farm youth—156 boys and girls and their leaders—poked their heads out of tents near the Washington monument this morning.

The campers, chosen in their states for excellence in raising pigs, growing corn, making clothing, planning meals and other farm and home projects, will participate in educational round table discussions and sight seeing.

The camp is pitched on the agriculture department grounds. General assemblies will be held each morning, with excursions around the city in the afternoon.

At their assemblies they will discuss choosing a vocation, adjustment to modern economic and social conditions, and other problems important to rural youth.

Calls Yankee Officials Backward About Paintings

PARIS, June 17.—(AP)—Homer St. Gaudens, who will take a loan collection of paintings to the United States next fall for exhibition, said today that American officials and laymen lag far behind those of Europe in the relative importance they accord to art.

"Many persons there are as interested in art as any Europeans," he said, "but the mass of the people and the officials regard art as a minor adjunct, whereas in Europe it is an integral element of life."

The collection he is taking to America will be exhibited at Pittsburgh, Baltimore, and St. Louis. He sails for New York on Saturday.

Cameras Hint Ghost Planets' Ancient History

Light Too Slow to Tell Their Modern Story.

Pasadena, Cal., June 17.—(AP)—The ghosts of other universes were talked about today before the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Dr. Edwin Hubble, noted explorer into the vast recesses of the skies, paused in his work at the world's largest telescope to tell America's leading scientists about the things he had found.

All that is known about these roving island universes is actually ghost information, for it merely is the seeing of them as they were hundreds of millions of years ago. They are so far away that light from them, traveling at the speed of 186,000 miles per second, takes from 100,000,000 to 250,000,000 years to reach the earth. Thus, when the world's largest and fastest camera at Mount Wilson photographs them, the picture is merely what these universes have been that long ago.

These nebulae, said Dr. Hubble, average about a hundred million times as bright as the sun, but are seen only as faint points of light by the greatest of telescopes. The stellar system of some thirty thousand million stars is but one island universe, known as the milky way galaxy, and it spreads over an area of some 980,000,000,000,000,000 miles. It is beyond this that the exploration work of Dr. Hubble begins.

He revealed that at some points there are great obscuring clouds of dust in the milky way galaxy.

"There is no evidence of a fading out, no trace of a physical boundary," sky regions. Eliminating the obscuration along the milky way, it is estimated about thirty millions of island universes are within reach of the 100 inch Mount Wilson telescope, averaging a hundred million times as bright as the sun and scattered at average intervals as part of the order of 1,500,000 light years. One light year is six million of million miles.

He said some twenty thousand of these island universes have been counted on nine hundred photographic plates taken at Mount Wilson.

Harvard Party Finds How Big Business Marched in 2,000 B. C.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

CAIRO, June 17.—An inscription engraved by order of Sesostris III (about 2000 B. C.), which throws vivid light on the difficulties of the journey made by that king to the Sudan in the nineteenth year of his reign, has just been reported by Lieut. Com. Wheeler of the Harvard archaeological expedition headed by Prof. George A. Reisner. The inscription was found cut in a granite block of a landing quay of an Egyptian fort on the island of Uronarti. The fort was built by Sesostres III in the sixteenth year of his reign for "warding off the Nubians," the quay lies at the foot of a stairway and tunnel which led down from the fort to the water and secured a water supply for the garrison.

Sesostris III was an Egyptian king who crushed the Nubians in the eighth and ninth year of his reign in order to make the river road safe for his trading fleets and caravans which were exploiting raw materials in the Sudan for the benefit of the royal treasury.

Mayor Lauds Students for Help to City

Austin, Harrison Highs Win Cleanup Honors.

Prize winners in the contests held in conjunction with the 1931 clean-up, paint-up, plant-up campaign, conducted by the school children of the city, were announced yesterday. They were named at a luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce at the La Salle hotel. Mayor Cermak and Supt. W. J. Bogan were speakers.

Austin and Harrison Technical High schools were joint winners of the general accomplishments contest. They were presented with plaques by John R. MacGregor, chairman of the Association of Commerce clean-up committee. He also announced the winners in the picture, poster, and essay contests, the latter held in the elementary schools.

The paramount importance of citizenship training in the schools was emphasized by Mr. Cermak and Mr. Bogan. Both of them congratulated the winners in the contests and praised them as valuable assets in citizenship instruction. The mayor declared that despite his difference with the board of education over building and operating economies, he considered the educational department well handled by Supt. Bogan.

"In large cities like Chicago and New York government is a complex problem," the mayor declared. "Here especially we need the finest and most thorough type of instruction in making better citizens. I believe we are making progress, as evidenced by the enthusiasm with which such campaigns as this are carried out."

Rusel J. Siegel of Boone High school, president of the High School Cleanup league, reported the results of the campaign and revealed that plans are being perfected to make it a year around program, not confined to a few weeks in the spring.

Second place in the general accomplishment contest among the high schools was won by Bowen, third by Tilden Technical. Honorable mention was given to Lindblom Technical, while special awards went to Fenger, Marshall, McKinley, Medill, Tuley, and Roosevelt, with special mention to Englewood and Hyde Park.

In the junior high group Kelvyn Park took first, while Kelly won honorable mention.

In the picture contest showing scenes before and after cleanup operations, McKinley High school won first for work done in its district by Brown school; Lindblom High was second for work done by Marquette, and Austin High school was third.

Roy Roeser of the Hoyne Continuation school won the poster contest with Harold Heuthmann, Washburne apprentice, second. Honorable mention went to Kveta Mishausky, Marshall; Jack Lipshin, Washburne; Gustave Falkenberg, Waller; Joseph Rossi, Crane Technical; Sol A. Rosen, Crane Technical; C. Stamatopoulas, Crane Technical; William Hohman, Hoyne Continuation; Eleanor Swimmer, Hyde Park; Madeline Krvavica, Lindblom Technical, and Cynthie Dodkin, Marshall.

In the essay contest Violet Paradzinski, Fenger, won in the high school class; Joseph Vondrack, Farragut, in the junior high school group; Robert Southard, Trumbull, in the sixth grade; Dorothy Swift, Sutherland, in the eighth grade; May Bolas, Josephinum, in the Catholic high schools, and William Korands, St. Kilians', in the Catholic grade schools.

Essays were written on the subject "How Can Chicago Clean Up and Beautify for the World's Fair and Why?"

Robert Southard's winning essay, which was given a grade of 98 per cent, pointed out the need for keeping alleys and empty lots clean. Both he and Miss Bolas, whose essay rated at 90.2 per cent, emphasized the necessity of ridding the city of its smoke nuisance.

Someone Always Trying to "Use the Schools," He Charges.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 17.—(AP)—William G. Carr, Washington, D. C., today cited propaganda, some good, some bad, and most of it neither, as a rapidly growing competitor with established educational methods in schools.

School executives are finding it necessary to provide extensive safeguards to conserve the energies of pupils for the modernized "three R's," he told the National Conference of Social Work.

In the larger city schools propaganda has become a particularly complicated problem, Mr. Carr said.

Some groups seek to have the pupils raise money for bird baths in local parks, while others are seeking to establish a new civic or other consciousness among them, Mr. Carr said. Many of the projects are well intentioned; others are purely commercial.

"The army of propagandists can be divided into two regiments—the uplifting infantry and the salesmen-engineers," Mr. Carr said. "Many of the salesmen love to wear the uniform of uplifters.

"Yet organized propaganda is a part of modern life. The school must assume responsibility for training citizens to understand and cope with it. As a result the school executive may make outside influences the servant of schools instead of their master—but he has a thankless job."

Public Library Halts Purchase of New Books

Purchasing of new books by the Chicago public library was halted yesterday by order of the library board. Notices posted in the library building at Michigan avenue and Randolph street and in branch libraries throughout the city stated that curtailment "for the present" was due to a serious reduction in income.

Carl B. Roden, librarian, said time would now be given people for the reading of books written and proved during the last two thousand years.

"We are economizing in every manner possible," Mr. Roden said, "but, like all taxing bodies in Chicago, we must seek still other ways of cutting expenses. Last year we cut our staff and our appropriation for new books was cut to $230,000. Of that sum we have now spent $85,000. No more will be spent until we feel our income justifies a return to the spending of other years."

At the present time there are 1,722,-950 books in the library, excluding those which have been thrown away as worn out since Dec. 31. Mr. Roden pointed out that a book is not a book until it is read. He expressed the hope that users of the library would now turn to the classics.

While the inability to purchase books, published for the first time, is regretted by the library, the greatest injury is in the failure to replenish shelves of old books, many of which have become worn and worthless through frequent handling. Normally the library replaces 100,000 volumes a year.

As a help to readers who are stranded by the stop in the flow of modern literature the library is furnishing a list of worth while writers to read, who, probably due to the new books, were being disregarded by users of the library.

Husband of Lettuce Leaf Eater Rebels; Wants Square Meal

BY DORIS BLAKE.

He met her last year on his vacation and married her in the fall. She is a beautiful brunette with dark auburn hair and eyes to match, and a figure that is perfect to some folk but the cause of all his troubles to him. She won't eat for fear she'll add a pound. And he couldn't add a pound on the calories that are set down in front of him. They're not even supposed to count up a working man's meal. She says he'll eat what she does and if she can live on them, he can.

"Cuckoo on the diet stuff," her mate reports. "What I want is a mate who shows health and eats wholesome food and is willing to let me eat it, too. Dearly as I love the one I married, I'm going to drop out of the picture. And believe me, I'm not the only fellow who's sickening of the calory girls."

That's something else to be added to the premarriage understanding—whether the girl is going to be a dieter, or just a nice, comfortable, eater. Or whether if she insists upon keeping her fourteen size, she will be generous enough to let the man take on bulk, if he chooses.

Maybe you think that that is a weak reason for marriage sickening. But try living with one of the lettuce leaf girls whose silhouette missionary work extends to her better half! That kind of girl is a trial beyond words. I've run into a few of her kind. If husband takes a man sized spoonful of potatoes, her eyes are as reproachful as if he had done gone and committed bigamy!

It's true that some men need a woman around to order them to keep their youthful figures. Keeping young that way means a good deal to a man's success in business, since unnecessary superfluous fat is now regarded as an exhibition of sloth and intemperate eating. I'm referring here, of course, to the men of comparatively early years who thicken unduly and unbecomingly.

But if you happen to draw one who needs food more than he needs reducing, for the love of Mike let him eat! Let him order a second helping. Keep your own figure as lean as you like, but don't make life uncomfortable for the other half.

Globe Trotters Say: Travel Light, Forget Your Clothes Worries

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Our best travel experts are unanimous, this season, in their advice to travel light, for a good time. The theory is that the woman overendowed with vacation clothes is far less apt to have a good time than one who uses common sense about shedding every clothes worry possible on a vacation.

The very fact that you're not burdened with a lot of show off clothes indicates you're going to get more fun out of the two weeks' stay, or out of your week-end jaunt.

After all, informality is the one thing you can go in for heavily in the summer time. And if you are like the rest of us, you can look back on some of the best times you're had [and the most attention-gained] as occasions when clothes entered not at all into the consideration.

A friend of mine went from Paris to Greece, last year. She started out from Paris with a handsome wardrobe, so she tells. Somewhere along the line the girl and her trunks separated and never did meet again until my friend got back to Paris. So, her traveling was done in a sweater suit with a top coat she carried on her arm when she started.

She bought a semi-formal chiffon dress in Athens and a pair of slippers to wear with it. Anyway, she reports a glorious time, meeting an American yacht crowd and joining it, getting off shore and going to the best hotels en route. She said: "I never had to worry once about whether I should have had on the other suit, or frock. There wasn't any other."

Vacations are often spoiled in the beginning because too much of the budget goes into changes of dress. What you want to do with a vacation is to enjoy it, to get all the outdoor life you can crowd into every one of the fourteen days. For the outdoor life you will need few changes if you choose one or two becomingly smart costumes.

Aimee Larkin, who tells in a current weekly, about packing for a good time says, "This business of vacation clothes is half art and three-quarters common sense." If you want to be a popular week-end guest, or a popular girl with the other vacationists, don't go in for impressing people with an extensive wardrobe.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

CUTTING WEEDS EFFECTIVE NOW.

Meadows, pastures, roadways and waste places, as well as fallow fields, garden corners and home sites should be given attention now in order to prevent weeds from going to seed within the next few weeks.

Clipping the weeds now will prevent further infestation, according to O. C. Lee of Purdue university. A second cutting in September will control those plants which mature seeds late in the season. For the various types of weeds, Lee recommends:

"Canada thistles: Cut them before they get to the blossom stage. Seeds are so easily carried by the wind that distant fields can be infested from a few plants in a woods.

"Iron weed, burdock, cockleburr, mullein: Cut them below the ground with a spade or spud [a chisel blade on a long handle] before seed forms.

"Quack grass with Canada thistles: The present period is one of the best for the chlorate application which can be either sodium or calcium chlorate, useful on small patches of weeds that resist other means of eradication. Due to the cost of the chlorates, this treatment is some times not feasible on large areas.

"Fanweed: This is a relatively new weed in the state of Indiana and has been introduced in clover and alfalfa seed grown in the west."

Deaf Students' Field Day.

The pupils in the deaf-oral department of the Parker Practice school will hold their fifth annual field day tomorrow in Hamilton park, West 74th street and Normal avenue.

SYNOPSIS.

[illegible] year old daughter of Iris de Bertincourt, disappears mysteriously. Iris has been estranged for years from her husband, Marcel, a man of great charm but no moral [illegible] She scouts and the possible heirs of their tyrannical aunt, the Comtesse de Cambremer.

[illegible] to divorce Marcel and marry Maj. Alan Charnwood. Charnwood and his friend Bombetter, conduct a private search for Clare.

[illegible] to her aunt's house and learns that her husband is already domiciled there. [illegible] to have reformed. Alan meets Marcel and recalls having seen him at Le Touquet, [illegible] with a coarse looking couple. That night Alan sees Marcel with Suzanne [illegible] at dinner.

A letter is sent to Iris stating that Clare is being held for ransom. Her aunt offers a [illegible] if Marcel and Iris promise to become reconciled. Marcel calls on Alan [illegible] an attempt is made to asphyxiate Alan. He moves to Tommy's [illegible]

[illegible] and flowers to Iris the night Clare vanished. From Iris's description of the [illegible] she believed them Alan recognizes him as De Bertincourt's companion in Le Touquet. [illegible] who is known to be heavily in debt, is suspected as the instigator of the kidnaping with the couple known as Yetta and Pietro his partners in crime, the motive [illegible] the ransom. Alan and Tommy make an unsuccessful search for the couple, but [illegible] that they have a half-witted son. Tommy sees Marcel leaving Suzanne Marly's [illegible] at the hour scheduled for him to deliver the ransom. Alan calls on Iris and learns [illegible] has not returned home. Marcel arrives shortly after, badly beaten up, and declares [illegible] was robbed by the kidnapers. Tommy and Alan tell the story to the police. [illegible] refuses to question Marcel and find he has vanished. They leave to search for Yetta [illegible] of Pietro, in the neighborhood outside of Paris where they are supposed to dwell, each [illegible] private vehicle.

INSTALLMENT LII.

A LOST TRAIL.

In spite of rebuffs Charnwood kept on stubbornly hour after hour, but what [illegible] he had hit upon not the remotest clew. Disheartened and weary, he had now reached the utmost limits of his allotted space and had begun to encroach on the borders of Chartres. Little use going farther afield. If the Lepins were domiciled south of here they would scarcely go all the way to Nogent to travel to Paris. Two ideas occurred to him—one that the deserted house was a pure invention fabricated to entice a childish mind, the other that Clare's captors were not Lepin and Warshavsky at all, but some quite different persons, living heaven knows where. Yet each time [illegible] caught sight of a pond shimmering in the twilight his heart gave a bound. Alas [illegible], and a moment later perished miserably.

Now in the depths of the country, with night coming on and the byroads [illegible] he foresaw an increasing difficulty in finding his way about, but [illegible] as he cursed the thickening gloom a far more serious handicap arose. The motorcycle, which some time ago had developed an ominous rattle, showed signs of total collapse. Finally, in a lonely stretch of lane, it gave a [illegible] and refused to go another inch.

This was a calamitous misfortune. Here he was stranded, miles from [illegible], and deprived of the means of getting back. Worse, he was burdened with a heavy machine which he would have to push for a long distance before he could find a safe place to leave it. For ten minutes he tinkered desperately, only to discover two teeth missing from a cogwheel. Nothing to be done. He sat down on the nearest bank, wiped the sweat from his eyes, and took stock of the situation.

He was a fool, he told himself, to have ventured so far. The whole project, for that matter, was a piece of fatuous stupidity, founded on an assumption he had never really believed in. A week might be spent in fruitless search, while the crude fact was that Clare, if still alive, must be found [illegible]

"Hallo, hallo, you?" he shouted.

[illegible] else every effort would be thrown to the winds.

[illegible] he could not deny the faint hope that Tommy or the police had been [illegible] himself. He felt an urgent desire to get in touch [illegible] and learn what luck they had had. But where was he?

He recalled that for a longish interval he had not passed a signpost or [illegible], therefore it seemed more sensible to go forward than back. It [illegible] take him many minutes to come across something he could identify, [illegible] find a telephone or a garage where a car could be obtained.

Springing up, he glared with hatred at the cause of his difficulty. Should [illegible] vent with the abominable wreck now that precious moments [illegible] ebbing away?

"Good God, no!" he muttered, giving it a kick. "I'd rather pay for the [illegible]"

So, dragging the cycle behind a hedge, he set off rapidly, hoping in a [illegible] to reach some vestige of civilization.

A tiresome bridge down into a valley and up again to the brow of a [illegible] It made it seem as though nature itself had joined in a conspiracy to foil [illegible] straight as a yardstick the interminable lane stretched ahead, its [illegible] hedges showing not a break. He was fuming with irritation when [illegible] he came upon a tiny hovel whose pent window sent forth a feeble [illegible]. Thankful for small mercies, he rapped on the door to inquire the dis[illegible] to the nearest settlement.

An old woman with a hide like an elephant answered his knock. The [illegible] she spoke was barely intelligible, but having established some sort of [illegible], he managed to gather what he wanted. He was three kilo[illegible] from the village of Antoine-Eglise, but over there—she pointed a [illegible]—lay the main road to Chartres, which he could attain by [illegible] of a short cut across the fields. A little farther along he would see [illegible], on the other side of which was the footpath. The latter would lead [illegible] to a public house called the Jeanne d'Arc, where the landlord [illegible] might supply him with information.

As he was about to hurry on his way she called him back and added a [illegible] of caution.

"Stay well to the path, monsieur," she said in her obscure patois. "In [illegible] is easy to stray off, and if you are not careful you may find your[illegible] into the——" here she mentioned a noun unknown to him in [illegible] significance—carrière. She repeated it several times with em[illegible], but indeed, this carrière was dangerous, a veritable death trap. [illegible] a gentleman shooting rabbits slipped into it and got a nasty [illegible] on the head. She tapped her wrinkled skull wisely and nodded like [illegible]

Not entirely comprehending, Charnwood thanked her, then, roused to [illegible] by the aroma of onion soup, purchased a hunk of bread and [illegible] off, munching.

The stars were full out, ablaze of cold spangles. By their light he found [illegible], not swinging himself over it, saw before him a trodden path bisect[illegible] an apparently limitless tract of fallow ground. Flat as far as the eye [illegible], it merged on the left into dense shadows which he took to [illegible]

A thin mist had risen. It lay breast high, so that he seemed to be [illegible] a milk white sea. Trailers of it drifted here and there, and [illegible] the wooded bit it lay like a thick blanket, suggesting some [illegible]. There, very likely, lurked the menacing "carrière" of which [illegible] had spoken with so much earnestness. Only what was a [illegible]? He only knew the word as meaning career. Not that it mattered. [illegible] important now except to communicate with Tommy and find [illegible]. He strode ahead swiftly towards the goal of the tavern.

Then, heedlessly, for he had not gone a great distance before he [illegible] an unexpected declension of the path. Next he was puzzled to see a [illegible] loom up out of the mist. Another, a third, then a whole [illegible] rose about him in massed formation. How was this? He [illegible] unwittingly into the midst of a copse.

A few minutes more and the wood ended as abruptly as it had begun. [illegible] was sinking deeper and deeper into a bog which sucked and tugged [illegible] progress was rendered almost impossible. He produced his [illegible] and the long streamer of light in front of him, and stopped with [illegible] astonishment.

Everywhere, slimy and yellow where the ray clove the layer of fog. [illegible] under his nose, only a few yards away, the yawning brink of a precipice! [illegible] halted none too soon. Somewhere, obviously, the path had forked [illegible] he had taken the wrong direction.

And there, then, was the carrière—this disused quarry whose sides, deeply [illegible] and slippery from recent rains, sloped sheerly downward almost a [illegible] feet. Far away at the bottom he made out the dull gleam of stag[illegible] water collected in a pool, and round the edge a honeycomb of caves [illegible] blasted tunnels. A ruined workmen's shack clung to an island of [illegible] bits of broken machinery—a wheel here, an iron shaft there—[illegible] out of the slough.

It had been at the best of times. Now, surrounded by inky shade, its [illegible] as one

CHAMPIONS TO STAR IN SPORTS CONGRESS CAST

d Group of 5,500 Sunday.

The Program

THE program for the Chicagoland Sports Congress to be held at Soldiers' field next Sunday afternoon follows:

[illegible]—Finish and flag raising.
[illegible]—Children's games and Theodore Dunn.
[illegible]—Address by Herve Cornish.
[illegible]—Riverview Junior High school.
[illegible]—Girls' events and Riverview girls' drill.
[illegible]—Cosmopolitan Schools.
[illegible]—Swimming instructions.
[illegible]—Try of war, 500 competitors.
[illegible]—Mammoth apparatus drill, 750 competitors.
[illegible]—Polish Falcons.
[illegible]—Mass drill.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Thousands in mass drills. Fifty boxers demonstrating the art of the ad and broadsword. Seven hundred gymnasts. Five hundred men in a mammoth tug of war. Twenty-five relay teams of eight members each. Band, drum corps. Three and a half hours of entertainment unparalleled. This is the Chicagoland Sports Congress which will be held Sunday afternoon at Soldiers' field under the auspices of The Tribune.

Poles, Germans, Czechs, Slovaks, Scandinavians, Ukrainians, high school athletes, southwest parks' athletes.

These are the participants in the finest athletic gathering ever held in this country.

Athletic Plan for Throng.

So it seems one can see this gigantic pageant of mass activity. Thousands undoubtedly will attend. The directors and members of the two score athletic clubs have worked for weeks planning and drilling are enthusiastic. They believe that, with good weather, the largest crowd ever to assemble in Soldiers' field for a purely athletic exhibition will be in the seats Sunday afternoon.

Tickets will be on sale before noon. Every hostile, on the east, south and west sides of the Stadium, will sell admissions. Twenty-seven gates will be open. But if the crowd reaches 50,000 [many believe it will be larger] the facilities will be taxed to handle the throng in two hours.

No tickets will be sold at the north entrance. The Court of Honor, closed to all traffic except the 24 buses which will bring contestants from all sections of Illinois, will be the assembly ground for the 5,000 participants in the massive parade which opens the Congress at 1:45 o'clock.

Champions to Participate.

The Chicagoland Sports Congress, with contestants from Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha, Aurora and all metropolitan districts, deals in large numbers. But in this cast will be some world and national champions. The best swordsmen of the United States will be on the field when the fencing tournaments stage their panorama of Teutonic sports. The gymnastic exhibitions on parallel and horizontal bars, booms, horses, include a [illegible] of contestants champions who have won their honors in national and international competition.

For instance, there is Henry Kraft, dean of Illinois fencers, and member of an Olympic turnverein. Sixty-six years of age, Kraft has fought with rod and broadsword for 58 years. Born in Bavaria, coming to this country when he was 12, Kraft has held the national championship of the American Turnerbund for 23 years.

Sons Acquire Skill.

His son, Julio and Herman Kraft, have followed their father's teachings well and they possess his skill with the weapons they used in war, but are willing to demonstrate his skill and agility. When these boys meet in a fencing competition Sunday, the flashing blades will illustrate the social conduct of German noblemen a century ago.

The nimbleness, dexterity and strategy of D'Artagnan and the musketeers of Dumas still are attributes of the fencer. Today the sword point is buttoned and the face and body are protected, but the inch and a half mark of the broadsword still

Cubs to Use Sweetland and Malone Today

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 17.—The Cubs had a nice trip east, thank you, and think they probably will win both games of the double header with the Brooklyn Robins tomorrow afternoon.

The last time the Cubs were here, the middle of last month, the weather held them to one game with the Robins, but this time they are to play five in four days, if the weather continues anywhere near as nice as it is right now.

Pat Malone will attempt to hold his temper in the first contest tomorrow and Lester Sweetland will try to left hand himself to his seventh victory in the sundown number.

Three Double Headers Carded.

This double header in Brooklyn will be the first of three on the trip, which calls for 18 games. There will be one double header against the Giants and one against the Braves. Philadelphia was the only place it didn't rain during the first swing of the Cubs.

While the Chicagoans were willing to admit large gobs of luck helped them in their uphill triumph over the Braves in the Chicago final, the outcome placed the boys in fine fettle and there is much talk of making the current visitations most glorious successes.

Cards Must Face Braves.

One of the things that heartens the bunch is that the Cards right off must encounter a test of six games in four days against the rampant Bostonians. Not so much is being said about the Giants, who are the possessors of an unbroken chain of five straight. They will seek to prolong the streak against the Pirates beginning tomorrow.

Manager Hornsby withheld announcement as to the status of Player Hornsby, but it has been indicated he will be back at second base tomorrow.

Kid Chocolate Whips Leiner in Ten Rounds

White Plains, N. Y., June 17.—(AP)—Kid Chocolate, Cuban featherweight, decisively outpointed Maxie Leiner of New York in a ten round bout here tonight. The Cuban floored his opponent for counts of eight in the first and second rounds.

O'CONNELL WINS OVER LEJECK IN WESTERN TENNIS

Rainville Defeats Nord in Close Match.

Tournament favorites will be put to the test today when the western tennis championship moves into the semi-finals at River Forest. Seeded players alone remain, and the card today promises the first real upsets of the week's title play.

In the fourth round matches yesterday Frank O'Connell, former Big Ten champion, defeated Leo Lejeck of Chicago, 6-4, 6-2. Both were seeded players. O'Connell, by using accurate placements and short, choppy shots, was able to down the dogged Lejeck.

Rainville Tries Hard.

Marcel Rainville, diminutive Canadian Davis cup star, extended himself to the limit to down Roland Nord, youthful Chicagoan and former Northwestern university star, 6-4, 8-6. Nord repeatedly balked Rainville's efforts to play the net by bouncing his returns high and forcing the Canadian back. This was the first strenuous competition the favorite has met thus far. Nord played excellent tennis, but tired under Rainville's swift pace.

Another bitterly fought match features George O'Connell and W. E. Parkhill, 8-6, 6-4. Both are from Chicago. O'Connell, one of the tournament favorites, won only after a particularly close contest. Herbert L. Bowman, a strong contender for the title, defeated Art Kaiser, chunky Oak Parker, in a fast set, 6-4, 6-0. The stocky Metropolitan champion played a steady game, completely tiring Kaiser.

Other seeded players, Rexinger, Charles Lejeck, Cogreshall, and George Jennings, sailed through their matches without difficulty.

The only upset of the tournament thus far occurred in the women's singles. Ruth Oexman of Cincinnati, seeded number five, was unable to cope with the pace maintained by Emily Johnson of Detroit, and lost, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Doubles Matches Start.

Clara Louise Zinke, Cincinnati flash, played two matches yesterday, winning both easily. Other seeded women players advanced into the third round with no apparent challenge.

The doubles matches got under way yesterday without untoward incidents in the early rounds. The team of Louis Thalheimer and Luke Williams, however, is expected to cause Marcel Rainville and Herbert Bowman considerable trouble. Thalheimer and Williams, both former collegiate players, are entered only in the doubles event, since Thalheimer previously had defaulted in the opening round of the men's singles.

MEN'S SINGLES, THIRD ROUND.
John Krifka Jr., Chicago, defeated Leo Kulp, Chicago, 7-5, 6-4.

FOURTH ROUND.
Marcel Rainville, Montreal, defeated Roland Nord, Chicago, 6-3, 8-6.
Scott Rexinger, Chicago, defeated Jack Harris, Chicago, 6-3, 6-4.
John Bowman, New York, defeated Art Kaiser, Chicago, 6-4, 6-0.
Charles Lejeck, Chicago, defeated John Krifka, Chicago, 6-4, 6-2.
Harris Corgeshall, Des Moines, Ia., defeated Eugene Quinn, Chicago, 6-1, 6-2.
Frank O'Connell, Chicago, defeated Leo Lejeck, Chicago, 6-4, 6-2.
George Jennings, Chicago, defeated T. R. Halsted, Chicago, 6-1, 6-2.
George O'Connell, Chicago, defeated W. E. Parkhill, Chicago, 8-6, 6-4.

WOMEN'S SINGLES, SECOND ROUND.
Clara Louise Zinke, Cincinnati, defeated Helen Bates, Chicago, 6-0, 6-0.
Jean Gordon, Chicago, defeated Marion Filker, Chicago, 6-1, 6-0.
Ruth Oexman, Cincinnati, O., defeated Esther Weigel, Chicago, 6-0, 6-2.
Marion Kronberg, Chicago, defeated Vera Traylord, Chicago, 6-2, 2-6, 9-7.

THIRD ROUND.
Clara Louise Zinke, Cincinnati, defeated Jean Gordon, Chicago, 6-3, 6-1.
Louise Hofmeister, Chicago, defeated Flossie Basler, Chicago, 6-1, 6-1.
Mae Cuery [illegible], Wichita, Kas., defeated Bernice "Jackie" Ayer, Chicago, 6-3, 6-4.
Catherine Wolf, Indianapolis, Ind., defeated Margaret Weichboldt, Chicago, 6-3, 6-3.
Mrs. E. C. Johnson, Detroit, Mich., defeated Ruth Oexman, Cincinnati, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5.
Mrs. Ruth Reiss, Saginaw, Mich., defeated Mrs. Florence Whittlesler, Chicago, 6-2, 6-2.
Eugenia Sampson, Winnetka, defeated Marion Kronberg, Chicago, 6-3, 6-2.

America's Full of Ebullience These Days--It Comes in Pints

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 17.—We were sitting and talking and speaking to one another in a room at the old Nelson house, a hotel which apparently antedates the civil war, on the night of the big rowboat competition on the Hudson river at Poughkeepsie.

By nature a pessimist, I nevertheless ventured the notion that the American people were becoming more law-abiding and more dignified year by year, taking the prevailing calm and quiet as my example and comparing it to some of the historic ructions of the old days. It was true that there was some mild lawlessness going on at the time, denoted by occasional sour crescendoes of song pouring out through the transom of some of the rooms.

"Just a gigolo-o-o, everywhere I go-o-o," conflicted with "Anchors Aweigh," babbled by somebody who did not know the words. Incidentally it would be unjust to blame the United States Naval academy for all the furious, foul singing of "Anchors Aweigh" in the last couple of years. It used to be a more or less private song. As I understand the story of its great spread, Rudy Vallee first resurrected the Maine stein song, which is a Harvard song turned inside out, as you will note when they are played in duet on one keyboard, and some alert promoter of music, knowing "Anchors Aweigh" for a better dancing piece, obtained the rights to same and made it public.

"Just a gigolo-o-o, everywhere I go-o-o."

"Sail, navy, down the field——"

"It's a quiet night," I remarked. "No bottles crashing into the street. Nobody throwing any bricks through store windows as that ebullient young man did in the historic celebration of '95. What has happened to the ebullience?"

"The ebullience is still there," said Mr. Lawrence Perry, Princeton '06, the perpetual sophomore. "Take that night after a football game in Los Angeles just a few years ago. 'Twenty-eight, was it, or 'twenty-nine? Along in there. Why, there was some of the greatest ebullience that this country has ever known. They started by throwing bottles out the window. When they progressed to the small furniture. Then they tried to throw the big upholstered pieces out, but they wouldn't go through the frames. So they took them apart and threw them.

"It was pretty hard work without any tools, but they were full of ebullition and willing hands make easy work, as I believe the maxim goes. They even dismembered a couple of pianos, too, and threw them out, and finally, having no more furniture large enough to command their attention, the boys rolled up an innocent bystander in a mattress, tied him good, and hurled the mattress out of a high window—the sixth story, I believe."

Incident of the Pool Table.

"You don't tell me," I exclaimed, much cheered. "Of course, I remember something of the kind happening in Louisville on Derby night a few years ago. Some heavy object of furniture went out the window. Some said it was a pool table and others said it was just a bed that fell out accidentally. But the ebullience was not collegiate. The boys were members of a party of sinister characters from Cicero, Ill., who had come down in a special train of private cars with those solid gold grille tailboards on them to enjoy the sport of kings. Naturally, they would not respect the law.

"And I remember one pleasant afternoon in Houston, Tex., about three years ago just now, when the Democratic party had gathered to name their man for the quadrennial solemn referendum. The hotel elevators were crowded at all times and people were being passed as they waited for a ride up or down. Suddenly there came a sound of small arms at the elevator landing and people rushed out of the rooms to discover a gentleman standing there with an empty six-gun and six punctures in the glass doors of the shaft. But he was a prominent politician, and naturally one need not fear that politicians will respect the law. Moreover, public

In the WAKE of the NEWS

PUBLICITY.

IT is no secret that big fights like the Schmeling-Stribling bout at Cleveland July 3, race tracks, in fact many sports enterprises, engage publicity experts to ballyhoo their wares. This is perfectly legitimate else large corporations, most universities and colleges, political figures, civic bodies, even the Anti-Saloon league, would not employ public relations counsel, a more dignified term, to present their propaganda for publication, if possible.

This is not said in derogation by The Wake. Such duties require unusual talents. These representatives furnish much valuable information. It is up to the editors to determine when it ceases to be valuable. Often, however, there are stories "good" enough to be published whether or not one believes them true. Such a yarn comes from the facile typewriter of Jim Jennings at Cleveland. In this instance we have no reason to doubt its verity other than it is essentially different from a yarn we acquired at Endicott, N. Y., when Schmeling was training to meet Sharkey for the world title. It concerns how Max happened to enter boxing. Here is the digest:

Seven years ago, Schmeling ended a successful career as a professional strong man. He wandered into a beer garden at Mulheim, patronized by actors and boxers. He ordered beer and limburger cheese. Two other guests, one a Negro, and one an Englishman, objected to the cheese odor and offered to toss Max out. As they walked away, Max threw a piece of cheese at them.

The Negro, later identified as Rocky Knight, American heavyweight, started for Max when the Englishman, a welterweight named Bombardier Booth, intervened. The ensuing argument resulted in a wager that Max, 40 pounds heavier, could not hit Booth during a period of two minutes. Booth to move no more than three feet at any time. Booth gave odds of 3 to 2.

Schmeling swung and swung, Booth headslipped or sidestepped and won the wager. After payment of their bet, they revealed their identity and Booth presented Max with a book entitled "How to Box," by Jem Driscoll. Max had it translated and six months later defeated Knight in the ring. Booth succumbed to influenza shortly afterward.

Now isn't that good "publicity"? We fail for it simply as publicity. If you have read this far, so do you.

Cure for What Ails Us.

Sir: We have a new illness out this way which seems general throughout the country. It is called "Depressionitis." The onset is so slow and gradual that it is hardly discernible until the illness is far advanced and the patient is nearly ready to give up the ghost. The chief cause seems to be weakening of the backbone.

The cure: Just a little common sense, a real will to work and save, and a reaffirmation of the ideals which always have been enshrined in the hearts of all true Americans. Slim.

MATE'S WORKOUT MAKES HIM 2-1 DERBY FAVORITE

Gallant Knight Sets New Track Record.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Mate, the Preakness winner, has been made the favorite to win the renewal of the American "Open" Derby at Washington Park on Saturday afternoon.

The latest odds flashed last night showed Mate quoted at 2 to 1. Sun Meadow, second to Twenty Grand in the Belmont stakes, was the second choice at 5 to 2. Boys Howdy, victor in the Derby trial, had the third largest following and was quoted at 5 to 1.

A brilliant workout by Mate, in which he galloped easily over the Washington Park mile and an eighth course in 1:55 2-5, made it certain that he will be the post time favorite. The announcement that Sun Meadow will be transferred from Arlington Park to Washington Park this morning and will work over the Homewood track between races this afternoon removed all doubt as to whether he will seek the Derby prize.

Dozen Starts Certain.

As the betting became brisk on this most open of all the big 3 year old specials, there seemed to be no way of predicting how big the field will be. There are nineteen probable starters. A dozen were regarded as certainties to start, and the field threatened to swell to an unheard of size for a $50,000 race as the owners of eligibles studied the result of the Derby trial.

Everything happened in the Derby trial that wasn't supposed to have happened. Also the owners cannot forget last year's race when Reveille Boy, the extreme outsider, turned up the victor.

The nineteen which may face the barrier are:

Mate	Joey Bibb
Sun Meadow	Boys Howdy
Spanish Play	Lightning Bolt
Oswego	Ladder
Pittsburgher	Sunny Lassie
Morpheus	Knights Call
Up	No More
Don Leon	The Mongrel
Scotland's Glory	Prince d'Amour
Abdel

There are other Derby possibilities that could be added to this list, and some of them may start.

Derby Crowd Gathers.

The Derby became the all important topic with racegoers yesterday. The crowd at Washington Park was the largest mid-week gathering of the season. Hundreds in the advance guard of the Derby throng had arrived in Chicago. They watched thrilling racing throughout the afternoon.

They saw Gallant Knight, the Audley farm four year old which was left at the post in the Suburban handicap, shatter the Washington Park track record at a mile in the East End Park Hotel handicap.

Gallant Knight, holder of the world's record at seven furlongs, ran his mile in 1:36 4-5, taking a fifth of a second off the old record made during this meeting by Bargello. As he skimmed over the lightning fast strip in record smashing time, he beat Satin Spar from California by a neck.

Mike Hall Third.

Running out in the middle of the track and finishing with all his old time courage, but beaten a length and a half, was old Mike Hall, winner of the $100,000 Agua Caliente handicap. The route was a little too short for Mike. Lady Broadcast the only other starter was several lengths back of Mike Hall.

The players forgot Gallant Knight's refusal to start in the Suburban handicap and backed him so heavily he was the overwhelming favorite at less than 1 to 2. While he beat Satin Spar by only a neck, he had a lot of run left. He was running much stronger than Satin Spar at the finish and was going with just as much courage as Mike Hall.

Cousin Jo Loses Again.

Gallant Knight looks like a champion. Mokatam and Questionnaire, which beat him in the Suburban, will have to step mighty lively if they

TEE OFF TODAY

Gene Sarazen, leading money winner of the winter season, will tee off with the 109 golfers at Dayton, O., today in defense of his western open championship.

Walter Hagen, five times western champion, looms as Sarazen's greatest threat. He shot a 70, including four birdies, in a practice round over the title course yesterday.

Mastro Boxes Mike O'Dowd Here Tonight

Earl Mastro will be under the close surveillance of boxing critics tonight when he meets Midget Mike O'Dowd in the feature bout on Jim Mullen's outdoor boxing show at Mills Stadium.

Mastro, idle for nearly a year as a result of an operation, must win decisively over O'Dowd to climb back among the featherweight elite, a position he held a year ago before he ran against Fidel La Barba in a contest at the Chicago Stadium. La Barba held him to a draw.

O'Dowd Rugged Foe.

Defeating O'Dowd is not easily accomplished, for the Columbus veteran has met the best featherweights and held his own with all of them. Two years ago O'Dowd gave Mastro a busy evening, closing Earl's left eye. A close decision was rendered in Mastro's favor.

O'Dowd, very active of late, figures to be in a better condition than Mastro, who undoubtedly will be affected by his long inactivity.

Should Earl display the class tonight he had last year, he will be in line for several major engagements which may lead to a championship encounter this summer. Pete Reilly, manager of the champion, Bat Battalino, has already signified his willingness to let Battalino defend his title against Mastro.

Justo Meets Sharkey.

The Mastro-O'Dowd fight, scheduled for ten rounds, heads Mullen's 44 round card. An eight round semi-windup brings together Pep Justo and Joe Sharkey, local middleweights. Justo got off the floor last Thursday at Mills stadium to lick Jackie Horner. He will be seeking his sixteenth straight victory tonight. Sharkey has licked Haakon Hanson and a number of other well known 160 pounders. The card:

Earl Mastro, Chicago, vs. Midget Mike O'Dowd, Columbus, 10 rounds.
Pep Justo, Chicago, vs. Joe Sharkey, Chicago, 8 rounds.
Les Finnucane, Chicago, vs. Al Engle, Muskegon, 6 rounds.
Le Roy Dugan, Memphis, vs. Kid Irish, Chicago, 6 rounds.
Oscar Liebman, Chicago, vs. Pat Murphy, Evansville, 4 rounds.
Small Change, Chicago, vs. Sammy Goldman, Grand Rapids, 4 rounds.

EVERYBODY'S ON DECK FOR MEET EXCEPT ARMOUR

Dudley Shoots 69 in Trial Round.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Dayton, O., June 17.—An exclusive field of 110 professionals and amateurs will set forth over the deceptively dimpled geography of the Miami Valley Golf club tomorrow morning in the first round of the thirty-second annual western open golf tournament. They will play 18 holes tomorrow, with the 100 low scorers and ties for 100th place becoming eligible for another 18 holes Friday. The 64 survivors will engage in the 36 hole final round Saturday.

The exclusive note in the proceedings resulted from several last minute withdrawals, which left 50 less players than teed off the 1930 tournament at Detroit. The most notable of these late scratches was none other than Tommy Armour, British open champion.

Unlikely to Start.

Tommy, who set the western open record of 273 when he won the title at Milwaukee in 1929, now holds the P. G. A., Canadian, and British open championships. He was officially entered in the meet here even before he had returned from his victory at Carnoustie, but his whereabouts today remained a mystery. Officials of the tournament, headed by Leslie S. Gordon, president of the Western Golf association, renewed their efforts to locate him tonight, but it appeared almost certain that Tommy would not be among those present at the starting tee tomorrow.

The absence of Armour, however, does not mean that the tournament will be lacking in big time talent. Among the late arrivals at the Miami Valley course today were Walter Hagen, winner of the meet in 1914, 1921, 1924, and 1927, not to mention several appearances in the runner up position; Gene Sarazen, leading money winner of the winter season and defending champion in the event, the Dutra brothers, Mortie and Olin, from the Pacific coast; George Von Elm, the business man golfer; Ed Dudley, Concordville, Pa.; Abe Espinosa of the Medinah Country club, Chicago, and Chick Evans of Chicago.

Hagen Shoots a 70.

Hagen showed that he's willing to make it five western titles by going around the course in 70, accumulating birdies on the sixth, seventh, eighth and tenth holes. From the tenth he shot par golf.

Von Elm, who played with him, concluded the eighteen holes with a 73. Sarazen joined them in the middle of the round, but didn't keep score, contenting himself with just tagging along. Gene gave the clubhouse gallery a thrill on the 18th green, where his forty foot putt skimmed the rim of the cup and then trickled away.

The Miami Valley course is reputed to be a very ornery proposition in the variety and stubbornness of its traps, but one foursome composed of the Brothers Dutra, Dudley and Johnny Dawson has been subduing it regularly in trial rounds since Monday.

Dudley, a long, languid chap, who spanks his tee shots surprising distances with equally surprising ease, came home with a card of 69 in a test round today. His performance included birdies on the ninth, tenth and fifteenth holes, a 35 foot chip shot accounting for the last one.

Dutras Shoot 72, 73.

The Dutras, whose personal architecture approximates that of Primo Carnera, were slightly off today, Olin bringing home a 72 and Mortie a 73. The latter has been receiving considerable attention because of this deadly iron play, with which he burned up the course Monday in 69 and returned with a 70 yesterday. Dawson also had a 70 yesterday, but wound up with a 74 today. All said the course is in perfect condition for tomorrow's opening.

The Miami layout, which has a total yardage of 6,645, includes a couple of lengthy holes, the sixth going 546 yards and the twelfth 593. Par for the course follows:

Out	445	346	434—36

The expert guessing club goes from 278 to 291 in venturing to pick the winning score for the 72 hole competition. Sarazan won last year's title with a 276 which included three under par rounds.

Von Elm's Thumb Injured.

Von Elm, who drove in from Detroit with Hagen this afternoon, will play with a dislocated left thumb, as the result of an argument with a rumble seat cover in Los Angeles seven weeks ago. George has had a specially made splint rigged up for the ailing member, grooved so as to fit the club handle.

Aside from Chick Evans and Abe Espinosa, the Chicago district golfers entered in the tournament are Wallie Reich, Cog Hill; Jim Faltus, Casa Delmar; Bob McDonald; Frank Garrity, Acacia; Orville Schell, Naperville; Jack McDonald, Southmoor; Joe Paletti, Olympic; Willie Hoare; Al Haskbarth, Park Ridge, and Wallie Chamberlain, Westward Ho.

SCOUTS HAVE SECOND CANOE TEST SATURDAY

Many Boys Want to Go on Tribune Trip.

BY BOB BECKER.

More canoe tests are on the schedule for the Boy Scouts who wish to join THE TRIBUNE'S Flambeau river canoeing and camping trip, which will start down stream from a point above Park Falls the morning of June 27. The second series of trials will be held Saturday afternoon at the Lincoln Park Boat club.

So many Scouts want to go this year that it was impossible for Vincent Smith, former single blade canoeing champion, to test all of the applicants in one afternoon so two sessions were necessary.

Hardest Test Yet.

The examination this year is the hardest that has been given by Mr. Smith to any group of Scouts applying for places on a TRIBUNE cruise. The boys are called upon for nearly every trick with a paddle they will have to use in navigating a river. The test includes capsizing the canoe, righting it so that it can be moved easily and then swimming behind it while pushing it to land.

Although a number of the Scouts who took their tests last Saturday passed the examination, several are being called back for another tryout next Saturday afternoon, along with those who have not yet shown their prowess. Following this final test the Scouts chosen for the cruise will be notified at once by Scout headquarters when and where to report for the start northward.

To See Real Forests.

This year the lucky youngsters who go on the Flambeau cruise, sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will see some real forests and a river that is known as one of the most beautiful in Wisconsin. Moreover, there are several pitches of rapids to be negotiated which should give the youngsters a few thrills. All the boys will sleep in pup tents on the trip and seven or eight different camps will be made from the start down to Ladysmith, the finishing point.

According to a report received yesterday from Park Falls, recent rains have raised the water level of the river so that it should be about right for the cruise.

"Was he suffering from ebullition?" Mr. Perry inquired.

"Crowded to the gills with it," I said. "He was a politician.

Country Club Ebullience.

"I remember, also, an evening at a country club where one of our great scoring machines was stopping the night before a big football game in the east. The people were dining and dancing on the marble floor surrounding the swimming pool and one young man threw an elderly waiter into the pool. The water was cold and the waiter was very blue as he made the stairs and started to climb out. But the young man threw him back in again several times. Then the waiter had a heart attack and almost died.

"But that was at a country club, frequented by the best people, so it did not mean anything. They aren't supposed to respect the law."

Encouraging Signs in Boston.

"I think," said a Mr. Kelly interrupting at this point, "that, far from subsiding, ebullience is on the increase in this country. It is true that the celebrations at Poughkeepsie have abated, but Poughkeepsie is an isolated case. The facilities are limited. I was in Boston one night during a great convention not long ago, when a young man leaped from a mezzanine rail into the midst of a cut glass chadelier worth $3,000 dangling over the lobby and brought it down. Other young men drove those little June bug automobiles into the lobbies and held a speedaway race. It was an encouraging sign of vitality in the race which you have recklessly accused of turning law abiding.

"And have you ever been over at a swell hotel near New London on a boat race night? I advise you to go there next Friday evening after the race. You would come away convinced that the succeeding generations are maintaining the most ebullient traditions of their forbears. You will have to pay $75 for your room, because they do not rent you the furniture. They sell it to you. You can set fire to it, chop it up, throw it out the window, or dump it in the river, because it's yours. When you sit down to drink your refreshments you are charged for the glasses and the bowl containing the ice. They are yours, too. Smash them on the floor, throw them at the ceiling, or bite chunks out of them as many of our more ebullient young gentlemen and ladies often do. You might as well, because when you order your next round of ginger ale or mineral water you will have to buy another complete set of glasses and an ice bowl, anyway.

"It makes me tired," Mr. Kelly said impatiently, "to hear people say that this country is becoming law-abiding. This country is all right."

Thrust, parry, repost and parry, with lightning rapidity. These movements, executed by a hundred blades, will be part of Chicagoland's display Sunday.

Members of the turnvereins, of five universities and the Illinois Fencers league will take part in the combat with foil, saber and broadsword.

Then there is Emil Scherzinger, all around gymnastic champion of the A. A. U. and the A. A. F, and three times international champion in 1924, 1925 and 1926. Scherzinger's last international competition was at Lucerne, Switzerland, in 1928.

Scherzinger was born in Winterthur, Switzerland, 31 years ago, and has been in America two and a half years. He is a member of the Schweizer turnverein. Scherzinger is a master at all gymnastic exercises.

But Scherzinger and his fellow champions, men and women, will compete, not as individuals, but in a group. Not only will they demonstrate their ability during the Turnverein number, but they will be on the field with the 700 gymnasts.

These are only a few of the star performers. All of the thousands are proficient. From beginning to conclusion, the mass numbers have no precedent in Chicago presentation. All races and organizations are united for the first time. And all Chicago is invited to attend.

Blackstock, Smith Meet on Mat Card

Promoter Doc Krone yesterday completed his outdoor all-heavyweight wrestling show to be staged next Monday night at Mills' stadium. The fifth match will be between Jack Smith, Chicago, and Marshall Blackstock of Georgia. They will meet in a time limit match.

In one of the two main events, Frank Bronowicz, Polish heavyweight, will mix with Jim McMillen, former football player at the University of Illinois. The other attraction will match Hans Steinke of Germany and Jim Clinkstock, Oklahoma Indian. Each of these contests will be one fall to a finish.

One of the other two matches is between Karl Pojello, Chicago Lithuanian, and Nazareno Poggi of Italy.

Harvard Beats Yale, 4-3, to Square Series

Boston, Mass., June 17.—(AP)—Harvard rallied to score three runs in the last of the ninth today and nose out Yale, 4 to 3, in the second game of their series. Yale won the opening game.

CHAMPION LOSES IN ST. LOUIS GOLF TOURNEY

St. Louis, Mo., June 17.—(AP)—Mrs. J. Walter Beyer, Tulsa, Okla., state champion, ousted Mrs. Hulbert S. Clarke, defending champion, from the fifth annual Women's Transmississippi Golf tournament here today, 3 and 2, advancing to the quarter-finals with a quartet of St. Louisians, the tournament medalist from Kansas City, a par striking Iowan and the Kansas state titleholder.

Miss Webster, playing her usual game close to par, easily triumphed over Mrs. A. A. Kennedy of Tulsa, today, 5 and 4. The Kansan shot the first nine in 39, one over par and was 4 up at the turn.

Lucille Robinson, 19 year old Des Moines girl, turned in another even par total for the 18 holes she played in defeating Mrs. Perry Fisk of De Kalb, Ill., former women's western champion, 6 and 5. Yesterday the Des Moines girl was even with par when her first round match ended at the eleventh green.

7 INTERNATIONAL STARS IN CELTICS LINEUP SUNDAY

When the Bricklayers face the Irish Glasgow Celtics, considered the world's greatest soccer team, at Wrigley field Sunday, they will be playing against seven international players, according to a telegram received yesterday from Manager Willie Maley of the Celts.

These seven men—Jimmy McGrory, John, Robert, Alec Thomson, Jimmy McStay, Pete Wilson and Pete Kavanaugh—have at various times been picked to play in the inter-country matches in Europe.

A reinforced Bricklayer eleven will oppose the Scotch-Irish championship team as Manager Billy Alexander has signed Davie Imrie, the Jugoslav center who led the Intercity league in scoring and Baba Vleck, the cleverest forward in Chicago who scored the two goals that gave Sparta the Peel cup championship Sunday.

ILLINOIS SENIOR GOLF TITLE WON BY DR. WEBSTER

Takes Low Net Honors with 86–14–72.

Dr. George W. Webster remains champion of the Illinois senior golfers. Saturday at Olympia Fields he shot 86–14–72 to lead class A, embracing men of 70 years of age and over, and captured the low net honor with 72.

There were 145 playing, divided into two classes. Charley Booth, ranked with the "youngsters" in class C, 60 years old, had low gross for the entire field. His shot was 90–41—81.

There were many who in former years were prominent in tournament golf, and who can still shoot a good game. Twenty-nine of the entries enjoyed a handicap of 10 strokes or more. For over 30s, 1 course is 72, but while none equaled perfect figures, there were many scores in the low 80's. The winners in the various classes:

CLASS A—70 years and over: First low gross, W. Brown, 98—18—72; second, Robert F. Preston, 101—27—74; third, Dr. Frank Williams, 107—26—76. Least putts—Charles Beach, 31; Robert W. Hall, 32. Low gross—Robert W. Hall, 98; second, C. S. Castle, 99.

CLASS B—60 to 69 years—First low net—Dr. George W. Webster, 86—14—72; second, William J. Cox, 89—15—74; third, G. D. Beckley, 89—15—74; fourth, F. L. Easley, 89; second, W. Smith, 91; second—G. J. Foss, 97.

CLASS C—50 to 59 years—First low net—J. E. Bailey, 85—13—72; second—J. N. Welsh, 85—13—72; third—George W. Hall, 86—13—73; fourth, F. Peter, 90; low gross—E. E. Bressler, 82; second—W. S. Paul E. Green, 91.

CLASS D—40 to 49 years—First low net—Thomas A. Leonard, 83—10—73; second—J. L. Logue, 85—13—72; third—C. N. Darnell, 85—13—72; fourth—E. D. Runyan, 87; low gross—E. M. Taylor, 87; second—Paul E. Day, 91.

Paul E. Day of Flossmoor, shot a 73 yesterday to win the low gross prize in the seventh annual golf tournament of the Chicago real estate board at the Cherry Hill golf course. He also won a leg on the president's cup. More than 100 competed.

A. Dolcese's drive of 378 yards won the driving contest, while the accuracy driving event went to W. J. Zenzlish. George Strassberg won the approaching contest. Herbert Pemberton led the putting, scoring 79—10—69. Low gross winners:

A. L. Wehrley	75
A. Isaac	79
A. L. Wehrley	81
A. V. Wehrley	83
Bob Rambo	86

Low net winners:

Bob Levy	86—16—70
J. L. Vanderbeek	90—20—70
Bob Rambo	91—21—70
Bob Levy	91—21—70
A. D. Bigelow	91—21—70
Lo Hamm	92—23—70
J. F. Hammill	85—15—70
A. E. Harlander	91—20—71
Dr. C. Martin	94—23—71
J. W. Kelley	86—15—71
J. E. Fuchs	90—25—71
Harry Wetzel	89—18—71
J. F. Graham	86—14—72
Geo. E. Hunt	87—15—72
Ed Hoffman	90—18—72
Bob Rambo	94—22—72

At the monthly Kiwanis club golf tournament at St. Andrews yesterday, Sarge O'Shea of the North Town club, was low gross with 73. Chet Williams of the Chicago club, was second with 76. The Chicago team of O'Shea and Chet Williams won the team trophy with 154. The Chicago club also won the four man team prize with a combined total of 345. Evanston's eight man team had 694 with its event and the Hyde Park 12 man group won with 1,142.

Schneider to Make Changes for Roby Race

Louis Schneider and his backer, Hal Bowes, are laying plans in Indianapolis this week to regain the laurels which were shaken from the champion's brow last week when he was forced to take fifth place in a dirt track race at Detroit.

Schneider failed to change to the proper gear ratio after winning the Indianapolis 500 mile race, he claims, and accordingly was unable to get going at the proper speed in Detroit. Wheeling on the dirt is quite different from sizzling over the bricks at Indianapolis, because of the flat turns which cause the cars to skid and lose headway. A lower gear ratio is needed to enable the car to pick up speed rapidly.

The champion promised to be ready for all comers in the A. A. A. 100 mile race at the Roby-Chicago speedway on Sunday. He is particularly anxious to redeem himself for it was at Roby that he first came into prominence in the old outlaw days, racing with Cliff Woodbury, Billy Arnold, Shorty Cantlon and others.

The first four men at Indianapolis—Schneider, Frame, Hepburn and Meyer—will be among the twenty or more cars in time trials Sunday morning, as will be three leaders of the first dirt track event of the year at Detroit last week, which was won by Meyer, with Tripplet, Ross and Frame well up. Shorty Cantlon, who looked good at Indianapolis with his sixteen cylinder car until it blew a cylipder, and who forced the going at Detroit in spite of losing two sets of tires, may get through this race without mishap and be the winner, according to expert observers.

SUPREME COURT ASKED TO CLOSE WASHINGTON PK.

An original mandamus petition to compel State's Attorney John A. Swanson to institute quo warranto proceedings against the Washington Park race track on the ground that the corporation was granted a charter not within the provisions of the law was filed in the Supreme court at Springfield. The prosecutor was notified of the petition yesterday and was given until Monday to file an answer.

The petition was filed after the prosecutor had refused to begin ouster proceedings at the behest of the same interests, which filed the action in the Supreme court. It was believed at the prosecutor's office that the persons interested in opening the dog tracks are behind the present action, which was filed in the name of Henry Hering by Attorney Edward H. Morris and Leo Weil.

Hering in his bill of complaint alleges that he owns a parcel of property adjacent to the race track and that the track crowds are injuring his property by trespass. The petition then sets forth that the jockey club is operating under a charter which was granted in violation of the state constitution.

Lindblom Nine Seeks Its 3d Victory Today

THE STANDING

	W.	L.	Pct.		W.	L.	Pct.
Lane Tech	2	0	1.000	Bowen	0	1	.000
Schurz	2	0	1.000	Parker	0	1	.000
Lindblom	2	0	1.000	Harrison	0	2	.000
Tilden	1	1	.500	Marshall	0	2	.000

The semi-final round of play for the Chicago Public High School league baseball championship will conclude with games today, tomorrow and Saturday. Four of the eight teams in the semi-finals still have a chance to take part in the city title game, which will be played at Wrigley field on June 27.

Lindblom, central section champion, which has scored two victories, will face Parker this afternoon at Normal park. Victory for Lindblom will give it the south and central title. Parker, in its only other semi-final game, lost to Tilden. Lindblom's hopes of reaching the finals rest on Frank Narbut, whose hitting and pitching helped his team whip Tilden last Tuesday, 16 to 4. Bill Kenesick probably will pitch for Parker.

Lane Tech, defending champion, and Schurz, each with two victories, will battle for the north and west sectional championship Saturday at Logan Square park.

Two games remain on the Bowen schedule and one on Tilden's, but Lindblom will gain the undisputed championship by winning from Parker today. However, all games will be played if Parker wins.

Tomorrow Marshall and Harrison, west section qualifiers, will finish their semi-final series at Mills stadium. Marshall dropped out of the race by losing its second contest to Schurz, while Lane eliminated Harrison.

18 STATES O. K. SCHMELING FIGHT AS TITLE BOUT

Gen. John V. Clinnin, president of the National Boxing association yesterday gave the association's official approval to the Max Schmeling and W. L. Stribling bout, which will be contested July 3 at Cleveland, as a world championship match. The state commissions, members of the N. B. A. voted 13 to 1 in approving the fight as a championship affair.

Smedall Named Captain of Wisconsin 1932 Crew

New York, June 17.—(AP)—Harold Smedall of Madison, Wis., has been elected to captain the Wisconsin varsity crew for the 1932 campaign, it was announced tonight at a dinner given in honor of the crews. Smedall, who is 19 years old and a senior next year, rowed No. 5 in the Badger crew.

Lane Tech Wins Prep Net Crown from Hyde Park

Lane Tech won the Chicago Public High School league tennis championship by defeating Hyde Park, defending champion, yesterday at the Rogers Park Tennis club. Al Shufflitowski's victory over Trevor Weiss gave the north side school the title, 2 to 1.

Lane took the doubles match when Gus Gustavson and Ollie Olhson defeated Leo Winters and Leo Mills, 6-2, 8-4. Bid Weiss' victory over Earl Scott, 6-1, 6-1, in the first singles contest tied the score.

In the deciding match Trevor Weiss, Hyde Park's star, took a 5 to 2 lead in the first set, but Shufflitowski rallied to win, 7 to 5. Weiss won the second set, 6 to 2, and Shufflitowski triumphed in the last set, 6 to 2.

Here's Lineup for Old Aiken vs. Argentines

New York, June 17.—[Special.]—The famous Old Aiken polo team, which has accounted for a long string of triumphs in tournament play in the east during recent seasons, will employ its regular lineup when it rides against the Santa Paula quartet from Argentina in a series of matches starting on July 11 at the Onwentsia club, Chicago, Capt. J. C. [Cecie] Rathborne announced today.

Elbridge T. Gerry, leader of this year's Harvard four, will play at No. 1, with James P. Mills, Stewart B. Iglehart and Rathborne, all of Yale, in the other three positions. Playing in this order, Old Aiken captured the national junior championship in 1929, and also triumphed in the third Westbury challenge cup tourney at Meadowbrook and the Herbert memorial cup event at Rumson. Old Aiken saw comparatively little action as a unit last season.

The Chicago series will mark the first time that a foreign polo team has ever appeared in the middlewest. The Santa Paula squad sailed from Buenos Aires last Monday, five men making the trip. The regulars are Alfredo Harrington, Juan Reynal, Jose Reynal and Manuel Andrada, with Andres Gazzotti as the spare. Their ponies are already here.

Santa Paula visited California during the 1929-'30 winter campaign, and rode off with the Pacific coast open championship, never being defeated in tournament competition there.

The competition at Onwentsia will be on a two out of three basis. The first game is on Saturday, July 11, with the second the following Wednesday, July 25, and the third, if it is necessary, on Saturday, July 18.

Sox Win, 6-1, But It Is Only an Exhibition

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albany, N. Y., June 17.—The White Sox had a few moments of relief from strenuous major league competition here today in an exhibition game with the Albany Senators, which they won, 6 to 1, without great exertion.

Hits were still rather scarce for the Chicagoans, but they managed to bunch what they did get off Aube and Bishop, while Garland Braxton kept Albany's widely scattered. He had a shutout in hand until the ninth when the Eastern leaguers put three singles together for their only run.

Luke Appling returned to shortstop for the first time in a month and Billy Sullivan was given a test in center field. The former Notre Dame star hit several balls hard, but collected only one single.

Frank Grube led the Chicago attack with a homer, which came with one on in the fifth, and two singles in the later rounds.

The Sox left immediately for Chicago, where Friday they open their home stand against the Philadelphia Athletics. Pat Caraway is expected to pitch. Three cripples, Ted Lyons, Carl Reynolds, and Smead Jolley, will rejoin the Sox in Chicago, but only Reynolds has any chance of playing in the immediate future.

PRINCETON GOLF TEAM OFF FOR CHICAGO MEETS

Princeton, N. J., June 17.—[Special.]—Six members of the Princeton golf team departed this afternoon for Chicago, where on Saturday they will meet the Yale linksmen in the play off for the championship of the Eastern Intercollegiate Golf association. The match will be played over one of the four eighteen hole courses of the Olympia Fields Country club.

During the playing season, Princeton suffered defeat only at the hands of Yale, which was in turn conquered by the Harvard golfers, creating a dual tie for first place. The Tiger golfers will be defending champions in both the Eastern Intercollegiate Golf association and the Intercollegiate Golf Association of America. George T. Dunlap Jr., '32, of East Orange, N. J., will be the defending champion of the latter tourney.

Members of the team who made the trip are James H. Gordon III., '33, of Flushing, N. Y.; Donald R. Livingston, '31, of Savannah, Ga.; George A. McWilliams, '31, of Chicago; Robert A. Moffett, '33, of New York City; Morrison Waud, '32, of Chicago; Dunlap, and Coach Walter R. Bourne.

WALTON LEAGUE PLANS TRIP.

Members and guests of the Humboldt Park chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America will leave Chicago on June 27 for a two day fishing trip at Grass Lake, Ill. A banquet will be held Saturday evening with a smoker following.

McCRARY LOSES TO PAUL BARTON IN GOLF UPSET

Minneapolis, Minn., June 17.—(AP)—Robert McCrary's two year reign as champion of the trans-Mississippi golf association ended today as he fell before the determined attack of Dr. Paul M. Barton of Davenport, Ia., 2 and 1, in a second round match of the tournament at the Golden Valley course.

The ruling favorite, Johnny Goodman of Omaha, came through a pair of hard matches. He won from Allan Labatt of Minneapolis, 2 up, in the morning, and beat Benmar Miller of Des Moines 4 and 3 in the second round.

Robins Blank Pirates, 2-0; Clark Stars

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 17.—(AP)—Watson Clark, Brooklyn southpaw, scored his second straight shutout victory today as the Robins beat the Pirates, 2 to 0, in a mound duel. In handing the Pirates their fifth consecutive defeat, Clark was touched for only seven hits and did not walk a man. Heine Meine, who opposed him for the first eight innings, yielded eight hits and walked four. Score:

ZIEGLERS SEND 14 HORSES TO ARLINGTON PARK

Spinach and Gone Away Head String.

Fourteen colts and fillies from the stable of Mr. and Mrs. William Ziegler of New York, most of them 2 year olds products of the Burriand stud, reached Arlington Park yesterday in charge of John Davis, stable agent. They were sent from Belmont Park, where Clyde Phillips has been racing the main division of the stable.

The stallions will bear Ziegler's colors through the thirty days of racing at Arlington Park which opens June 29. The fillies will carry the scarlet and green of the Middleburg stable, which is Mrs. Ziegler's racing pseudonym.

The most distinguished mature horses of the shipment are Spinach, which won renewals last season of the Huron, Potomac, Havre de Grace, and Riggs handicaps and the Latonia championship, earning more than $100,000, and Gone Away.

The others are Levante, General Court, Phantom General, Phantom Legion, The Crane, Peacock Alley, In Command, General Advance, White Flier, Stimala and Americana.

Phantom General, son of Our General and Phantom Blue is supposed to be the best of the 3 year olds. Stepenfetchet licked him in a maidens' race at Havre de Grace on April 15, but he beat a dozen others.

TWENTY GRAND'S SISTER WILL BE SOLD FOR CHARITY

New York, June 17.—[Special.]—Mrs. Payne Whitney has offered for sale a 2 year old filly of famous parentage, Idle Saint, a sister of Twenty Grand, at the annual fair for the benefit of Babies' Milk Funds of the New York hospital and the Family Welfare Association of Nassau county. The fair will be held at Greentree, Manhasset, Long Island, Mrs. Whitney's country place, on Friday.

The filly was sired by St. Germans out of Idle Dell and was broken to racing by her trainer, James Rowe Jr., her stall is a few doors from Twenty Grand, winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Belmont. She is prepared to race any day. All that is necessary is for her prospective owner to possess a set of racing colors. She has been conservatively valued at $5,000.

ever do it again. Jockey C. Meyer was up on Gallant Knight.

Cousin Jo, the Kentucky Oaks winner, took another whipping in the South Side purse, when she attempted to show her heels to sever ' of the fleetest fillies and mares in the west.

Cousin Jo may not be as good as she was in early spring at Kentucky. She wasn't able to finish in the money. Con Amore, a Maryland mare, won the race, beating Lady Fingers from Kentucky by a neck, with Agincourt, also from Kentucky, third.

A plunge on Con Amore at post time drove her price down ,until it was little better than 3 to 1. She had plenty of speed all the way and was a very good horse to withstand the late rush of Lady Fingers. Cousin Jo was far back all the way and didn't show her old time stretch running ability.

MOLLA MALLORY, HUSBAND HURT IN AUTO CRASH

New York, June 17.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Franklin I. Mallory of 430 Park avenue were injured tonight when a taxicab in which they were riding was in collision with another car at Madison avenue and 45th street. Mrs. Mallory is the former Molla Bjurstedt, noted tennis player.

Mr. Mallory suffered a fracture of the right ankle and possibly a fracture of the skull, and his wife's face was lacerated and two of her teeth were broken. The couple were taken to Flower hospital, where it was said last night that both were progressing satisfactorily.

Giants Defeat Toledo; Fred Leach Is Injured

Toledo, O., June 17.—(AP)—The New York Giants defeated the Toledo American association team, 7 to 4, in an exhibition game here today. Fred Leach, New York outfielder, crashed into Jack Smith at first base and was helped from the field with an injured knee. Score:

BURMA BALKS AT PLAN TO CUT HER AWAY FROM INDIA

British Scheme to Keep Her Under Heel.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SIMLA, India, June 17.—The future of Burma, which is rich in rice and oil and important strategic center between Britain in the east if India becomes self-governing, will be settled by a specially convoked round table conference. This was revealed here today.

The government of India today is reported to have asked London to call a Burma conference at the same time as the Indian meeting next fall. The purpose of this other meeting will be to decide first, whether Burma shall be separated from India, and second, if separated, what sort of government shall be set up.

Burmese Want Independence.

Last winter Prime Minister MacDonald served Burma for the empire by getting the round table conference members to agree on the separation of Burma from India in advance. But make it sooner that the Burmese themselves have been thinking about the matter and many have come to the conclusion that separation means Burma becoming a mere crown colony, while India gets self-government. So they are agitating to join the Indian federation, and to make matters worse reaction have broken out which have resulted the sending of strong police reinforcements to Burma.

Till week a squint-eyed Oxford graduate named U. Maungmaung Ji arrived in Simla to see Viceroy Lord Willingdon. He was Mahatma Gandhi's right hand man in Burma and proposed to Lord Willingdon that Burma nationalists, like himself, be admitted to the federal structures committee which will work out the new Indian federation.

Viceroy Turns Down Request.

The viceroy refused this request, but agreed a separate conference to discuss of the Burma question. Other Burma representatives will arrive this week to confer with the viceroy about the advisability of holding such a conference.

According to Maungmaung Ji and his colleagues, the plan to separate Burma is nothing short of an attempt by Great Britain to establish a base where she could concentrate her military forces after they are withdrawn from India. With powerful land and air forces centered in Burma, Great Britain would not only be in a favorable position to guard her far eastern possessions, but could maintain an active check on India which, in running its own affairs, might become dangerous.

Peril to Singapore Base.

Maungmaung Ji says Burma must join the Indian federation, because squarely it would never be given dominion status by Great Britain. British interests, he points out, not only own the huge Burma oil deposits so necessary to fuel their eastern naval squadrons, but without Burma under British control the naval base at Singapore, guarding the trade route to the east, would be in jeopardy. In fact, without Burma experts doubt that the Singapore base could be maintained.

English favors Burma joining the Indian federation with the right to withdraw afterwards.

IF IT WERE IRISH HE WANTED, CHIEF WOULD CALL A COP

Chief of Detectives John Norton opened a letter in his office last night, adjusted his glasses, and prepared to read. He stopped almost as soon as he started. The handwriting was in Swedish.

"Anybody here read Swedish?" asked Norton. He looked to the right. He saw Assistant Detective Chief Lawrence Rafferty. He turned to the left. His eyes fell on Sergt. Richard Kearns. He surveyed others in the room, and saw Sergts. Shannon, Barry, Geary, and O'Sullivan. Norton didn't bother to repeat the question. He ordered a "Swedish cop" to be sent to him.

For 15 minutes the search was on for a "Swedish cop." The quest ended when Sergt. David Lindstrom, finger-print expert, was found. He modestly admitted he was an expert on Scandinavian languages, and was led before Chief Norton. The latter handed him the letter. Lindstrom shook his head negatively. "I can speak Swedish, but I can't read it," he explained.

An order went out last night requisitioning a "Swedish cop" to appear at Norton's office this morning to decipher the letter.

MEXICAN STATE BARS ALL EXCEPT TWELVE PRIESTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, June 17.—The house of deputies in the state of Vera Cruz late last night passed a bill limiting the number of Catholic priests throughout the state to one for every 100,000 inhabitants.

This is considered by church circles as equivalent to driving the church out of the state, and hundreds of telegrams poured into the state capital, Jalapa, today, protesting in energetic terms against the "muzzling of Catholic activities." Telegrams were also sent to the federal authorities here, including President Rubio, protesting and demanding a plebiscite in the state on the bill.

It is said in Catholic circles here that all priests will probably be called out of Vera Cruz, which is one of the largest and most thickly populated states in the Mexican union, as a protest. It is charged that the priests will be so crippled that it will be materially impossible for them to perform their duties of office. The population of the state is about 1,200,000, which means only twelve priests would be permitted there.

$40,000 OWED BY MOORE'S ESTATE TO DEAD WIFE

Goes to Daughter of Lillian Russell.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 17.—[Special.]—About $40,000 will be taken from the estate of the late Alexander P. Moore and added to that of his wife, Lillian Russell, to increase the value of her estate to $75,000, under an agreement announced today by attorneys for the Moore estate and for Mrs. Dorothy Russell Calvit, Lillian Russell's daughter.

The agreement is a result of an order by Judge Trimble in Orphans' court for a new accounting in the Russell estate, and will be submitted to him for approval. Judge Trimble's order resulted from the trial of Mrs. Calvit's suit to break the will of her stepfather, Moore, and obtain half of his $600,000 estate. She was cut off with $1,000.

In the will trial it was testified Moore had taken valuable works of art from his wife's estate and had purchased for $1,000 a pearl necklace of Miss Russell's worth $10,000. It was also alleged in court that a $12,000 diamond disappeared from Miss Russell's estate after it had been turned over to him for sale.

The Russell estate provides a $50 weekly income to Mrs. Calvit under her mother's will. Because the estate had shrunk to about $35,000 Mrs. Calvit has been obtaining the income only by drawing against the principal of the estate.

Increasing the value of the trust to $75,000 will assure her the income without drawing against the principal, attorneys said. Under her mother's will the estate will revert to the Moore estate upon Mrs. Calvit's death.

CITY SEALER ON RADIO TELLS OF WEIGHT CHEATERS

The average short weight in 200 cases prosecuted by his office since his appointment was 18 per cent, City Sealer Grein declared last night in a radio speech. He urged housewives who listened to him to write in for the booklet he has prepared, telling them how to protect themselves against cheating tradesmen.

Edward A. Maloney, acting fire commissioner, also spoke last night on the second of the series arranged for Mayor Cermak and members of his cabinet by Niles Trammell, vice president of the broadcasting company. Mr. Maloney suggested that every citizen of Chicago become interested in the work of fire prevention.

HOUSE APPROPRIATES $350,000 FOR ILLINOIS BUILDING AT THE FAIR

Springfield, Ill., June 17.—[Special.]—The senate tonight passed the Ryan house bill appropriating $350,000 for an Illinois building and exhibits at the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago in 1933. The bill, which had already passed the house, creates a commission of twenty-three with the governor at its head to erect the building and to coöperate with other states in a combined regional exhibit. The commission is to be composed of five members of each house, the lieutenant governor and speaker and ten private citizens.

Ohio to Spend $200,000.

Columbus, O., June 17.—(AP)—The Ohio senate finance committee has decided that the state should participate in the Century of Progress exposition at Chicago in 1933 at a cost of $200,000, notwithstanding the state's stringent financial condition and apparent inability to balance the budget with anticipated revenues.

It approved a bill providing for participation in the exposition and appropriating $100,000 to start work next year in preparation of Ohio's exhibit. The other $100,000 would be supplied by the next assembly.

NAVAL OFFICER FROM CHICAGO WEDS IN EAST

Norfolk, Va., June 17.—[Special.]—Commander Romuald P. P. McClewski, U. S. N., 42, of Chicago, and Miss Marjorie Schuyler Matthews, 22, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Decordy Matthews of this city, were married at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Hampton Roads naval base. Commander B. D. Stephens, chaplain at the base and son-in-law of Bishop James Cannon, the fiery prohibition leader of the Methodist church, read the service.

This is Commander McClewski's second venture in matrimony. His first wife, Mrs. Dallas Lee McClewski, obtained a Reno divorce about two years ago, after her husband had obtained a separation from bed and board in Virginia. The commander was not sure but what he would come into conflict with the laws of Virginia if he married a second time in this state so he had the ceremony performed on a government reservation. This, too, is expected to lead to further complications.

Frank Decordy Matthews, father of the new Mrs. McClewski, today consulted the records of the marriage license bureau here. It is understood he did not favor his daughter's marriage.

ARTIST'S FRIENDS FORGET HIS GRAVE WHEN CASH STOPS

A half dozen persons gathered yesterday in Montrose cemetery at the grave of Louis A. Thiel, fresco artist of 2125 Leland avenue, who left $2,500 bonds to his lodge to pay $20 each to lodge brothers who visited his grave on Nov. 17 or June 17, and from $5 to $20 each to stipulated friends who came to mourn.

The payments were arranged over a period of 20 years, but no payments were made when the brothers gathered for the second time last Nov. 17. A. T. Roner, in charge of the fund in the lodge, told fellow members that the widow and relatives of Mr. Thiel threatened court action if he disbursed the money. Moreover, it was said that the value of the bonds had shrunk and the fund was almost exhausted.

In contrast to the throng which attended his grave last June 17, when the lodge brothers laughingly lined up and received $20 bills for their trouble, the few friends who appeared yesterday were silent for the most part. One lodge brother, an aged man with white hair and kindly blue eyes, arrived early and left when he learned no $20 bill would be forthcoming.

WILSON'S WIDOW SAILS TO POLAND SHAFT UNVEILING

New York, June 17.—[Special.]—Mrs. Edith Bolling Wilson, widow of President Wilson, sailed today on the Leviathan to attend the unveiling of a monument to President Wilson in Poland. She was accompanied by her niece, Mrs. John Edward Moeling. Mrs. Wilson posed for photographs on the sun deck but declined to give an interview, saying she had adhered to this attitude since the death of President Wilson and did not wish to alter her position.

F. C. AUSTIN WILL LEAVES $280,000 TO NORTHWESTERN

The entire estate of Frederick C. Austin, philanthropist and retired manufacturer, is left to Northwestern university by his will, filed yesterday before Oscar Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner. The estate is valued at $280,000. Mr. Austin died at Pasadena, Cal., June 11 and was buried Tuesday in Rosehill cemetery.

The will specifies that the income of the sum be used for scholarships to aid "persons trying for executive positions in large business and industrial enterprises and excluding those who follow the professions of law, medicine, theology and music." The bequest is added to the property at 111 West Washington street, valued at $2,000,000, which the manufacturer gave to the university two years ago with the provision he receive the income until his death. Twenty scholarships under the latter gift have been awarded by the university.

In the will Mr. Austin made no provision for heirs, explaining he had already provided for them. The heirs are two brothers, Frank M. and Dorr Austin; a sister, Mrs. Anna Bailey of Los Angeles; three nephews, a niece, a grandnephew and a grandson. Mr. Austin retired in 1920 from a hardware business which he founded.

SEE PROSECUTOR, IS REPLY TO PLEA FOR EXHUMATION

Acting Chief Justice Joseph Sabath of the Criminal court yesterday instructed attorneys seeking the exhumation of the body of George Hastings White, former rental agent for the Chicago Title and Trust company, to follow the usual procedure and first submit their evidence to State's Attorney Swanson. White's will is being contested by Stanley W. White, a son.

Attorney J. Berman, representing the son, conferred with Assistant State's Attorney William A. Rittenhouse. The latter warned the attorney that unless sufficient evidence of a criminal nature were presented that the prosecutor's office would oppose exhumation. The state's attorney's office is not interested in civil litigation to break a will, the attorney was informed.

Attorney Berman was also instructed to submit a copy of this petition to the attorney representing Miss Elfreida Prestel, a friend, who was bequeathed the estate in the will, and to give her an opportunity to present any objections she might have to exhumation. The matter is expected to be thrashed out today in the prosecutor's office.

Packing Company Official Found Dead in His Auto

Harry F. Wilkins, 56 years old, president of the C. A. Burnette company, packers, 944 West 38th place, was found dead in his automobile in a garage at the rear of the packing company offices yesterday morning. His death is believed to have been due to heart disease. Mr. Wilkins' home was in Omaha, Neb., but he made periodic trips to Chicago.

BISHOP SHIEL OFFICIATES AT CZARNECKI RITE

Funeral services for Valentine Czarnecki, father of Anthony Czarnecki, United States collector of customs at Chicago, were held from the residence of the son, 6877 Hobart avenue, to the Immaculate Conception church, Harlem avenue and Talcott road, yesterday. Burial was in St. Adalbert's cemetery.

The ceremony was attended by scores of public officials, including Mayor Cermak, judges and other friends. A male choir, composed of persons from several Polish congregations, sang under the direction of Bruno Rybowiak.

The last absolution was given by the Rt. Rev. B. J. Shiel, auxiliary bishop of Chicago. The Rev. Msgr. Thomas Bona delivered the sermon in the church, in Polish and English. The Rev. Stephen Bubacz delivered the sermon at the grave.

JURY OF WEALTHY MEN HOLD AUTO DRIVER IN DEATH

Charging him with speeding and careless driving, a Lake county coroner's jury composed of wealthy north shore residents recommended yesterday that Linus Cunningham, 56 years old, of Milwaukee, be held to the grand jury for the death in a motor mishap of George D. McLaughlin, 67 years old, Lake Forest millionaire. The jury also charged that Cunningham had been drinking. McLaughlin was killed June 8 when his automobile was struck by Cunningham's machine one mile south of Deerpath avenue in Lake Forest. McLaughlin's wife, daughter, and chauffeur were injured, as was Cunningham. The inquest was held at the Alice Home hospital in Lake Forest, where Cunningham is a patient. He denied that he was driving carelessly or had been drinking.

Youth Beaten by Kidnapers Dies from His Injuries

Henry Guerrero, 20 years old, who staggered to his home, 1102 South Marshfield avenue, badly beaten on Tuesday night, died yesterday in the county hospital. He told his aunt, Mrs. Mary Mangie, that he had been kidnaped by two men and pitched from an automobile. Capt. Thomas Pilkington learned the youth had been thrown out of a machine at Flournoy and Paulina streets, but police were unable to learn a motive for the attack.

Simply Brushing Hair Now Ends Gray Hair

NOW you can quickly, easily and surely end those gray hair handicaps by sprinkling a few drops of Kolor-Bak on your brush before brushing your hair.

If your hair is now gray, Kolor-Bak will once more give it that youth-like color. If beginning to gray, Kolor-Bak will banish those invading gray hairs and keep your hair looking young.

Method Defies Detection

No one need ever know you use Kolor-Bak; no one can ever tell. Your hair will never have that harsh, flat, dull, "dyed" look, so all-revealing. There will be no telltale streaks. You cannot tell which hairs once were gray if you use Kolor-Bak each morning. As colorless and pleasant to use as water. Kolor-Bak does not leave the hair sticky.

Applied As Hair Is Brushed

With Kolor-Bak, thousands avoid the disadvantages of gray hair. Gray hairs cut pay, prevent promotions, lose positions, thwart ambitions. Banish those gray hairs by the easy, sure, and absolutely indetectable Kolor-Bak way. Secure a bottle today at your druggist, or write to United Remedies, Inc., Dept. 40-6A, 355 E. Illinois St., Chicago, for Special Offer.

Hear Helen Ray, national authority on graying hair, each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday morning at 10 o'clock over Station WBBM. She answers questions and discusses all problems connected with gray or graying hair.

CHICAGO STOCKS MAINTAIN FIRM TONE IN TRADING

Borg-Warner Shares Hold Center of Interest.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

As measured by the final quotations or the volume of shares traded in yesterday's session on the Chicago exchange was an uneventful affair. Throughout the day the market displayed a firm tone despite the unfavorable character of the general run of the day's trade news.

The indifference of the market to the current news is being interpreted by the financial community as evidence that the market has thoroughly discounted the present developm nts during the last two months. That the second quarter reports, which will start to come in in a few weeks, have also been discounted is the general feeling of traders. It is known that these statements will furnish some depressing reading and the fact that the market maintains a steady tone is taken as meaning that present prices reflect the results to be reported.

See Possible Benefit.

What trading interest there was yesterday centered around Borg-Warner. This company, the street believes, stands to benefit from the plans of Chrysler corporation to push their low priced car activities.

While Borg-Warner was enjoying a good trade the other motor accessory shares were in the doldrums. Trading in other classes of shares was featureless with previous prices holding in the main.

The issuance of the annual report by the Loudon Packing company brought out no trades in the company's stock. The concern reported net earnings for the fiscal year ending April 30 of $264,534 after all charges as compared with $336,940 in the preceding year. The earnings are equivalent to $4.37 a share on the 90,000 shares of common stock outstanding as compared with $4.76 a share on the 75,000 shares outstanding in the preceding period.

Assets Are $1,074,741.

The consolidated balance sheet for the year shows current assets of $1,074,741 and current liabilities of $183,603. Total assets of the close of the year stood at $1,750,543.

Commenting on the results shown in the report, President Stewart Rose said that the showing may be attributed in part to the saving resulting from improved manufacturing conditions and equipment.

The company, which is engaged in the packing of tomato and other food products, has three plants located in Terre Haute, Evansville, and Tell City, Ind. Outlook for the coming year is favorable, Mr. Rose added.

$21,000,000 BOND ISSUE OFFERED BY BIG UTILITY

The first step in the public financing of the huge hydro electric development, which the Safe Harbor Water Power corporation is constructing on the Susquehanna river near Safe Harbor, Pa., about 45 miles from Baltimore, was placed on the market yesterday in the form of an offering of $21,000,000 first mortgage sinking fund gold bonds, 4½ per cent series, due 1979.

Both principal and interest on the bonds are unconditionally guaranteed by the Consolidated Gas Electric Light and Power company of Baltimore, which together with the Pennsylvania water and Power company has thus financed the development costs of the properties.

The bonds are offered by a syndicate headed by Aldred & Co. and including Lee, Higginson & Co., Chase Securities corporation, Guaranty Company of New York, Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., The First National Old Colony corporation, Jackson & Curtis, Spencer Trask & Co., and Minsch, Monell & Co., Inc.

Announcement made in connection with the financing states that Consolidated Gas Electric Light and Power company of Baltimore and Pennsylvania Water and Power company, upon completion of this financing, will own all of the outstanding capital stock of Safe Harbor Power corporation representing an investment of $2,250,000 which will be increased to $9,000,000 not later than Dec. 31, 1933. It is further agreed that both companies will provide through purchase of additional stock, any additional funds required to complete the initial development which, according to estimates will cost approximately $30,000,000.

Reliance Bank & Trust Declares Regular Dividend

Directors of the Reliance Bank and Trust company yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent, payable July 1, to stockholders of record June 26. It was asserted that the institution, in spite of generally unfavorable business conditions, had more than earned its dividend.

NEAR BIG BANKS SEEKING RELIEF FOR REICHSBANK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 17.—Banks in the world's largest financial centers were reported today to be trying to devise means to relieve the strain on the Reichsbank resulting from the withdrawal of foreign funds from Germany, but the situation was understood thus far to have revealed no great relief.

A report that central banks of the leading world financial centers were considering formation of an international credit to the Reichsbank, totaling perhaps to $200,000,000, lacked verification. However, such developments involving cooperative agreements are slow in developing. It is doubted whether the federal reserve banks of this country could participate directly in such a movement, since this generally invites criticism, but support might be given this by some commercial and private banks.

Credit Held Logical Move.

Some banks here disavow continuance of heavy withdrawals from Germany and it was understood that the bulk of funds brought back to the United States were those of smaller institutions in the interior.

The suggested move for a big German credit is regarded as logical by some of the leading banks here, but one would admit knowing of such a plan.

Sterling exchange was a little stronger today at 12.19 cents, an advance of four points and compared with the record low point of 12.12, part of the decline was attributed to short covering.

Dispatches from Paris and Berlin reported that the Reichsbank had lost about a billion marks in gold [illegible] in June in its defense of the mark and the bank's weekly statement showed a decline of [illegible] in its gold holdings in a week. Included in this shrinkage, of course, were the $41,666,000 in gold received from the New York Federal reserve bank on Monday and an additional $12,500,000 yesterday. The total amount is understood to have been purchased by the Reichsbank from the Bank of France and the latter from the Bank of the Netherlands.

Its Political Situation.

Recovery of the mark is held in banking circles, according to dispatches from Berlin, to depend on the clearing of the German internal political situation and the financial conditions in Austria, where a crisis exists in the affairs of the creditanstalt.

The extent to which the Reichsbank has sent gold to London to support the mark is indicated by a statement today that in the four days preceding June 15, £6,913,000 in that metal was turned in the British capital from Germany.

AGREE ON PLAN FOR REFUNDING BY ST. LOUIS RY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 17.—The conferences between officials of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway company and the Chase Securities corporation and Kuhn, Loeb & Co., which have been in almost daily for some time to work out a plan for the repayment of $43,000,000 of the road's general mortgage 4s and 5s which fall due on July 1, were concluded today. Formal announcement was made that the bankers proposed to purchase $10,000,000 of the road's 5 per cent consolidated mortgage bonds, series B, of the road.

The issuance of the new bonds is subject to the approval of the interstate commerce commission with whom application has already been made. According to the statement issued today no public offering of the bonds is now contemplated.

With the announcement of the agreement came also the news of a reorganization of the board of directors of the road and the appointment of executive and finance committees, both chairmen of the Chase and Dillon, Read interests in the banking affairs of the company comes as a new development. However, Dillon, Read & Co., through an investment trust in which they have been interested, the United States and International Securities corporation, have held a substantial part of the road's common stock. It is said Speyer & Co. and J. and W. Seligman & Co. have acted as bankers for the road. Jesse Hirschman, who has represented the Speyer interests, George C. Fraser of Fraser, Speir Inc., and Henry Ruhlender of Arthur Frank & Co., have resigned as directors. Their places will be taken by James Bruce, president of the Baltimore Trust company; Frank Rand, chairman of the board of the International Shoe company; E. V. R. Thayer, formerly a member of the board, chairman of the executive committee of the Central Trust company of Illinois, recently merged with the National Bank of the Republic, Chicago to form the Central Republic bank, and Ernest R. Tracy, president of the American-European Securities company.

Survey Finds Business Only 15% Below Normal

Detroit, June 17.—(AP)—A telegraphic survey of business conditions in the United States was announced today by the National Retail Credit association in convention here, as showing that business is only 15 per cent below normal.

The survey was made of 1,200 credit managers in the country and shows that in most parts of the country, business exceeds the volume for last year. In other sections it has dropped only 15 per cent of the 1930

Steel Industry Hopeful of Fall Recovery in Output

Steel ingot production of the country has declined to 38 per cent of capacity from 40 per cent in the last week, but iron and steel men, reconciled to the prospects of a dull summer, are looking forward to recovery in the fall, weekly steel trade reviews reported yesterday.

"Improved crop conditions, a conviction that prices and production are 'bouncing off the bottom,' the possibility that a speedy, successful conclusion to the railroads' campaign for higher freight rates might stiffen commodity prices, the emphasis being placed on low inventories and potentialities of a rapid reversal of the price situation—these are factors influencing sentiment," says Steel.

On the other hand, some producers are reported to be planning drastic curtailment this summer in an effort to reduce costs.

See Low Level in July.

"Barring unforeseen developments, further declines in operations now seem unavoidable, with the possibility that the low levels of last December will be reached before the end of July," the Iron Age sets forth.

"The steel trade has become reconciled to the prospect of a very dull summer and is now pinning its hopes on a seasonal recovery in the fall.

"Some producers continue to carry out the policy of closing their higher cost plants and one fully integrated steel company is reported to be planning to suspend operations entirely during July. While this program of drastic retrenchment is dictated by costs, it is counted on to cause further liquidation of already low stocks and thereby add momentum to demand when business revives.

May Contribute to Rebound.

"Other factors that may contribute to an autumn rebound are the harvesting of crops, which will give the agricultural population cash for purchases, however subnormal they may be, and the plea of the railroads for an advance in rates. Assurance of relief to the carriers is believed to be essential to restore them to their position as leading consumers of steel and iron.

"Declines in automobile steel specifications continue to have the strongest influence on mill operations. June automobile output is now expected to total about 270,000 cars, and July production will be considerably lower, with the extent of curtailment depending on whether contemplated shutdowns of certain motor car builders occur in that month or in August.

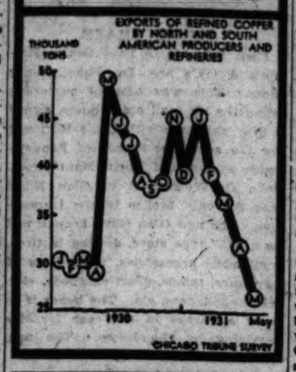
"Seasonal subsidence of iron and steel demand is still noticeable in other lines. Rail output at Chicago has declined to 10 per cent of capacity, but has picked up slightly at Pittsburgh following the release of some of the 152 pound sections recently ordered by the Pennsylvania. Tin plate output has eased off slightly to a 65 per cent rate. Wire mill operations now range from 30 to 35 per cent.

Advance in Prices.

"Interest in steel prices centers in the efforts of sheet mills to establish the new classification base prices for third quarter business. In the case of black sheets the new base involves an advance of $5 a ton and the increase on galvanized is $3. The third quarter quotation on automobile body sheets is 3.10 cents a pound, or $2 a ton over recent levels.

"While resistance to these changes may be encountered, the attitude of producers is being strengthened by the realization that price concessions are unlikely to bring in any additional tonnage in the next two months. Except for sheets and hot rolled strip steel, which has been advanced $1 a ton for third quarter, no price changes on finished steel appear to be in prospect."

EXPORTS OF COPPER DURING MAY WERE SMALL DESPITE THE LOW PRICE



REPORTS FAVORABLE U. S. TRADE BALANCE IN MAY OF $23,000,000

Washington, D. C., June 17.—(AP)—America's favorable foreign trade balance during May was $23,000,000.

The commerce department reports today placed exports during the month at $205,000,000, as against $320,034,000 in May, 1930, and imports at $182,000,000, against $284,683,000.

For the five months ending May 31 exports totaled $1,129,767,000, against $1,781,016,000 and imports, $936,028,000, against $1,485,642,000.

The May exports were the smallest since October, 1914, when they totaled $194,700,000.

Exports of gold during May totaled $628,000, compared with $82,000 in May, 1930. Imports of gold were $50,258,000, against $23,552,000. Exports of silver were $2,099,000, against $4,978,000 and imports, $2,636,000, against $3,486,000. During the five months ending May 31 exports of gold were $749,000 and imports, $176,054,000. Exports of silver during the five months were $12,881,000 and imports, $11,669,000.

Although exports during May showed a marked decline as compared with those of May a year ago, cotton showed an increase of 126,000 bales. Cotton exports were 336,000 bales, as compared with 209,000 in May, 1930. The value, however, of last month's shipments—$18,746,000—was approximately the same as a year ago.

Aviation, Whirled About by Big Business, Looks Forward

BY SCRUTATOR.

Caught in the swirl of mounting stock prices about the time Lindbergh made his memorable flight the aviation industry became a market football. Values that did not exist were written in. Companies manufacturing planes or flying them were overcapitalized. Production increased entirely out of proportion to demand.

Aviation ceased to be the plaything of inventors. Big business took it over and began to sink in it speculative millions. It appeared that the airplane was taking its place in business as the little brother of the automobile.

Before the war there was no aviation industry, and for several years after 1918 production was choked by the presence on the market of surplus war planes. About 1927 large profits began to be made. Big corporations were formed and stock issues floated. Overexpansion followed. Bullish news about the business was favorably received and the growth of aviation became confused with the general inflation of all business.

Private House Cleaning.

The stock market collapse in 1929 partially obscured the fact that the aviation industry had been organized on an unsound basis and had to face its own private house cleaning, no matter what happened to business in general.

Only when the crash came was it fully realized that the aviation industry had been organized to meet a demand that it had not taken the trouble to build up. Manufacturers began 1930 with a thousand unsold planes. Severe charge-offs had to be made. A half dozen leading companies reported losses of more than a million dollars each. One lost ten millions last year.

But the picture is not as black as it might seem. Manufacturers last year geared production down to demand, and yet sales were only 20 per cent less than in 1929. Passenger traffic on American air lines increased about 134 per cent. Mail carried in 1930 amounted to 8,824,255 pounds, compared with 7,772,014 pounds in 1929, and express was 2,869,255 pounds in 1930, against 1,866,879 pounds in 1929.

Aircraft makers now depend for their markets largely upon the transport lines and the army and navy. This is a sizeable business.

Need a Flivver Plane.

Big money will probably not come their way until some one develops a flivver plane that can be bought and flown by the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker. When that day comes the airplane can be put on a mass production basis like the automobile and be sold at automobile prices.

First, however, there must be a much larger demand, and demand will depend chiefly upon the safety factor. Manufacturers now realize that the future of the industry hinges on educating the public to regard flying as a safe and dependable means of transportation rather than a field for daredevil stunts. Practically the only new things exhibited at the recent air show in Detroit were small planes, easier to operate and able to land at a low rate of speed.

Outside loops and barrel rolls intrigue the man on the ground, but to get him in the air he must be shown that a plane is capable of transporting him safely and comfortably.

It is significant that in the year ended Feb. 1, 1931, American air lines flew 108,000,000 passenger miles, with but one passenger fatality for each 14,000,000 passenger miles.

New York, June 17.—The stock market continued its deep sleep today lulled by a sabbathlike quiet in Wall street. Business was left entirely to the professionals and the professionals left business strictly alone. Nothing was found in the day's news to warrant any change in sentiment and the traders decided to let the market work out its own salvation.

The volume of business dropped slightly below 1,000,000 shares for the first time in four years and the price trend dropped with the trading. There were times when the ticker stopped its chatter for minutes and no one appeared to care much whether it began again or not.

The bulk of the trading took place in six issues. United States Steel turned over 38,200 shares and closed down 1⅛ points. Bethlehem Steel had a 21,300 share business and lost a point. United Corporation was sold to the tune of 30,900 shares and finished off a quarter of a point. The other three stocks in which even the slightest activity was apparent were J. I. Case & Co., 22,500 shares, down 1⅛ points; Westinghouse, 18,500, off 3¼ points, and Chrysler, 86,300 shares, off ⅝ of a point. Activity did not help them very much.

Stocks Drift About.

Mostly stocks drifted about in a listless fashion, with fluctuations being confined to a narrow fractional area. Industrial developments were for the most part unfavorable, including declines shown in steel mill operations, electrical output, foreign trade, and corporation dividends. Bonds improved in nearly all directions and commodities were steady to firm.

If any one group could have been active enough to affect any other section of the market, the rails would have to take the blame. Rail stocks were weak and numerous declines of from 1 to 5 points took place. Santa Fe, Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central, and Union Pacific all took it on the nose, shedding from 3½ to 5 points each. It was not a question of selling. It was the lack of buying that hurt. Steel shares were adversely affected by news of an attempt by Bethlehem to advance prices.

The industrial leaders were quiet, even the pools presenting as placid a surface as any mill pond. The price range so far as motor stocks was concerned ranged slightly lower, utilities lacked pep and the oils barely held their own. Amusement and chemical issues suffered from heat, inertia, and general debility. Here's the plus sign news—a gain of three points or more was registered on one or two transactions by American Agricultural Chemical preferred, Kan-

Ten Years Ago in Finance

Dun's review says: "The ending of the building trades deadlock in Chicago has given new life to business this week, reducing by some 20,000 the number of unemployed. Retail business has been fair. Wholesalers report further broadening of the demand in goods for the fall trade."

At a conference of eastern and western bankers in the New York offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. plans were completed for the extension of a $50,000,000 credit to United States cattle raisers.

Directors of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway again defer action on the quarterly dividend. The Lone Star Gas company decided to pass its regular payment.

So. Pacific Gives Terms of Offer to Cotton Belt Ry.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 17.—Terms of an offer by the Southern Pacific company for St. Louis Southwestern railway stock were announced today and at the same time it was disclosed that the Southern Pacific is prepared to drop its proposed merger of the Cotton Belt if these terms are not accepted.

It also was announced that if it gained full control of the Cotton Belt, the Southern Pacific would be able to contribute to its financial requirements but that otherwise it would be justified in helping the Cotton Belt meet some $20,000,000 of bonds maturing next June 1.

The Southern Pacific offers to exchange three of its common shares for each five Cotton Belt preferred shares and one of its common shares for each three Cotton Belt common shares. This offer a committee of Cotton Belt stockholders headed by F. B. Mitchell, of Wood, Low & Co., recommended the Cotton Belt stockholders accept.

WON'T PROMISE TO HOLD BACK WHEAT FOR YEAR

Washington, D. C., June 17.—(AP)—The farm board will not pledge itself to withhold stabilization wheat from domestic markets for another year, it is asserted here.

The board intends to pursue its policy announced on March 23 of handling the wheat "in such a way as to impose the minimum of burden upon domestic and world prices."

It desires to have itself uncommitted so it can take advantage of any favorable market to dispose of a part at least of the huge stocks bought by the Grain Stabilization corporation to maintain domestic prices.

A number of midwestern grain men have requested the board to withhold the wheat for another year to remove what has been described as an unnerving influence on present grain prices.

Cities Service Income for May Totals $1,504,275

New York, June 17.—(AP)—Net earnings available for common dividends and reserves of the Cities Service company for May amounted to $1,504,275, compared with $3,993,900 for May, 1930. The net to common stock and reserves on average number of shares of common stock outstanding is 98 cents, in comparison to $1.40 last year. Gross earnings for May totaled $3,320,366, compared with $5,328,703 in 1930. Common stock holders of the company numbered 475,081 on June 15, an increase of 7,132 since May 15.

The decreases in the company's earnings are attributed to the "complete demoralization of the petroleum industry." Increases are shown in the gas, light, and power divisions of the company. Oil drilling operations are being restricted as far as possible.

Willys-Overland Will Redeem $1,000,000 Bonds

Toledo, O., June 17.—(AP)—Willys-Overland company directors called for redemption today of $1,000,000 of the company's 6½ per cent gold bonds, it was announced by L. A. Miller, president. The company originally issued $10,000,000 of the gold bonds and after the call today only $3,000,000 will be outstanding.

WITHDRAWALS CAUSE BIG OHIO BANK TO CLOSE

Toledo, O., June 17.—(AP)—The Security-Home Trust company, one of Toledo's largest banks, was in charge of State Superintendent of Banks Ira J. Fulton today following a decision of directors to suspend operations.

Directors said the bank and its 10 branches scattered over the city had experienced heavy withdrawals of deposits in the last few days. Fulton took charge to conserve the assets for depositors.

The bank had total assets of $31,718,015 and deposits of $25,126,576, according to its statement as of March 25. Capital was listed at $1,500,000 and surplus and undivided profits at $1,998,741.

Approve Sale of Electric Firm to Allis Chalmers

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 17.—Stockholders of American Brown Boveri Electric corporation at a special meeting today approved the proposal to sell all of the assets of the electrical subsidiary to the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company for $600,000 cash and 62,000 shares of Allis-Chalmers stock. The shareholders also approved a change in the name of the company to that of the New York Shipbuilding corporation and the reduction in the outstanding shares of founders' stock.

PULLMAN DIRECTORS VOTE USUAL DIVIDEND AS SIGN OF CONFIDENCE

Directors of Pullman, Inc., yesterday expressed their confidence in the ability of the company to overcome effects of the depression, which has lowered earnings in both the railway transportation and equipment fields, by declaring the usual quarterly dividend of $1. The dividend is payable Aug. 15 to stockholders of record July 24.

Willys-Overland directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on preferred stock, payable July 1 to stockholders of record June 27.

Hibbard, Spencer Bartlett & Co. declared three monthly dividends of 20 cents each, placing the stock on a $2.40 annual basis against $3 previously. Directors of Anchor Post Fence omitted the quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent in common stock due at this time.

Kansas County Levies Tax on U. S. Wheat Holding

Topeka, Kas., June 17.—(AP)—The question of whether the wheat holdings of the Grain Stabilization corporation, federal farm board agency, are subject to state taxation will be submitted to the Kansas tax commission at a hearing June 25. The corporation has appealed an assessment levied by Wyandotte county on its wheat stored in Kansas City, Kas. It is the contention of the stabilization corporation that the grain is not assessable because the corporation is an instrumentality of the federal government.

First National Bank of Downers Grove Closed

Chicago and Cook county banks continued the even tenor of their way yesterday, some institutions reporting that depositors who had withdrawn savings last week were putting them back in volume. The First National bank of Downer's Grove was closed at the request of the directors. Deposits at the last reporting time were $1,000,000 and capital $100,000.

SHEEP—Western range lambs, $ 5.50@ 8.25; one month ago, 7.50@ 8.75; one year ago, 11.00@12.50. Top yesterday, $8.50; average, $7.00.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 8,000; hogs, 18,000; sheep, 8,000.

Another sharp advance in hog prices featured the live stock market yesterday. The top and general average price gained 20c at $7.25 and $6.70, respectively, and are 95c@$1.05 above the low point of the season on May 28. The market, however, is still $1.50 under the high point of the year established in March. Even sharper gains were scored at some of the leading outside points and only one of the low western markets had to sell top hogs below the $7.00 line.

Most of the 6,000 left in the pens at Chicago yesterday were held off the market, including some carried since Monday in hopes of additional gains. Reports from the east indicate a shortage of choice hogs. Outside demand is the broadest since March and shippers are buying the largest proportion of Chicago receipts for this time of the year since 1926. Order buyers so far this month have purchased about 20 per cent of arrivals. The trade looks for $8.00 hogs at far eastern points today.

Hog Futures Higher.

The market for July and August contracts was unchanged yesterday, but bids for next September deliveries were boosted 25@35c. Mediums for delivery three months from now carried bids of $7.00. Heavy grades for September delivery were offered at $6.75, but $7.50 was the highest bid. Light weights for September were bid $7.25. July and August light were bid $7.00. Hogs averaging 170@210 lbs., for today's delivery, were bid $7.25, but no offers to sell were made.

Nebraska, Colorado and some other western states, where cattle have been carried along in hopes of a rise in prices, unloaded more medium and weighty heaves on the market yesterday, resulting in a set back in prices for stock exceeding 1,400 lbs. Medium weights held barely steady, but light steers and yearlings shared in the activity which featured the market for top kinds on recent seasons and fancy 916 lb averages at $8.90 equaled the highest paid for cattle since middle of last month.

Best medium weights stepped at $8.80 and top weighty beeves sold at $8.35. The same two way trend was noted in butcher stock. Best yearling heifers were strong and sold up to $8.50, while others ruled weak to 25c lower. Stockers and feeders were scarce and unchanged.

Lambs Tumble Again.

Lamb prices came down 25@50c more yesterday, western range stock leading the way down toward the close. Most good natives were sold during the first part of the day at $8@8.25, with top to city butchers at $8.50. Nine carloads of Idaho rangers were sorted later at $8.25. Prices now are $2.00@2.50 lower than two weeks ago. Sorting is more severe, as usual on the break, and some of the lightest weights are hardly paying for their freight and marketing costs. Aged sheep ruled weak to 25c lower again, top ewes going down to $1.75. Yearlings slumped 25c, with the best at $6.50.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 5,000 cattle, 19,000 hogs, and 8,000 sheep, against 5,003 cattle, 12,310 hogs, and 12,420 sheep, the previous Thursday, and 5,339 cattle, 21,243 hogs, and 8,538 sheep, a year ago.

EGG FUTURES ACTIVE

Butter and egg prices were firmer on the Chicago mercantile exchange yesterday. There was an undertone of confidence resulting in fairly active trading, particularly in egg futures. Butter opened ¼c higher and gradually advanced to close ¼c higher on November contracts. June closed ¼c up. Eggs opened ¼c lower but moved up ½c from the day's low, but selling developed and the list with the close unchanged. Potatoes quiet, closing unchanged to 1c lower. Sales: Butter, 73 cars; eggs, 154 cars; potatoes, 8 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 8 cars; eggs, 1 car. Prices follow:

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, June 17.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil on the New York Produce exchange closed irregular today, 8 points advance, to 3 points decline, with sales of only 750 bris. Trade demand for July offset a little refining pressure. Steadiness of lard and the late rally in cotton had a steadying influence. Crude oil held very steady. Prime crude, 6.37½c; bleachable spot closed 6.75c, July 6.82c, September 6.91c, December 6.25c, January 6.30c. Prime summer yellow contracts were neglected, with closing prices as follows: Spot, July and September, 6.70c; December and January, 6.55c.

SMALL NET GAINS ARE REGISTERED IN WHEAT MARKET

Expect Canadian Crops to Trail Last Year's.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Bullish weather and crop reports from the American and Canadian northwest yesterday attracted more attention from wheat traders than of late, but failed utterly to bring about aggressive buying of futures, the local market advancing ⅛@¾c over the finish of the previous day on buying by locals and short covering. Selling against offers checked the upturn, with the close at net gains of ¼@¾c. July, being 57⅛@57¾c; September, 57⅝@57¾c, and December, 61¼c.

Condition of spring wheat in the three prairie provinces is estimated by the Canadian pool at 70, compared with 88 last year, with 6 per cent of the acreage in Manitoba, 13 per cent in Saskatchewan, and 7 per cent in Alberta abandoned. After allowing for the reduction in the area seeded and abandoned, Russell's News estimated the crop at 226,000,000 to 236,000,000 bu, compared with 276,000,000 bu harvested last year.

Donovan, the Logan & Bryan crop observer, wired that conditions were shaping themselves for the smallest yield of wheat per acre ever secured in the Canadian northwest. In 1919 the official final returns showed an average of 9.5 bu per acre. If such a yield were secured this season the total for the three provinces would be somewhat under 260,000,000 bu, a loss as compared with 1930 almost equal to the estimated holding of around 300,000,000 bu by the American farm board.

In Need of Rain.

The detailed pool report showed that the greater part of Saskatchewan was urgently in need of rain, and the same applied to portions of Alberta and Manitoba. According to George M. Le Count, the Stein, Alstrin & Co. expert, Canada must depend upon the northern part of the belt for most of its wheat this season.

Continued failure of foreigners to enthuse on the buying side of either cash wheat or futures counts heavily against the market at the present time, especially as the outlook for the European crop is regarded as none too favorable, outside of Russia. Winnipeg was slightly firmer than Chicago and closed ¼@⅝c higher, with July at 60¾c, while Liverpool was ⅛c higher, with July 61¼c. Only a small export business in Manitobas and old crop hard winters was reported during the day.

Stay on Bear Side.

Rapid progress is being made in the winter wheat harvest, and the fear that hedging sales will prove too heavy for the market to absorb tends to keep many of the local professionals on the bear side, the psychological effect of the farm board holdings and the failure of the latter to give definite assurance that it will not start to unload its immense stock being a big factor.

Around 25 cars of new wheat were received at southwestern terminals yesterday, and harvesting was reported as having started in Kansas. Highly beneficial rains were reported in Washington and Oregon, where both the winter and spring wheat crops have been badly damaged, but dry weather talk is increasing from the northwest, with a practical failure claimed in parts of northwestern North Dakota and eastern Montana. The forecast was for showers and cooler both sides of the international line following record breaking high temperatures at some points on Tuesday, with high winds and dust storms.

Country Sells Cash Corn.

The country is taking recognition of the unusually large premium for July corn as compared with September and sold old grain to arrive on the largest scale in many weeks, local handlers reporting 206,000 bu booked during the day. There was also a report of 200,000 bu having been sold to go to store.

Local interests and cash houses were fair sellers of July corn, after an early upturn of around ½c. However, the price reacted and closed unchanged at 87⅛@87½c, while the deferred futures were ⅛@¾c higher, with September 52⅜@52⅝c and December 46⅝@46¾c. The excellent weather and crop reports from the leading producing sections appeared to have little effect on the new crop future.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, June 17.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was quiet and unchanged today at 3.80c for spots duty paid. The only sale reported was 20,000 bags of Cuban centrifugals late the previous day at 3.30c to a local refiner for prompt shipment.

After a steady opening futures reacted under liquidation and hedge selling, closing at 2 points net declines. Sales were only 16,600 tons. Prices follow:

200 Tasks for Electricity on the Farm

USES of power on farms offer a promising field of growth for the electric industry, with great benefits for agriculture.

It is estimated over 200 tasks and chores on the farm may be done electrically at a cost greatly overshadowed by the tasks accomplished.

The Associated Gas and Electric System serves rich rural sections in its territories which comprise nearly one-half the area of New York, one-third of Pennsylvania, and one-fourth of New Jersey.

For information about Associated securities, telephone Bowling Green 9-3957 or write for Circular F-22.

BETTER TRADE IN MEATS

A good call for dry salted meats, especially clear bellies, at higher prices, featured the meat trade yesterday with net gains on bellies of 10@12½c. Offerings for some time have been light and passing into strong hands. Interest in lard is limited, with fluctuations narrow and net gains of 2½@3c on the week. Liverpool lard was unchanged to 3d lower. Export clearances were 204,000 lbs of lard and 67,000 lbs of bacon. Hog markets were stronger and higher, with light receipts. Prices follow:

HIDE FUTURES

Prices of futures on the New York Hide exchange advanced rather sharply in a fairly active market, closing 10 to 45 higher. Total sales were 2,240,000 lbs.

Signs of a definite curtailment in tanning operations is reflected in a review of the hide and leather situation by the New York Hide exchange. During the first four months of this year the deliveries of finished cattle hide leather aggregated 5,826,000, whereas hides put into process of tanning amounted to 5,068,000 hides. In the same period stocks of finished leather in the hands of tanners showed a continuous decline being equivalent to 5,207,000 hides at the end of April as compared with 5,649,000 hides on Dec. 31, 1930.
